Na oblikovanje programa letošnjega Boršnikovega srečanja sta vplivala dva pomembna dejavnika: še vedno epidemija in z njо povezane prilagoditve gledališke produkcije ter premik festivalske izvedbe na pomladni termin. Te okoliščine so narekovale podaljšanje obdobja izbora uprizoritev, tokrat je trajalo od julija 2020 do decembra 2021. V podaljšanem obdobju izbora letošnjega programa se je slovensko gledališče od solističnega in komornega ponovno vrnilo k večjim in kompleksnejšim uprizoritvenim formatom, nepredvidljivim okoliščinam prilagojeni producijski postopki in daljši študiji predstav so omogočili poglobljene igralske kreacije, ki so spletle vodilno nit letošnjega programa, že tradicionalno temelječega na igralski ustvarjalnosti in uprizoritveni odličnosti. Boršnikovo pripravljamo v že uveljavljenem štirinajstdnevnom formatu, pričenjamо z Mladim gledališčem in dejavnostmi za razvoj novih občinstev, nadaljujemo z mednarodno konferenco o gledališču kot metodi socialne aktivacije ranljivih skupin, nato sledijo tekmovalni, spremljevalni in strokovni program. ¶ Festival letos v središču postavlja šestnajst zelo

Two critical factors influenced the programme concept of this year's Maribor Theatre Festival: the epidemic and related adjustments to theatre production and the shift of the Festival to the late spring. These factors dictated extending the selection period for Festival performances to 18 months, from July 2020 to December 2021. During this period, Slovenian theatre returned from solo and chamber to larger and more complex performance formats. These production processes – adapted to unpredictable circumstances and longer preparation periods for performances – have enabled in-depth acting creations that intertwine the underlying theme of this year's programme, a programme traditionally based on acting creativity and staging excellence. Otherwise, we have prepared the Festival in the established 14-day format, starting with the Young Theatre and activities to develop new audiences. We continue with an international conference on theatre as a method of social activation for vulnerable groups, followed by the Competitive and Accompanying Programmes and other events for professionals in theatre and education. ¶ This year, the Festival focuses on 16 very different yet undoubtedly outstanding Slovenian performances, which will compete for the Festival awards. The Competition Programme is so extensive and demanding production-wise that it required certain adjustments in planning the other content. In the Accompanying Programme, eight more Slovenian performances will provide a comprehensive insight into the current state of Slovenian theatre output. We have managed to maintain the international dimension of the Festival, bringing five acclaimed foreign performances. The različnih, a vselej vrhunskih slovenskih uprizoritev, ki se bodo potegovale za festivalske nagrade. Tekmovalni program je tako obsežen in izvedbeno zahteven, da je terjal dočene prilagoditve pri načrtovanju ostalih vsebin in je tokrat poudarjeno osrednji festivalski segment. Vsebino zaokrožuje še osem slovenskih uprizoritev v spremljevalnem programu, kar bo pozornemu in vztrajnemu gledalcu omogočilo precej celovit vpogled v aktualno stanje slovenske gledališke ustvarjalnosti. Ohranjamo mednarodno razsežnost festivala – občinstvu bo na voljo pet vrhunskih tujih uprizoritev. Boršnikovo bo tudi refleksija gledališke prakse in teorije s pogovori o predstavah, z okroglimi mizami in s predstavitvami strokovne literature, z razstavami in koncerti, z mednarodnim sodelovanjem in s promocijo slovenskega gledališča v tujini, seveda bomo ob koncu podelili težko pričakovane nagrade za najvidnejše dosežke slovenskih ustvarjalcev. Tudi tokrat bodo festivalsko dogajanje spremljali in sooblikovali študentje. Vse to in še kaj zraven bo letosnjem Boršnikovo, utemeljeno na skoraj šestih desetletjih resnično dragocene tradicije povozovanja in sooblikovanja slovenskega gledališkega prostora. ¶ Letošnji festival je nastajal v še vedno negotovih časih, ki so jih sprva zaznamovali epidemija, od konca februarja pa ruska vojna z Ukrajino, ki z vsakodnevnimi podobami uničenja in smerti pretresa Evropo in svet. 16. marca 2022 je ruska agresorska vojska bombardirala in v ruševine spremeniла Regionalno dramsko gledališče v Mariupolu, kjer je v kletnih prostorih zavjetje poiskalo okoli 1.300 civilistov, ki so objekt pred tem označili z iz zraka vidnim napisom otroci. Več kot polovica prebivalcev ni preživila ruskega bombardiranja, pokopale so jih ruševine gledališke stavbe. Nad Ukrajino, Evropo in svet se je v zadnjih mesecih spustil težek duh rasizma ter zatohlih imperialističnih in neokolonialističnih teženj. Brutalna vojna, totalna destrukcija, tisoči mrtvih in milijoni beguncov brez sedanosti in prihodnosti – bili

Festival will also reflect on theatre practice and theory, featuring talks on performances, round tables and presentations of professional literature, exhibitions and concerts, international cooperation and promotion of Slovenian theatre abroad. And, of course, in the end, we will present the long-awaited awards for the most prominent achievements of Slovenian theatre artists. Once again, the Festival events will be co-created and reflected upon by students. All this and more will be this year's Festival, based on almost six decades of a treasured tradition of connecting and co-creating the Slovenian theatre space. ¶ This year's Festival was created in still uncertain times, initially marked by an epidemic and, since the end of February, by the Russian war against Ukraine, shaking Europe and the world with its daily images of destruction and death. On 16 March 2022, the Russian aggressor bombed and turned the Mariupol Regional Drama Theatre into ruins. Around 1,300 civilians sought refuge in the basement. They had previously marked the building with the inscription "children", visible from the air. More than half of the residents did not survive the Russian bombing; they were buried in the ruins of the theatre building. A heavy burden of racism and foul imperialist and neo-colonialist tendencies have descended upon Ukraine, Europe and the world in recent months. A brutal war, destruction, thousands of dead and millions of refugees with neither a present nor a future – we were certain that, after the Balkan tragedy, a war on European soil would not happen again. We could not have been more mistaken. ¶ What can theatre and art offer in these exceptional circumstances? What should they do, and how should they function? In Europe, too, we are increasingly confronted with the rise of populism and dangerous simplifications of increasingly complex social relations and problems, racism and ethnic and class segregation are emerging, and many media are relentlessly carrying out propaganda smo prepričani, da se po balkanski tragediji vojna na evropskih tleh ne bo več ponovila. Ne bi se mogli bolj motiti. ¶ Kaj lahko ponudita gledališče in umetnost v teh izjemnih kontekstih, s čim naj se ukvarjata in kako funkcijonirata? Tudi v Evropi se vse bolj soočamo s porastom populizmov in z nevarnimi poenostavitevami vse kompleksnejših družbenih razmerij in problemov, pojavljajo se rasizmi in etnična ter razredna segregacija, številni mediji brezsramno izvajajo propagandistične naloge, socialna omrežja so troli spremenili v kloake sovražnega govora in zdi se, da je družbena kohezivnost trenutno na resni preizkušnji. Nemara je sedaj še pomembnejše, da v gledališču mislimo zapletena razmerja in odpiramo še nepoznane, nove perspektive, ki so sprva mogoče le v ustvarjalnem polju umetnosti, kasneje pa se lahko manifestirajo tudi v skupnosti. Letošnje Boršnikovo srečanje je namenjeno angažiranemu, odprtemu in sodelujočemu občinstvu, zasnovano je kot skupnostno in vključujoče dogajanje, ki generira nove kontekste, ob tem nepoznano povezuje z znanim, predvsem pa oblikuje središče za kulturne transferje in platformo za komunikacijo. ¶ campaigns. One cannot help but think that social cohesion is at stake. Now, it is even more crucial that we contemplate these complex relationships in theatre and open still unknown and new perspectives, which perhaps, at first, are possible only in the creative field of art but can later also manifest in our community. Taking all these perspectives into account, this year's Festival is even more focused on an engaged, open and participatory audience experience. It is designed as a community and inclusive event that generates new contexts, connects the unknown with the familiar, and, above all, creates a centre for cultural transfers and a platform for communication. ¶

Managing director of the SNT Maribor
 Damjan Švarc

Dragi ustvarjalke in ustvarjalci, ljubiteljice in ljubitelji gledališča, spoštovani podporniki, donatorji ter cenjena ustanovitelja, Ministrstvo za kulturo Republike Slovenije in Mestna občina Maribor! ¶ Živimo v nepredvidljivem času naglih sprememb, razpetem med mirom in vojno, med blaginjo in revščino, vse bolj izmazljivo konjunkturo in stagflacijo, zdravstvenim blagostanjem in potencialnimi grožnjami novih in še vedno trajajočih pandemij. Retrospektiva zadnjih treh let se zdi kot nekakšno distopično tekmovanje, katera kriza bo bolj radikalno spremenila naš ustaljeni način življenja. Živimo v državi in družbi zelo različnih, celo diametalno nasprotnih pogledov, v Evropi in v svetu, prepolnem kontrastov in kontradikcij, ki se pod okriljem somraka demokracije v marsikaterem kotičku sveta le še poglabljajo in vodijo v začarani krog nesloge, neenakosti ter v posledično nazadovanje različnih družb. ¶ Če so nas pretekle izkušnje karkoli naučile, velja naučene lekcije poudariti vedno znova in znova: krizam se lahko zoperstavimo le s skupnimi močmi, z dialogom, s solidarnostjo, človečnostjo, kijo gojimo do sebe in drugih. Gledališka umetnost ter z njo povezana kulturna zavest Evrope

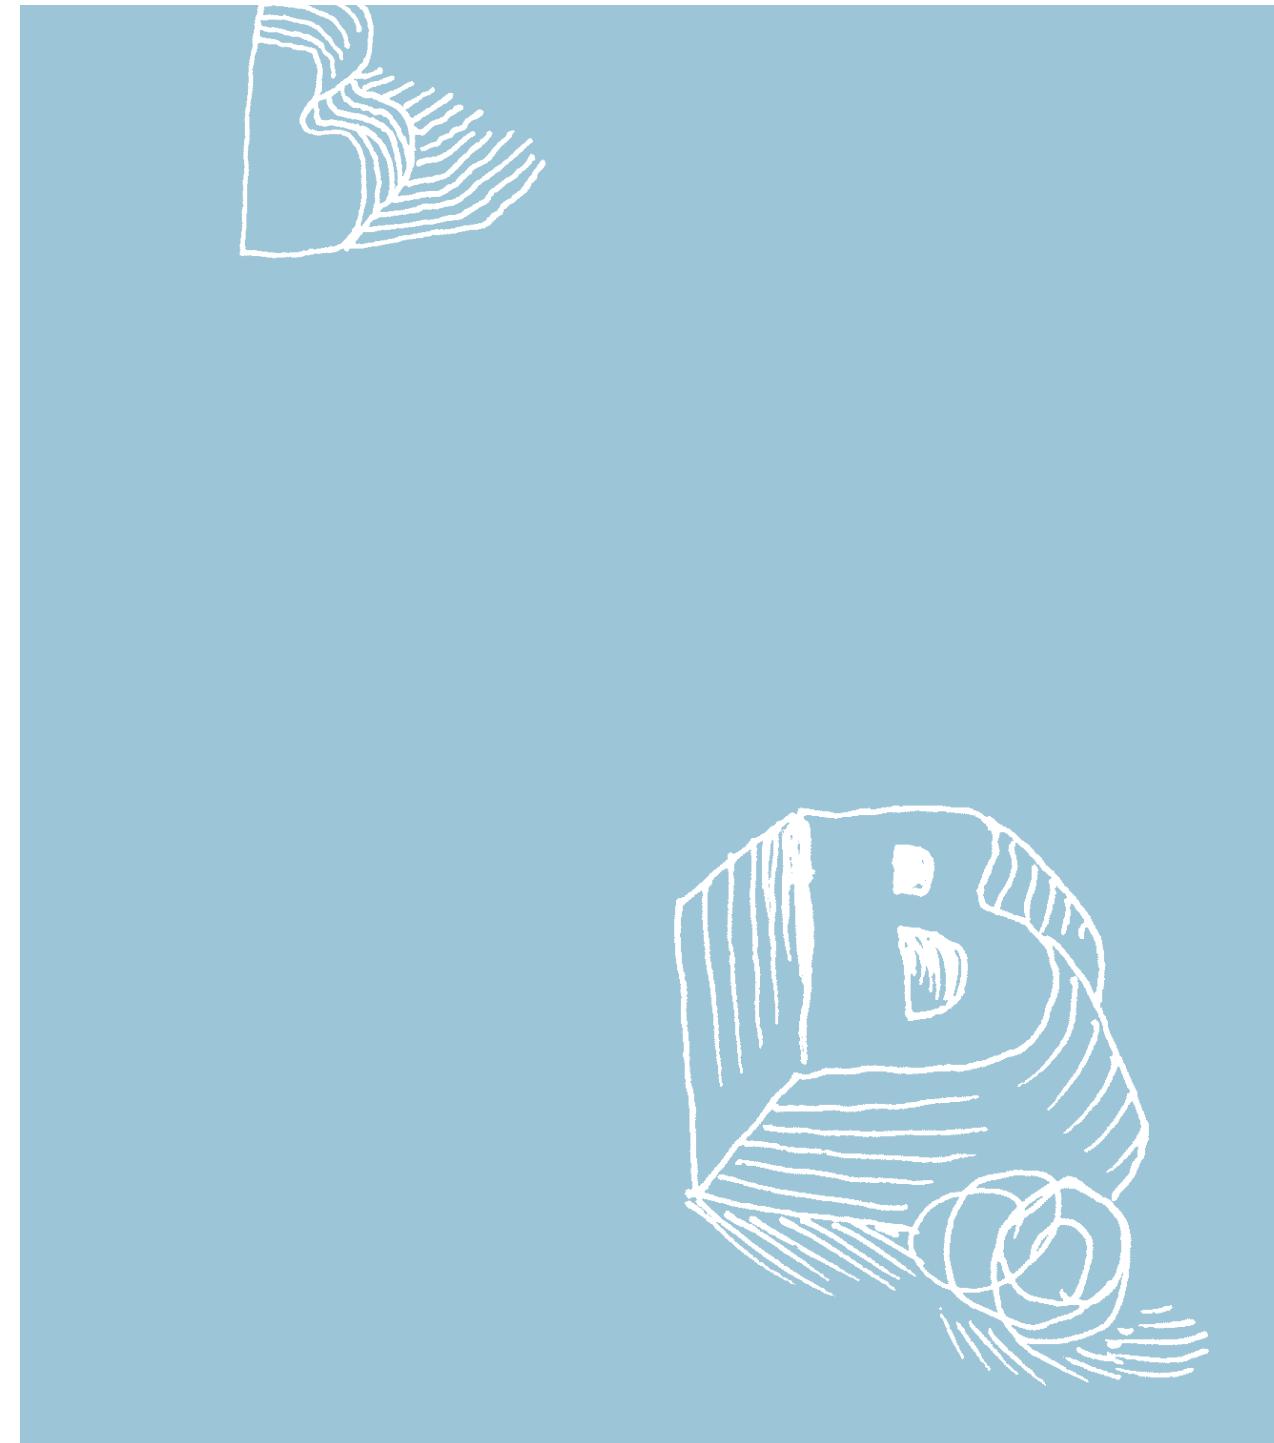

Dear Creators and Theatre Enthusiasts, Dear Supporters, Donors and Esteemed Founders, the Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Slovenia and the Municipality of Maribor! ¶ We live in an unpredictable time of rapid change, torn between peace and war, prosperity and poverty, increasingly elusive conjecture and stagflation, health prosperity and the potential threats of new and ongoing pandemics. The retrospective of the last three years seems like a kind of dystopian competition as to which crisis will radically change our established way of life. We live in a country and society of very different, even drastically opposing views, in Europe and a world full of contrasts and contradictions. Under the unsettling twilight of democracy, those differences in all remote corners of the world are only deepening and leading to a vicious circle of discord, inequality and the consequent decline of many societies. ¶ If past experiences have taught us anything, we must repeatedly emphasise what we've learnt: we can only confront crises through joint efforts, dialogue, solidarity and humanness that we cultivate towards ourselves and others. Theatre art and the related cultural consciousness of Europe and the world have been dealing with fundamental issues of human existence, ethos, the dilemmas of the individual's relationship to society, the world – and vice versa, with the search for meaning and significance of our lives, actions and interpersonal relationships. By objectifying acute problems, theatre exposes life's shadowy sides and, at the same time, offers answers to how our lives could and can be different and, above all, better. ¶ I am pleased that the many engaging performances of this in sveta se že od vznika civilizacij ukvarjata s temeljnimi vprašanji človekovega obstoja, etosa, z dilemami posameznikovega odnosa do družbe, sveta – in obratno, z iskanjem smisla in pomena naših življenj, dejanj in medosebnih odnosov. Gledališče z objektivacijo akutnih problemov ne izpostavlja le senčnih plati življenja, ampak hkrati ponuja že odgovore, kako bi lahko bilo drugače, predvsem pa bolje. ¶ Veseli me, da se kolektivna zavest o večplastnem nelagodju položaja naše družbe in zahodnega sveta nasploh zrcali tudi v številnih angažiranih uprizoritvah letosnjega, tokrat že 57. Festivala Boršnikovo srečanje. Festival, ki se po zdravstveni krizi – tako vsaj upam – na pragu poletja v polnem zamahu vrača med ljudi, z zanimivim in tokrat močno »okrepljenim« tekmovalnim programom nagovarja tudi in predvsem mlajše generacije, ki so svet gledališke umetnosti prepoznale kot »svoj« medij in prostor izražanja, dialoga ter izmenjave idej z namenom gradnje skupnosti in boljše prihodnosti. Kot smo v preteklosti že kdaj spomnili na to, da sta umetnost in kultura skupno dobro vseh, se velja zato tem bolj veseliti novih idej mladih, odgovornih, čutečih in kritično mislečih posameznikov, ki s svojo participacijo prispevajo k prepoznavnosti in relevantnosti festivala tako v slovenskem kot mednarodnem prostoru. ¶ Na tem mestu bi se rad predvsem zahvalil celotni umetniški in producentski ekipi festivala za njihovo profesionalnost in uspešno delo delo, vsem zaposlenim v SNG Maribor, ki sodelujejo pri izvedbi festivala, ter vsem sodelajočim igralcem, režiserjem in soustvarjalcem gledališke umetnosti. Prepričan sem, da bo – tako kot vsako leto doslej – vaš trud, ustvarjalnost in osebni angažma prepoznaло tudi občinstvo, željno novih izkušenj in spoznanj. Stopimo torej skupaj skozi vrata kulturnega hrama in se podajmo na pot vznemirljivih odkrivanj raznovrstnih gledaliških poetik in neponovljivih odrskih dogodkov, nagrajenih z aplavzi navdušenih obiskovalcev. ¶ year's Maribor Theatre Festival also reflect the collective awareness of the multifaceted uneasiness of the position of our society and the Western world in general. Returning to full swing after the health crisis – so I hope – the Festival has become a welcome and suitable overture to summer. With its exuberant and enriched Competition Programme, the Festival also and especially addresses younger generations, who are recognising the world of theatre as “their own” medium and a space for expression, dialogue and the exchange of ideas to build community and a better future. As we may have already pointed out, art and culture belong to the common good. Therefore, it is worth looking forward to the new ideas of young, responsible, sensitive and critical individuals contributing to the recognition and relevance of the Maribor Theatre Festival in Slovenia and the international space. ¶ I would like to thank the Festival's entire artistic and production team for their professionalism and successful work, all the employees of the SNT Maribor who participate in the Festival and all the participating actors, directors and co-creators of theatre art. I am convinced that – as every year thus far – all their efforts, creativity and personal commitment will be recognised by the audience, eager for new experiences and insights. So, let's step together through the doors of the cultural temple and embark on the path of exciting discoveries of various theatre poetics and unique stage events, which will be – of this, I am sure – rewarded with applause from enthusiastic visitors. ¶

We cordially invite you to the 57th Maribor Theatre Festival! ¶

Beseda selektorice A Word from the Selector

Nika Leskovšek selektorica tekmovalnega programa
Selector of the Competition Programme

Boštjan Lah

Selekcija v tekmovalni program 57. Festivala Borštnikovo srečanje je v luči epidemiološke situacije zaradi covid-a-19 letos potekala v izrednih razmerah in je prav tako izjemoma s podaljšanim rokom selekcije trajala leto in pol. Veseli me, da sem lahko selekcijo zaključila z ogledi uprizoritev, ki so potekali večidel v živo, v izboru pa sem upoštevala tudi spletnne premiere. ¶ V tem času so bila gledališča priča zaprtja, ki je po kriznih razmerah in prekinitti kontinuiranega delovanja primerljivo z izrednimi, skoraj vojnim razmerami ter je postavilo pod vprašaj delovanje gledališča in same premisse njegovega obstoja. Če se je v vojni gledališče selilo v ad hoc organizirane gverilske produkcije, so se zdaj gledališke produkcije selile v virtualne prostore in na splet ter od tam v dnevne sobe, na kavče in pred domače ekrane gledalcev, v njihove zasebne prostore. Če je bistvo gledališča navadno določala in tvorila skupnost ljudi, se je ta zdaj razpršila in porazgubila na izolirane, osamljene posameznike. ¶ Vsebine gledaliških predstav so se pretakale po uradnih spletnih kanalih gledaliških institucij ali profilih družbenih omrežij, vzpostavila se je tudi kolektivna spletna platforma, na kateri so gledališča družno v kolektivnem duhu prenašala svoje produkcije. Pri tem se je le redko zgodilo, during wartime, theatre switched to ad hoc, guerrilla productions, theatre productions in corona time migrated to virtual spaces and online, and from there, to spectators' living rooms and sofas and their home screens, into their personal spaces. If a community of people was what usually determined and constructed the essence of the theatre, that community was now dispersed and scattered among isolated, lonely individuals. ¶ The contents of theatre productions were livestreamed on the official channels of theatre institutions or their social media profiles. A collective web platform was set up for all theatres to livestream their productions in one place, thus creating a community spirit. We were only rarely able to attend events live, so once the shared presence as a collective in the same space inside a theatre had already been taken from us, we could at least share time in that virtual space with the actors. We were, however, robbed of the live dimension of theatre events, their unrepeatability, all the unforeseeable mistakes and the organic development of the theatre. Also impossible was the social forming of the theatre community itself, which, in turn, deprived theatre of its political and social power. Theatre audiences became isolated, individualised, separated da smo bili priča dogodkov v živo, kjer bi si z igralci delili vsaj pripadnost v skupnem času, če nam je že bila so-prisotnost kot kolektiva in istem prostoru znotraj gledališča odvzeta. Tako nam je bila odvzeta živost gledaliških dogodkov, vsa njihova neponovljivost, vse nepredvidljive napake in organskost gledališča. Pa tudi družbeno formiranje gledališke skupnosti kot take je postalo onemogočeno, s čimer sta bili gledališču odvzeti njegovi politična in družbena moč, gledalci pa izolirani, individualizirani, ločeni in osamljeni. Producije so spominjale prej na TV-drame kot na gledališče, določen segment predstav je bil tehnično obdelan s pomočjo režije spletnih ozira video produkcije, kadriranja in montaže, s postopki, ki ima od gledališča bistveno drugačne zakonitosti. ¶ Podobno kot na vseh drugih področjih življenja so se zaradi novega koronavirusa tudi na področju gledališča pokazale težave. Pri tem pandemija ni ustvarila novih problemov, marveč je le povečala tiste od prej, če parafraziram eno od gledaliških produkcij. Potem ko se je v javnosti in na spletnih portalih vse bolj širil sovražni govor in po drugem zaprtju, so se gledališča presenečena znašla v dezorientaciji, a ne za dolgo. Na spletnih portalih, kanalih in družbenih omrežjih so se relativno hitro pojavile ad hoc vsebine, ki so uporabljale gledališki medij za opozarjanje na hitro rastočo stopnjo netolerance in celo sovražnosti, padec nivoja javnega diskurza, pomanjkanje dialoga, oblike diskriminacije, homofobije, ksenofobije, krnjene svoboščin, zlasti poseganje v (že pridobljene) pravice nekaterih manjšin, seksizem, stereotipizacije in poudarjanje raznih oblik represije. Medtem ko sta se na medmrežju in v javnosti širila sovražni govor in razdori, predvsem pa izjemno nizka kultura dialoga, če sploh, je bilo sporočilo večine teh gledaliških predstav pobuda h kolektivnosti in sodelovanju, njihovo sporočilo je bilo največkrat sporočilo ljubezni, sožitja, medsebojnega razumevanja in tolerance ter miru. ¶ Po prvotni dezorientaciji, ki jo je povzročilo zaprtje gledališč, se je ustvarjala shizofrena situacija, pri kateri so nekatera gledališča imela možnost spletnih premier, druga, zlasti manjša, si tega niso mogla privoščiti ali pa so prisegala na živo gledališče in čakala and lonely. The productions were more reminiscent of television drama than theatre, with some technically enhanced with the help of web or video production directing, framing and editing, procedures that have completely different rules than theatre. ¶ Like in all other segments of life, the new coronavirus divulged difficulties in the theatre. If I paraphrase one of the theatre productions, the pandemic did not create new problems, it simply enlarged those already existing. When hate speech started spreading in real life and online like wildfire, theatres briefly found themselves in mid-air, disoriented. But not for long: theatre-related web portals, channels and social media quickly filled with ad hoc content using the theatre medium to draw attention to the fast-rising levels of intolerance and even hostility, the drop in the level of public discourse, lack of dialogue, discrimination, homophobia, xenophobia, curtailing liberties – particularly the interference with the (already gained) rights of certain minorities –, sexism, stereotyping and emphasising of different forms of repression. While the web and the public sphere were witnessing hate speech and disputes (particularly in the context of the very low – if any – culture of dialogue), the message of most of the theatre production was an incentive to create collective spirit and collaboration. Most often, it was a message of love, symbiosis, mutual understanding, tolerance and peace. ¶ After the initial disorientation, the closure of theatres created a two-tiered situation, with only some theatres having the possibility for online premieres. In contrast, others, particularly smaller ones, could not afford them, or they swore to live theatre and waited for better times. The epidemiological crisis deepened this gap and revealed theatres' unequal footing in the very accessibility to the (technological) means for establishing contact with spectators. It also created circumstances where theatres staged internal premieres – events without spectators, productions that nobody saw – or premiered for one co-producer and then premiered for the other co-producer a year later. ¶ I began my mandate as a selector when theatres already had the experience of the closure of the first lockdown. We hoped that the second one would not occur, a na boljše čase. Epidemiološka kriza je tudi v tem pogledu poglabljala razlike in razkrila, da gledališča med sabo niso v enakovrednem položaju niti pri (tehnoloških) sredstvih, ki jih imajo na voljo, da lahko navežejo stike z gledalci. Ustvarjala pa se je shizofrena situacija, kjer so se producirale interne premiere predstav na dogodkih brez gledalcev, predstave, ki jih nihče ni videl, ali druge, ko je imela ista produkcija premiero pri koproducentu leta dni za prvo uprizoritvijo. ¶ Selekcijo sem prevzela v času, ko so gledališča že imela izkušnjo s prvim zaprtjem. Upali smo, da do drugega zaprtja ne bo prišlo, kar se je končalo s skoraj polletno prekinutvijo delovanja gledališč. Preostanek pa smo kljub odprtju preživel v neprestanem strahu pred ponovnim zaprtjem, ki ga je spremjal tudi nezadržno zadovoljstvo, da lahko gledališče spremljamo v živo. ¶ Po trajnejši (navidezni) inkubaciji/hibernaciji gledališč sredi popolnega lockdowna se je vsak performativni dogodek, ki je vsaj malo dišal po gledališču, zdel še kako dragocen, a se je situacija hitro zamenjala. Kmalu so se pokazali drugi neželeni stranski učinki te hibernacije, ki je povzročila silovito samoohranitveno in ustvarjalno reakcijo pri ustvarjalcih, prizadevanje po ohranitvi gledališč ter razveseljivo erupcijo ustvarjalne energije. Negativne plati so se pokazale po prvi sprostitvi in odprtju gledališč v živo, kjer so gledališča poskusila naenkrat v živo prikazati vso produkcijo, ki so jo že pripravila, obenem pa so že proizvajala nove predstave. Da gre za ogromno maso produkcij in nekontrolirano hiperprodukcijo, pove podatek, da sem si v času svojega podaljšanega mandata – gre za predstave, ki so imele javno premiero med 1. julijem 2020 in 31. decembrom 2021 – uspela ogledati 210 dogodkov. Od tega je prišlo v neposredno konkurenco za tekmovalni program 192 predstav. Gre za dramske in postdramski predstave ter sodobne uprizoritvene produkcije profesionalnega gledališča institucionalne in zunajinstitucionalne produkcije, namenjene odrasli publiki. Od 192 sem si jih 152 uspela ogledati v živo. Preostale predstave sem si ogledala prek spleta ozira na video posnetkih, upoštevala sem tudi spletne izvedbe, saj večina teh predstav tudi nikoli ni imela klasične odrške hope thwarted by the almost six-month interruption in theatre activity. Despite the reopening, the rest of my mandate saw theatres in constant fear of a repeated closure, mixed with irrepressible satisfaction that we could finally again follow theatre live. ¶ Following a long (apparent) incubation/hibernation of theatres during the complete lockdown, every performative event with a whiff of theatre seemed so precious. Still, this hibernation (which caused forceful self-preservation and creative reaction in artists, the endeavours to keep theatres and a delightful eruption of creative energy) also came with some unexpected negative side effects. These initially surfaced when the first restrictions were lifted, and theatres reopened and tried, in one go and live, to present the entire production that they had prepared while producing new shows at the same time. This enormous number of productions and uncontrolled hyper-production are clear from the fact that during my prolonged mandate – covering the productions that premiered between 1 July 2020 and 31 December 2021 – I managed to attend 210 events. Of these, I directly considered 192 productions for the Competition Programme. These are all drama and post-drama productions and productions of contemporary performances of professional institutional or independent theatres and producers for general theatre audiences. Of those 192 productions, I saw 152 live. I watched the remaining ones livestreamed or recorded. I also considered these online versions for my selection because most of them never had a classical stage première in front of a live audience and existed only in the virtual, online environment. ¶ Because of the specifics and size of the Slovenian theatre market, the problems of the unbalanced ratio between premières and reprises in our theatres are not new. Such problems have been quite evident ever since the nation's independence and are particularly harmful to high-quality productions that as many people as possible should see. The creators themselves are very aware of this unbearable and unresolved situation, which they also address in their productions. ¶ As a result, independent producers, but also others, staged a series of autobiographical premiere pred publiko v živo, ampak obstajajo zgolj v virtualnem, spletnem okolju. ¶ Ti problemi porušenega razmerja med produkcijo in postprodukcijo v slovenskem gledališču zaradi njegove specifike in majhnega trga niso novi in se kažejo že od osamosvojitve dalje, kar gre predvsem na škodo kvalitetne produkcije, ki bi jo moralno v postprodukciiji videti čim več gledalcev. Da je stanje nevzdržno in da doslej nima ustrezne rešitve, se zavedajo tudi ustvarjalci sami in ga naslavljajo v svojih predstavah. ¶ Zlasti v zunajinstitucionalnih produkcijah, pa tudi sicer, so se posledično vrstili avtobiografski performansi, ki so še vedno v porastu, in predstave, kjer so posamezniki pogumno izpostavljeni svojo ranljivost, krhkost in nemoč v težkih situacijah, opozarjali na meje svojih fizičnih in psihičnih zmožnosti, izgorelost, depresijo ali celo napovedovali svoje odstopne in zadnje izvedbe. Zunajinstitucionalna produkcija se je zlasti v tem kriznem času izkazala kot pomemben člen, ki prispeva k izboljšanju načinov, kako živimo kot bolj odprta in vključujoča družba ter skrbi za ozaveščanje nereflektiranih miselnih reliktov iz preteklih dob, tako jí in upanju na nadaljnjo produktivno in kontinuirano delovanje izrekam vso podporo. ¶ Repertoarna gledališča so na drugi strani povsem produktno, tržno in tekmovalno usmerjena in so se v tem smislu (nekritično in laže) prilagodila kapitalističnemu sistemu hiperprodukcije. Kot vsako leto je bilo tudi tokrat ali morda še bolj opazno ponavljanje nekaterih preverjenih avtorskih imen. V tem času samoohranitve gledališča je bilo prisotnega še manj tveganja z neuveljavljenimi imeni ali eksperimentalnimi pristopi. Pri izbiri programa me niso prepričali marketinški prijemi ali oglaševanje v tujini nagrajevanih tekstov, še zlasti če so učinkovali kot čudni muzealični tukti brez premisleka o prenosu v naš prostor. Kriterij izbire tukaj je bil, kako dobro je predstava usidrana v družbeno-politični kontekst, znotraj katerega nastaja, ter kako prepričljivo nagovarja gledalce in skupnost, s katero komunicira. ¶

Pregled sezone

Neposredne obravnave epidemije in njenih posledic v večji meri niti ni bilo zaznati, nekaj je bilo performances (which are still increasing in share) and productions in which individual performers courageously exposed their vulnerability, fragility and powerlessness in difficult situations, drawing attention to the limits of their physical and psychological abilities, burnout, depression or even announced their resignations and final performances. The independent production turned out to be, in these critical times, an important link that contributed to the improvement of ways for us to live as a more open and inclusive society and care for bringing to light the non-reflected thought residue of the past times. I fully support it in the hope of further productive and continuing activity. ¶ On the other side of the divide, repertory theatres are fully product-, market- and competition-oriented. In this sense, they (uncritically and more easily) managed to adjust to the capitalist system of hyper-production. As every year, or even more so this year, the repetition of the tried-and-tested authors was obvious. In this time of theatre's self-preservation, repertory theatres took even fewer risks with non-established names or experimental approaches. When selecting the programme, I was not swayed by marketing strategies or advertising that the texts won accolades abroad, particularly if they functioned as weird museum-like foreign elements transplanted into our cultural space without serious consideration. My criteria for selection were how well the production is anchored in the socio-political context in which it is being created and how convincingly it addresses the audience and community with whom it communicates.

Season Overview

The epidemic and its consequences were not overtly noticeable as a theme. However, some baptismal productions, mostly created based on the original plays of Slovenian authors and for the most part on the incentive or commission from the theatre themselves, tackled them. The pandemic as a theme was more indirectly mirrored through the consequences it had on society and the individuals in isolation and loneliness. There were more productions that emphasised existential dimensions, the loss of purpose, aimlessness, void, the krstnih uprizoritev, ki pa so večinoma nastajale na podlagi izvirnih dramskih del slovenskih avtoric in avtorjev in večidel na pobudo in po naročilu samih gledališč. Bolj se je obravnava pandemije zrcalila posredno; t. j. preko njenih posledic za družbo in individuum, v izolaciji in osamitvi. Več je bilo uprizoritev, ki so se poudarjeno ukvarjale z eksistencialnimi, bivanjskimi dimenzijami, izgubo smisla, brezčilnostjo, praznino, nemostjo sveta brez odgovora ali celo občutjem absurdnosti. Gledališče je tukaj delovalo kot platforma za refleksijo ter tudi blažilo, skoraj terapevtski pripomoček za lajšanje kriznih časov. Povečano je število uprizoritev, ki so obravnavale teme duševnega zdravja, opozarjale na nemogoče pogoje in zahete ter načine dela in pritiske na posameznike. Je pa opaziti trend predstav, ki potekajo v upočasnjem ritmu, s premolkali ali celo popolnoma v tišini. V porastu so na splošno bolj komorne oblike uprizoritev, precej je bilo monodram, solo izvedb in avtobiografskih performansov. Medtem so inštitucije v drugi polovici sezone oziroma v začetku nove že tvegale z bolj bombastičnimi, zasedbeno številčnejšimi in vizualno razkošnejšimi produkcijami. ¶ Ker ogled celotne produkcije za selekcijo obenem dojemam kot priložnost za konstruktivno refleksijo celotne sezone (in pol), bi želela opozoriti še na določene pozitivne, pa tudi nekatere problematične in nevralgične točke. ¶ Če ocenjujem sezono kot celoto, izstopa po kvaliteti igralskih stvaritev, posebej me veseli veliko število vidnejših in kompleksnejših ženskih vlog. Zaradi dolgotrajnih prekinitev se je namreč čas študijev (vlog) podaljšal, s tem pa naselitev v vlogo za njeno celostno izgradnjo in minuciozne detajle, ki jih je užitek spremljati. To bi vsekakor veljalo obdržati tudi v prihodnje. ¶ Po drugi strani velja opozoriti na neenakopravno zastopanost spolov, še zlasti na področju režije v gledaliških inštitucijah. Režiserke denimo dobivajo občutno manj priložnosti za ustvarjanje in razvijanje svojih potencialov kot njihovi moški kolegi. Pri čemer se pojavlja naslednji vzorec: v režijo pogosto dobivajo lahketnejše, nekompleksne tekste, tekste za otroke, lahko tudi komedije in – zanimivo – besedila iz slovenske dramatike, zlasti še nenagrajenih muteness of the world with no answers, and even the feeling of absurdity. Theatre here functioned as a platform for reflection and as a buffer, an almost therapeutic prop to ease these times of crisis. The number of productions that tackled mental health and spoke about the impossible conditions and demands and methods of work and pressures on individuals increased. But a trend of productions that take place in slow motion, with silent breaks, or even in complete silence, is also noticeable. Also increasing were chamber forms of productions, monodramas, solo performances and autobiographical performances. However, in the second half of the season and the beginning of the new one, institutions dared to take a risk with more bombastic productions with larger casts and more visual abundance. ¶ For me, getting an overview of the entire production for the selection process was simultaneously an opportunity for a constructive reflection on the season (and a half). I'd like to point out certain positive but also some problematic and neuralgic points. ¶ When I evaluate the theatre season, it excels in the quality of acting creations. I am particularly pleased with the large number of more prominent and complex female roles. Because of the lengthy breaks, the time for study (of roles) was extended, and with it, the time to inhabit the role and its complex creation and minute details that are a pleasure to watch. This is one element that is worth keeping in the future. ¶ On the other hand, it is worth mentioning the unequal representation of genders, particularly when it comes to directors in theatre institutions. Women directors, for example, were given significantly fewer opportunities to create and develop their potential than their male counterparts. The following pattern emerges: women are often offered to direct more light-hearted, less complex texts, texts for children, also comedies, and – interestingly – Slovenian drama, particularly texts by women authors with no previous awards, and they often direct on small stages. Occasionally, they are offered to create a work of auteur theatre. Fortunately, there are exceptions and theatres that are aware of this problem and successfully break this pattern. ¶ The non-critical reproducing of repressive and patriarchal patterns avtoric, pogosto režirajo na manjših odrih. Občasno se jim ponudi kakšen avtorski projekt. Na srečo obstajajo izjeme in gledališča, ki se tega problema zavedajo in ta vzorec uspešno kršijo. ¶ Še vedno je opazno nekritično reproduciranje represivnih in patriarhalnih vzorcev nadvlade ali določanje heteronormativnega pogleda kot normativnega. O tem bi veljalo več govoriti in to ozavestiti. Vendar gre tudi na bolje. Spodbudno se pojavlja vedno več uprizoritev v obliki kritičnega opozarjanja na kršitve pravic in svobode manjšin in diskriminiranih skupin, žensk, tujcev, migrantov, lgbtq+ skupnosti. Opozarjajo na probleme seksizma, homofobije, ksenofobije, rasizma. Manj je zaenkrat ustvarjanja afirmativnih scenarijev sprejemanja ali raje afirmacije že obstoječih alternativnih oblik sobivanja. Pojavljajo se že tudi predstave, v katerih postaja (slovenični) spol le arbitrarna in fluidna entiteta. ¶ Kar se tematik tiče, ne pomnim, da bi bilo kdaj na področju sodobnih scenskih umetnosti toliko religiozne motivike, uporabe narodnih in tudi državnih simbolov ter folklornih in rustikalnih elementov, kar kaže na porast in svari pred ozkim razumevanjem poslanstva umetnosti kot zgolj braniteljice narodne identitete. Po drugi strani pa, nasprotno, analiza dejanskega stanja in narave produkcije razkriva njen pluralnost, odprtost za dialog, soočenja različnih pogledov in osišč, poleg tega raste število mednarodnih koprodukcij, medtem ko je postala poleg slovenščine uporaba drugih jezikov v predstavah, tudi večjezičnost skoraj že popolnoma samoumevana ter predstavlja relevanten del produkcije, ki je ni mogoče prezreti. Tri od tovrstnih predstav so bile posledično tudi izbrane v tekmovalni program. ¶

Kriteriji in izbor predstav v tekmovalni program

Predstave, ki sem jih izbrala v tekmovalni program, pričajo o moči slovenskega gledališča in nujnosti obstoja sodobne gledališke produkcije v tem kritičnem civilizacijskem in družbeno-političnem trenutku ter bi si zanje želeta, da jih vidi čim večje število ljudi. Gledališče v tem primeru ni le zrcalo, ki kritično motri našo družbeno realnost in prepreke, pred katerimi smo se znašli kot družba, posamezniki in v prvi vrsti človeška bitja, pač pa of supremacy is still visible, as is the prescribing of the heteronormative view as normative. This should be more discussed and sensitised. But things are improving as well. It is encouraging to see that there are more productions in the form of critical cautioning about the violations of rights and freedoms of minorities and discriminated groups, women, foreigners, migrants and the LGBTQ+ community. Productions also draw attention to the problems of sexism, homophobia, xenophobia and racism. There are currently fewer examples of creating affirmative scenarios of acceptance or, better, affirmation of the existing forms of coexistence. There are also already productions in which (grammatical) gender is becoming an arbitrary and fluid entity. ¶ As for themes, I do not remember ever seeing so many religious motifs in contemporary performing arts or the use of national and state symbols and folkloric and rustic elements, which shows an increase in the narrow understanding of art as being merely a defender of national identity and also an increase in the warning of such understanding. On the other hand, an analysis of the actual state and the nature of production quite contrarily reveals its plurality, openness to dialogue and confrontations of different views and focuses. The number of international co-productions is growing. Likewise, the use of other languages in addition to Slovenian has increased, and multilingualism has become such a normal and relevant part of production that it cannot be ignored. Three such productions were consequently selected for the Competition Programme. ¶

The Criteria and Selection of Productions for the Competition Programme

The productions I have selected for the Competition Programme testify to the power of the Slovenian theatre and the urgency of the existence of contemporary theatre production in this critical civilisational and socio-political moment, and I wish that as many people as possible see them. Theatre, in this case, is not merely a mirror that critically monitors our social reality and obstacles which we are facing as a society, individuals and, firstly, as human beings, but also učinkuje kot sredstvo, ki nam omogoča razumeti in procesirati nastalo stanje krize. Tako učinkuje skoraj terapevtsko na obeh straneh rampe, pri gledalcih in ustvarjalcih, dviguje morale in ustvarja nove načine, kako vzdrževati visok nivo dialoga in kulture v družbi. ¶ V tekmovalni program sem izbrala zlasti predstave, ki so izstopale po svoji umetniški kvaliteti in izpovedni moči, tiste, ki so na estetski ravni učinkovala kot celostno izdelane ter so me prepričale v kolektivnem kreativnem presežku in kvalitativno enakovrednem prepletu vseh uprizoritvenih elementov, in to ne glede na žanr ali obliko gledališča. Obenem je poudarek na tistih gledaliških predstavah, ki posegajo po za družbo relevantnih temah, imajo jasno izdelano idejno stališče in v tem križnem trenutku posedujejo moč, da so sposobne v javnosti sprožiti določene polemike in tvorno zastavljati vprašanja o današnji družbi, vlogi posameznika in gledališča v njem, pri tem pa prevprašujejo obstoječe javne diskurze ter družbi nastavljajo moralni in etični kompas. Gre za predstave, ki se zavedajo lastne umeščenosti v lokalni ali širši družbeno-politični kontekst in aktualni trenutek; predstave, ki uspejo na najbolj relevantne načine artikulirati pereče probleme današnjega časa in to počno umetniško slikovito, silovito in prepiričljivo. ¶ Izbrane predstave ne kažejo le zrcalne podobe našega trenutnega stanja, ampak se tudi med seboj nezadržno kalejdoskopsko komentirajo. Pa naj gre za razpadanje družinske celice, prikaz njenih disfunkcionalnosti ali nevzdržnega stanja bivanja med štirimi stenami, spopad z osamljenostjo in izoliranjem sredi skupnosti, opozarjajo na diskriminacijo, nestrnost, posledične težave duševnega zdravja, depresije, z njimi pogosto povezane finančne zagate in hiperprodukcijske pritiske neoliberalnega kapitalizma, obravnavajo podnebno krizo, (posledično) naraščanje problemov množične migracije in dojemanje kulturne integracije, opozarjajo na radikalne posledice nestrnosti in nasilja zaradi verskih ali ideoloških razklanosti ter slednjič prikazujejo, kako se človeku lastno sovraštvo obrne proti njemu samemu. Predstave tekmovalnega programa omogočajo zastopanost pluralnosti različnih osišč, spodbujajo k dialogu functions as a vehicle that allows us to understand and process the crisis that was created. It is thus almost therapeutic on both sides of the portal, for the spectators and the creators; it boosts morale and creates new ways of maintaining a high level of dialogue and culture in our society. ¶ The productions I selected for the Competition Programme stand out in terms of artistic quality and expressive power, and comprehensive aesthetics. They were convincing in their collective creative surplus and balanced quality of all their performing elements, regardless of the genre or form. Simultaneously, the emphasis is on those theatre productions that reach for themes that are relevant to society, have a clearly defined standpoint and, in this moment of crisis, possess the power to trigger certain polemics among the public and actively ask questions about today's society, the role of the individual and theatre in it; and in doing so, question the existing public discourses and provide society with a moral and ethical compass. These productions are aware of their position in the local or wider socio-political context and the actual moment. They are productions that manage, most relevantly, to articulate the burning problems of our time. In doing so, they are artistically picturesque, powerful and convincing. ¶ The selected productions do not only show a mirror image of our current situation but also comment on each other. These comments are irrevocably kaleidoscopic, regardless of whether the productions discuss the disintegration of the family unit and its dysfunctions and the unbearable situation of living surrounded by four walls, the confrontation with loneliness and isolation among the community; draw attention to discrimination, intolerance, problems that are a consequence of mental conditions, depression and the financial distress and hyper-production pressure of neoliberal capitalism often linked to them; tackle the climate crisis, the (consequential) increase of mass migrations and the perception of cultural integration; focus on the radical consequences of intolerance and violence because of religious or ideological schisms and finally show how a man's own hatred turns against himself. As such, the productions in the Competition Programme allow the representation of different focuses, they encourage dialogue and its development ter njegovemu razvijanju, obenem pa sprožajo zavest, da umetnost ni le zrcalo, pač pa tudi pomembna moralna in duhovna opora in način, kako lahko procesiramo in prebrodimo težke bivanjske situacije ter jih ugledamo v drugi luči. Pri gledališču gre za kompleksno umetniško in kolektivno dejavnost, ki bi ji z zagotavljanjem pogojev delovanja morala biti omogočena zmožnost ustvarjanja alternativnih imaginarijev, ki naj nam pomaga pri zamišljaju novih načinov, kako skupaj in v tvornem duhu naseljevati drugi, boljši jutri. Kar je danes v vsesplošnem duhovnem kolapsu in moralni dezorientaciji še kako nujno. ¶ V tekmovalni program izbiram polno kapaciteto, maksimalno možno število glede na podaljšano obdobje izbora, tj. 14 predstav. Tem štirinajsttim dodajam še spletni predstavi, ki sta doživelji premieri v času popolnega zaprtja gledališč, obe opozarjata na pomen gledalca za obstoj gledališča in nujnost novih načinov tvorjenja skupnosti in komunikacije v kriznih obdobjih gledališča. ¶ To utekeljitev pišem v začetku novega leta 2022. Ne vem, kakšna bo situacija v času izvedbe festivala, kar je za žive uprizoritvene umetnosti ključnega pomena. Želim si, da bi predstave našle pot do gledalcev v živo in gledališče prikazale v njegovi polni moči. ¶ and, at the same time, encourage the awareness that art is not only a mirror but also an important moral and spiritual support and a way that allows us to process and go through difficult existential situations and see them in a different light. Theatre is about a complex artistic and collective activity, which should, by ensuring the conditions for its work, be enabled to create alternative imaginaries that should help us envision new ways in which we can, together and actively, inhabit a different, better tomorrow. Something that, amidst the general spiritual collapse and moral disorientation, is very necessary today indeed. ¶ I filled the Competition Programme with fourteen productions, the maximum possible number considering the prolonged selection period. To these fourteen, I added two online productions that premiered during the complete lockdown. They both warn about the importance of the spectator for the existence of theatre and the need for new ways of creating community and communication at a time when the theatre is in crisis. ¶ I am writing this explanation in the early days of 2022. I do not know how the situation will be at the time of the festival, which is of key importance for live performing arts. I wish that the productions will find their way to their audience and present theatre in its full force. ¶

Jette Ostan Vejrup (1962) je študirala na Akademiji za gledališče v Århusu na Danskem in na Mednarodni gledališki šoli Jacquesa Lecoqa v Parizu ter zaključila oba študija v letih 1986 in 1988. Igrala je v različnih gledališčih v ZDA, Veliki Britaniji in na Danskem, med drugim je nastopala z britansko gledališko družbo Théâtre de Complicité, s katero je za uprizoritev Anything For a Quiet Life in za vlogo Gospa Petule prejela skupinsko nominacijo za britansko gledališko nagrado Laurence Olivier. Leta 1989 se je preselila v Slovenijo, kjer je sprva kot svobodnjakinja ustvarila številne pomembne vloge v mnogih slovenskih gledališčih, zlasti v SNG Drama Ljubljana. Za vlogo Ženske v Handkejevih Železniških informacijah (EG Glej) je leta 1989 skupaj z Borisom Ostanom in režiserko Nevenko Koprivšek prejela Boršnikovo diplomo za posebne dosežke. Leta 2004 je postala stalna članica igralskega ansambla MGL, v katerem je prvič nastopila leta 1990 v naslovni vlogi Gombrowiczeve drame Ivana, princesa Burgundije, za katero je prejela Boršnikovo nagrado. Kasneje je v MGL interpretirala več vlog, med drugimi Fräulein Schneider v muzikalu Kabaret (za vlogo je dobila Boršnikovo nagrado), Olgo v Treh sestrah, Sladko Sue v muzikalu Sugar – Nekateri so za vroče, Fjoklušo v Nevihti Aleksandra Ostrovskega. Prejela je dve Dnevnikovi nagradi za izjemni umetniški dosežek na odru MGL, in sicer za naslovno vlogo v uprizoritvi Harper Regan (2011) ter leta 2018 za vlogo Hipolite v avtorskem projektu Sen kresne noči, Levive v drami Življenje kot delo Hanoha Levina in Birgitte Mrak v kriminalni nadaljevanki Praznina spomina Barbare Zemljič. Leta 2020 je prejela nagrado Sklada Staneta Severja za Klitajmnistro (Ta nesrečni rod), Gospo Imeldo (Taka sem kot vi, rada imam jabolka) ter za več vlog v omnibusu Sedem dni in znanstvenem kabaretu 2020. Igrala je v več TV nadaljevankah, med drugim v Teatru Paradižnik in Vrtičkarjih, in sodelovala pri nekaj filmih, med drugim v Srečen za umret Matevža Luzarja. Leta 2021 je prejela Boršnikov prstan. ¶

Jette Ostan Vejrup (1962) studied at the Academy of Theatre in Aarhus, Denmark, and at the Jacques Lecoq International Theatre School in Paris, completing both studies in 1986 and 1988. She has performed in various theatres in the United States, Great Britain and Denmark, including with the British company Théâtre de Complicité. For her performance in Anything For a Quiet Life as Mrs Petule, she received a group nomination for the prestigious Laurence Olivier Award. In 1989, she moved to Slovenia, where she initially worked as a freelancer and created several important roles in Slovenian theatres, especially at the SNT Drama Ljubljana. In 1989, together with Boris Ostan and director Nevenka Koprivšek, she received a Boršnik Diploma for special achievements for her role as the Woman in Handke's Train Information (EG Glej). In 2004, she became a permanent member of the Ljubljana City Theatre, where she first appeared in 1990 in the title role of Gombrowicz's drama Ivana, Princess of Burgundy, for which she received the Boršnik Award. She later played several roles in her residential theatre, including Fräulein Schneider in the musical Cabaret (for which she won another Boršnik Award), Olga in Chekhov's Three Sisters, Sweet Sue in the musical Sugar – Some Like It Hot and Fyeklusha in Alexander Ostrovsky's The Storm. She received two Dnevnik awards for outstanding artistic achievement, namely for the title role in Harper Regan (2011) and in 2018 for the roles of Hippolyte in the devised theatre A Midsummer Night's Dream, Leviva in Hanoch Levin's drama The Labour of Life and Birgitta Mrak in the crime series The Emptiness of Memory by Barbara Zemljič. In 2020, she received the Stane Sever Foundation Award for Clytemnestra (This Restless House), Mrs Imelda (I'm Like You, I Love Apples) and for several roles in the omnibus Seven Days and the science cabaret 2020. She has starred in several TV series, including Tomato Theatre and The Gardeners, and acted in several films, including Matevž Luzar's Good to Go. In 2021, she received the Boršnik Ring Award. ¶

Since February 2022, she has been working once again at the Ministry of Culture RS as the head of the art sector. ¶

studiu dokončno navdušil dramatik in dramaturg Vili Ravnjak. Po končani Prvi gimnaziji Maribor je vpisal študij režije na Akademiji za gledališče, radio, film in televizijo Univerze v Ljubljani, kjer je študiral pod mentorstvom Mileta Koruna in Matjaža Zupančiča. Leta 1996 je na oder Lutkovnega gledališča Ljubljana postavil diplomsko uprizoritev Sofoklejeve Antigone, s katero je tri leta kasneje tudi diplomiral. Leta 1997 je bil med soustanovitelji Gledališke šole Prve gimnazije Maribor. Po študiju je režijske izkušnje nabiral v domala vseh slovenskih poklicnih gledališčih, pa tudi na Reki, v Zagrebu, Trstu in Sarajevu. V Prešernovem gledališču Kranj se je prvič predstavil z drzno postavitevijo kultnega besedila sodobne dramatike Kako jemati njeno življenje Martina Crimpa (2011). Leta 2014 je za svoje delo prejel nagrado Prešernovega sklada, istega leta pa je s kranjskim ansamblom na oder postavil poetično besedilo Mrtvec pride po ljubico Svetlane Makarovič; predstava, ena pomembnejših stvaritev sodobnega slovenskega gledališča, je prejela številne domače in mednarodne nagrade. Pod njegovim režijskim vodstvom je leta 2017 nastal avtorski projekt Stenica, ki je na 48. Tednu slovenske drame prejel Šeligovo nagrado ter nagrado občinstva. Istega leta je Lorenci prejel nagrado Evropske komisije za gledališče Premio Europa, najpomembnejše priznanje v evropskem gledališču. Žirija je v utemeljitvi zapisala, da je v tem "modrem režiserju" videla ustvarjalca "nove gledališke realnosti", ki je zaznamovala vse dobitnike te najvišje evropske nagrade za gledališče, med drugim tudi Petra Brooka in Harolda Pinterja. ¶

Jernej Lorenci (1973) discovered his interest in theatre art at a young age. In his high school years, he directed his first productions under the auspices of the Maribor Dead Theatre. In his Drama Studio, the playwright and dramaturg Vili Ravnjak finally encouraged Lorenci to pursue a professional career in theatre. After graduating from the First Gymnasium Maribor, he enrolled in the study of directing at UL AGRFT, where he studied under the mentorship of Mile Korun and Matjaž Zupančič. In 1996, he staged a graduation production of Sophocles's Antigone on the stage of the Ljubljana Puppet Theatre, with which he also graduated three years later. In 1997, he was one of the co-founders of the First Gymnasium Maribor Theatre School. Upon graduation, he gained directing experience in professional theatres throughout Slovenia, as well as in Rijeka, Zagreb, Trieste and Sarajevo. At the Prešeren Theatre in Kranj, he made a staggering 2011 debut by staging Martin Crimp's cult contemporary drama Attempts on Her Life. In 2014, he received the Prešeren Fund Award. In the same year, he staged Svetlana Makarović's poetic text The Dead Man Comes for His Mistress at the Prešeren Theatre Kranj. The play has become one of the most important creations of contemporary Slovenian theatre and has received numerous domestic and international awards. Under his direction, the devised theatre The Bedbug was created in 2017, which received the Šeligo Award and the Audience Award at the 48th Week of Slovenian Drama. In the same year, he received the Premio Europa award, the most important recognition in the European theatre, bestowed by the European Commission. The jury members wrote that they saw in this "wise director" a "new theatrical reality", a quality which has marked all the winners of this highest European award for theatre, including Peter Brook and Harold Pinter. 1

Mouawadova sodobna tragedija Požigi se osredotoča na zgodbo treh oseb: enigmatične Naval in njenih otrok, dvojčkov Simona in Jeanne. Harmonijo njihovega sobivanja prekine Navalina nenadna izguba volje do življenja, ki jo sprembla odločitev za popolni in dosmrtni molk, brez vsakršnega pojasnila motiva. V oporoki odrasli hčeri in sinu zapusti nalogi: Simon mora najti njunega očeta, za katerega sta mislila, da je mrtev, Jeanne pa brata, za katerega nista vedela, da ga sploh imata. Sledi dolgo potovanje do krajev njihovega izvora, polno težkih vprašanj in potlačenih skrivnosti, ki korenito preobrazi Simonovo in Jeannino identiteto. Uprizoritev Požigi odpira univerzalna vprašanja in zajema celoten spekter, ki ga ima vojna na psihosocialno stanje družbe. Preizpršaže možnost sprave in ponovne vzpostavitve človeške skupnosti po nasilju in grozodejstvih neokolonijskih vojn, obenem pa razgrinja simptom potvarjanja preteklosti in molka, ki je v marsičem vodilna nit uprizoritve. Predstava izpostavlja ključna vprašanja, o čem in v imenu česa kot družba in posamezniki nenehno molčimo ter kaj se zgodi tistim, ki se opogumijo in ta molk prelomijo v imenu višjega cilja ali obljube. Prebijajoč se skozi brutalno večplastnost zamolčane družinske preteklosti, Požigi raziskujejo možnost ljubezni kot preseganja travm sovraštva in groze. 1

Mouawad's modern-day tragedy Scorched focuses on the story of three people: the enigmatic Nawal and her children, the twins, Simon and Jeanne. The harmony of their coexistence is disrupted by Nawal's sudden loss of the will to live and her adamant decision to remain silent for life without any explanation of her motive. In her will, she entrusts her adult daughter and son with a special task: Simon must find their father, whom they thought was dead, and Jeanne must find their brother, whom they did not even know they had. What follows is a long journey to the places of their origin, replete with difficult questions and hushed-up secrets, which radically transforms Simon's and Jeanne's identities. The play Scorched explores universal questions and covers the entire spectrum of war's impact on society's psychological and social condition. It enquires about the possibility of reconciliation and the re-establishment of a community after the brutality and atrocities of neo-colonial wars. Moreover, it explores the issue of falsification of the past and silence, which is in many ways the guiding line of the performance. The play raises key questions about what and in the name of what or whom we remain silent, albeit as a society or as individuals, and what happens to those who take courage in breaking this silence in the name of a higher goal or promise. Struggling with the multifaceted, brutal nature of the hushed-up family past, Scorched explores the possibility of love in overcoming the traumas of hatred and horror 1 Peter Uhan

Upriporitev Proslava je nastala v okviru mednarodnega projekta Pristanišče sanjačev (Port of Dreamers), sofinanciranega v okviru programa Ustvarjalna Evropa, ki si je kot glavno izhodišče družbeno angažiranega raziskovanja izbral perečo in vseprisotno problematiko migracij. Vsebina predstave, ki jo lahko razumemo kot diptih družbene kritike izpod peresa hrvaškega dramatika Ivorja Martinića in osebnoizpovedne izkušnje iranskega migranta, živečega v Sloveniji, po eni strani razgrinja vso hinavščino, impotentnost in paradoxnost evropske migrantske politike, kar se razkrije med pripravami na slavnostni dogodek sicer neimenovane politične stranke, po drugi plati pa na podlagi zapisa antropologinje in sociologinje Mojce Marič, ki je intervjuvala političnega begunca Navida Fadaeeja Nazerja, pred nami oživi boleča in trajčna izkušnja posameznika na njegovi poti proti "svobodnemu" Zahodu. Dinamizem zgodbe, ki jo poganjajo številni kontrasti in razlike med bogatimi in revnimi, vzhodom in zahodom ter ne nazadnje med svobodnimi in tistimi, ki živijo v nenehnem strahu pred izgubo svobode in življenja, razkriva globalno razsežnost načel manipulacije z ljudmi, ki skoraj vedno pridejo za kapitalom, in iluzijo demokratičnega sistema, h kateremu se neprestano obračamo kot k političnemu univerzalizmu, čeprav nas v rokah dežurnih in oblasti željnih akterjev vedno znova pusti na cedilu.  Damjan Švarc

The performance Celebration was created within the framework of the international project Port of Dreamers, co-funded by the Creative Europe programme, which took on the acute and almost omnipresent migration problem as its starting point for socially engaged research. The play's content – which we can understand as a diptych of social criticism penned by Croatian playwright Ivor Martinić and the personal experience of an Iranian migrant living in Slovenia – reveals all the hypocrisy, impotence and paradoxicality of European migration policy. The festive event, hosted by an unnamed political party, soon becomes the epitome of everything that seems wrong in present-day politics. However, in the second part of the story, based on the writings of anthropologist and sociologist Mojca Marič, who interviewed Iranian political refugee Navid Fadaee Nazer, the painful and tragic experience of an individual on his way to the "free" West comes to life. The story's dynamism, driven by numerous contrasts and differences between rich and poor, East and West, and not the least between the free and all who live in constant fear of losing their freedom and their lives, reveals the global dimension of the principle of manipulating people who almost always come second after the interest of the capital and the illusion of a democratic system to which we constantly turn as political universalism, even though it always leaves us at the mercy of power-hungry "political animals".

Lucy Prebble se je v Učinku lotila farmacevtske prakse in pod drobnogled postavila dogajanje na kliniki, kjer testirajo nove antidepresive. Navdih za dramsko besedilo je bil spodeljen poskus ameriške korporacije Parexel med testiranjem nekega drugega zdravila v eni izmed londonskih bolnišnic. Drama operira z realnimi dejstvi in skozi spretno soočanje različnih perspektiv in stališč odpira vprašanja učinkov zdravil na ljudi ter delovanja človeških možganov in čustev nasploh. Uprižoritev Učinek gledalca s filmsko naracijo in medicinsko natančnostjo vodi skozi klinično študijo, v kateri spremljamo tedensko odmerjanje psihiatričnega zdravila, ki naj bil ajšalo simptome depresije. Zdravnika Lorna James in Toby Sealey opazuje ta učinke zdravila na dveh prostovoljcih – Connie Hall, študentki psihologije, ki v študiji sodeluje zaradi želje po spoznavanju področja, in Tristiju Freyu, svobodomiselnemu posamezniku, ki v kliničnih študijah pogosto sodeluje zaradi zaslužka. Med Tristantom in Connie nepričakovano vznikne ljubezenska zgodba, razpeta med domnevнимi učinki zdravila in subjektivnim občutenjem, med zdravnikoma pa se ob poglabljanju strokovne debate o tej skrajno vznemirljivi in dvoumni temi prav tako razvije svojevrstna povezanost.  Peter Uhan

In The Effect, Lucy Prebble explores pharmaceutical practices and places the events at a clinic where new antidepressants are being tested under the microscope.

Inspired by a failed experiment by the American corporation Parexel in one of London's hospitals that took place while they were testing another drug, the play deals with real facts and, by skilfully presenting different perspectives and points of view, raises many questions about the effects of drugs on people and the functioning of the human brain and emotions in general. The first Slovenian production of The Effect draws the spectator's attention with its film narration and medical precision through a clinical study, in which we monitor the weekly dosing of a psychiatric drug that is supposed to alleviate the symptoms of depression. Doctors Lorna James and Toby Sealey follow the effects of the drug on two volunteers – Connie Hall, a psychology student, who participates in the study out of a desire to learn more about the field, and Tristan Frey, a free thinker, who often participates in clinical studies to earn some money. During the study, unexpectedly, a love story unfolds between Tristan and Connie, torn between the drug's alleged effects and their subjective feelings. At the same time, we can follow an expert debate between the doctors on this extremely exciting and ambiguous topic, revealing a unique connection between them.

Pesem Oljsko goro tiha noč pokriva na posnetku
poje Pipa Lorenci.

The song Mount of Olives Under the Cloak of Silent Night on the record is sung by Pipa Lorenci.

Skofjeloški pasijon ali Processio locopolitana je najstarejše ohranljeno dramsko delo v knjižni slovenščini z začetka 18. stoletja z govornimi posebnostmi lokalnega okolja. Besedilo v 863 rimanih verzih je leta 1721 zapisal pater Romuald – rojen kot Lovrenc Marušič v Štandrežu pri Gorici –, ki je misterij človekovega odrešenja zasnoval v zaporedju trinajstih slik. Zgodba z izrazito te(le)ološko premočrtnostjo se začenja s starozaveznim izgonom iz raja kot posledice prvega človekovega prekrška zoper Boga – greha. Po človekovem padcu v greh, ki ga judokrščanska tradicija dojema kot delovanje hudobnega duha, na svetu zavlada Smrt, kijih nihče ne more uiti, in tako se v mrtvaškem sprevodu zvrstijo vsi – od papeža, kardinalov, kraljev, vse do meščana, kmetov in najrevnejšega berača. Toda preko pretresljive prispolobe večne pogube v peklu, ki služi kot opozorilo vsem grešnim dušam, upanje na odrešitev še vedno tli v pričakovanju mesije. V tretjem delu pasijona sledi razplet s prizori kralja Davida, Skrinje zavezne in božjega groba. Smrt Jezusa Kristusa in njegovo vstajenje predstavlja zmago nad zlom, zato so Jezusa v slavnostnem sprevodu nosili po mestu kot velikega zmagovalca. Do njegovega vstajenja je človeštvo še vedno ogrnjeno v žalost, kar nakazuje žalna glasba; toda žalost pomeni le prehodno obdobje, ki bo prineslo tudi telesno zmago nad smrto – prav zato je zgodba Škofjeloškega pasijona v svojem bistvu svetla, odrešujoča in polna upanja. Njegova prava zgodba se zato začne šele po koncu igre – vsakokrat v svetu tu in zdaj.

Death, which no one can escape. So everyone follows it in this dance macabre – starting with the pope, cardinals, kings – to citizens, farmers, all the way to the last beggar. But through the shocking parable of eternal doom in hell, which serves as a warning to all sinful souls, the hope of salvation still smoulders in anticipation of the Messiah. Thus, the third part of the passion play is followed by the scenes of King David, the Ark of the Covenant and the tomb of God. The death of Jesus Christ and his resurrection represent victory over evil, and in turn, Jesus was carried around the city in a solemn procession as a great conqueror. Until his resurrection, humanity is still shrouded in grief, as indicated by the mournful music. Yet grief is only a transitional period that will also bring physical victory over death – which is why the story of The Škofja Loka Passion Play is, in essence, bright, redeeming and full of hope. Its true story, therefore, begins only after the end of the play – in the world here and now.

The Škofja Loka Passion Play or Processio locopolitana is the oldest preserved dramatic work in standard Slovenian from the beginning of the 18th century with the spoken peculiarities of the local environment. The text in 863 rhymed verses was written in 1721 by Father Romuald – born Lovrenc Marušič in Štandrež near Gorica – who conceived the mystery of human salvation in a series of 13 tableaux. The story, with a distinctly the(le)ological straightforwardness, begins with the Old Testament expulsion of the first couple from paradise as a consequence of man's first transgression against God – the original sin. After man's fall into sin, which the Judeo-Christian tradition perceives as the work of an evil spirit, the world is ruled by Enodejanka Emigranta Sławomira Mrožka je zgodba, ki se odvija na novoletno noč v življenju dveh migrantov – intelektualca (političnega in ideološkega disidenta) in fizičnegga delavca (ekonomskoga migranta). V njunem dialogu se soočita dva radikalno različna pogleda na svet, kar vodi v popolno osamo protagonistov, ki povrh vsega ostaneta oropana lastne iluzije o srečnem koncu. Drama, ki temelji na Mrožkovi avtobiografski izkušnji, je izjemno duhovito in mojstrsko napisana. Liki se drug do drugega obnašata kot parazita, ki skozi mehanizem razreševanja nehnih konfliktov vseeno uspeva doseči stanje simbioze, saj sta s perspektive drugega (torej novega okolja) še vedno pripadnik iste skupnosti. Oba sta izločena iz družbe, kar jima daje isto simbolno vrednost. Nosita vlogo družbenih zajedavcev, odpadnikov, migrantov; prav v teh najnižjih plasteh socialne vertikale pa se komični žanr zelo dobro znajde. Komedija, ki uporablja banalnosti konkretnih teles v točno določenih dejanjih, omogoča jasno in obenem kompleksno branje na dveh ravneh, konkretni in abstraktни, pri tem pa stvarno dogajanje ne ostane zgolj metaforično, temveč se v njem razkriva velik politični in emancipacijski potencial. ¶

The Emigrants, a one-act play by Sławomir Mrožek, is a story that takes place on New Year's Eve in the lives of two migrants – an intellectual (a political, ideological migrant) and a manual worker (an economic migrant). In their dialogue, they confront two radically different worldviews, and the denouement renders the two strangers left to their own devices and bereft of an illusion of a happy ending. The play, which is undeniably based on the author's personal experience, very witty and brilliantly written. The characters act as parasites in each other's lives, although their constant conflict creates a symbiosis. They have opposing views of their situations, but from our perspective (or the perspective of the other), they belong to the same community. They are both excluded from society, which gives them the same symbolic value. They embody the role of a social parasite, renegade, immigrant. It is precisely in these lowest strata of the societal structure where the comic genre thrives. Comedy, using the banalities of concrete bodies in precisely defined actions, provides a clear and complex reading on both the concrete and the abstract level, whereby the concrete action does not remain merely as a metaphorical gesture but can hold a massive political and emancipatory potential. ¶ © Peter Uhan

Zgodba o temičnem občutku v čričkovi glavije del knjižnega cikla nizozemskega avtorja Toona Tellegena, ki govorji o življenju gozdnih živali. Živali iz zgodb, ki naj bi jih avtor spisal v njihovem avtentičnem okolju, torej v gozdu, bralstvu ponujajo lepa, modra, nepretenciozna in inteligentna razmišljanja o smislu življenja, izhajajoč iz posebnih okoliščin in duševnih stanj. Čriček se sooča z občutkom depresije, Jež se bori s strahom pred obiski, Slon ima neustavljivo željo po plezanju na drevesa, Veverica je tako zaposlena z vsem okrog sebe, da pozablja nase, vsevedni Mravljinec se sprašuje o smislu vsega, kar leže in gre, Kresnička pa si samo želi, da bi enkrat zasijala. Tellegen je že pred desetletji, ko so zgodbе začele nastajati, v svoji daljnosežni lucidnosti zaznal, da se svet vedno bolj vrti v neko čudno smer in da se je nad prebivalce gozda spustil temičen občutek, podoben tistem, ki se je v preteklih dveh letih spustil nad vse nas. Pod kinko mladinske forme, ki jo je režiserka Ivana Djilas v kontekstu uprizoritvenega koncepta zakodirala v smer družinskega glasbeno-vizualnega spektakla, je Tellegen napisal filozofska dela za odrasle – in seveda tudi za otroke, kajti v resnici vsi razumemo sporočila teh zgodb, vsak na svoj način. ¶

The story about the dark feeling in Cricket's head is presented in a book cycle by Dutch author Toon Tellegen. The stories, which the author supposedly wrote in the animals' authentic habitat (i.e., the forest), talk about the life of forest animals. The animals offer the reader incredibly beautiful, wise, unpretentious and intelligent reflections about the meaning of life arising from their own special circumstances and mental states. For example, Cricket faces depression, Hedgehog struggles with a fear of visitors, Elephant has an unstoppable desire for climbing trees, Squirrel is so busy with everyone around her that she forgets about her own needs, the omniscient Ant wonders about the meaning of everything, and Firefly would just like to shine, at least once in her life. Already decades ago, when writing the stories, Tellegen lucidly noticed that the world was turning in a very strange direction and leaving a dark feeling on the forest inhabitants, similar to the one that descended upon us all in the last two years. Under the guise of a youthful format, which was – in the context of the staging concept by director Ivana Djilas – transformed into a family musical and visual spectacle, Tellegen wrote philosophical works for adults and, of course, for children, for we all understand the message of these stories, yet each in their own way. ¶ Peter Uhan

Vito Weis, ena najbolj samosvojih igralskih prezenc, ki brezkompromisno stopa pred občinstvo, je tokrat udaril s samostojnim avtorskim prvencem, a ga je prisnovanju presenetila pandemija koronavirusa ter porušila vse zamisli in nastavke. Še posebej sta bila na udaru avtorjev ustvarjalni(ne)mir in pristop, saj je pandemija do temeljev zamajala prav vsa pravila človekovega delovanja, tudi umetniškega, obenem pa razprla nova, neznana obzorja in možnost za drugačne premisleke. Z izolacijo je prinesla tudi močno psihično negotovost in ... novo družbo. Kar naenkrat smo ostali sami – s seboj. Slaba družba je čisti odlitek duha časa, ki krvavo potrebuje gledalce. Odlitek, oluščen besed in malone vseh odrskih iluzij, a vendarle polnokrvna gledališka izkušnja; odlitek, ki se gledalcu ne vsiljuje, a mu ponudi "mnogobarvno" so-postavitev in panoramo gledaliških slik, s katerimi se avtor dotakne številnih žgočih vprašanj trenutka, ki ga živimo, začinjenih z glasbo iz nekih drugih časov, neke druge epidemije. ¶ Ivian Kan Mujezinović

Vito Weis, an actor widely hailed for his stage presence and uncompromising delivery, strikes again with his first original solo piece. Early on, its development process was cut short by the pandemic, which shattered the initial ideas and premises, along with the author's creative calm (or restlessness). While the pandemic shook the very principles of human activity, including artistic creativity, to their foundations, it also opened up new, uncharted horizons and an opportunity for new considerations. With the need to isolate came a strong sense of psychological insecurity and ... new company. We were suddenly left on our own – alone with ourselves. Bad Company is a result of this – a distillate of the spirit of the age in desperate need of an audience. A distillate stripped of words and nearly all stage illusions that is nevertheless a full-blooded theatre experience. A distillate that refuses to be intrusive, instead offering a "multicoloured" juxtaposition of stage images. In them, the author tackles many pressing issues of the day and age in which we live while accompanied by music from another era – the time of a different epidemic. ¶

Uprizoritev drame Cement Heinerja Müllerja je nastala v okviru mednarodno odmevnne trilogije, ki sta jo v Zagrebu, Ljubljani in Beogradu po tem znamenitem delu zasnovala režiser Sebastijan Horvat ter avtor priredbe in dramaturg Milan Ramšak Marković. Vsak izmed delov trilogije tematizira drugi vidik drame: uprizoritev v izvedbi ljubljanske Drame se osredotoča na intimno zgodbino protagonistov Gleba in Daše. Gleb Čumalov se po nekaj letih državljanske vojne po oktobra revolucionarni vrne domov in se znajde v tovarni cementa, ki kljub visokoletečim revolucionarnim maksimam sameva prazna in nedelujoča. Njegov prihod pomeni tudi vrnitev k ženi in otroku, toda soproga mu ne vrača objemov in poljubov. Njena ljubezen je zdaj Revolucija, njeno telo in srce sta zapečatena, njun otrok pa zaradi lakote kmalu umre. Glebov ciljev od tega trenutka dvojen: prepričati novo oblast, da lahko ljudje, delavci sami ponovno usposobijo tovarno, da deluje in proizvaja še več in bolje kot prej, ter znova osvojiti ženino srce. Ves zunanjji družbeni konflikt panoramskih razsežnosti se zgosti med Glebom in Dašo, pri tem pa smo priča eksploziji komunistične revolucije, identitetnim in spolnim politikam, razrednemu boju, feminismu, zgodovinskemu opolnomočenju in ekonomski emancipaciji na prizorišču zakonske spalnice in kuhinje. ¶

The production of Heiner Müller's play Cement by the SNT Drama Ljubljana represents the second part of an internationally acclaimed trilogy, conceived in Zagreb, Ljubljana and Belgrade by director Sebastijan Horvat and the author of the adaptation and dramaturg Milan Ramšak Marković. Each of the performances of the trilogy thematises another aspect of the drama: the Ljubljana production focuses on the intimate story of the main characters, Gleb and Dasha. Gleb Chumalov is a returning Red Army soldier who comes home after years of civil war following the October Revolution. He ends up in a cement factory, stripped bare, abandoned and non-operational despite the high-flying revolutionary tenets. Gleb's homecoming is also a return to his wife and their child. But she does not return his kisses and hugs. She is in love elsewhere: her passion now is the revolution, her body and heart are impenetrable, and their child will soon die of hunger. Gleb's purpose from this point on is twofold: to convince the new government that people, specifically workers, can restart a factory and resume an even higher output of production and to win back his wife's heart. The entire external social conflict of panoramic dimensions piles up between Gleb and Dasha. We witness the explosion of the communist revolution, identity and gender politics, class struggle, feminism, historical empowerment, and economic emancipation, set in the kitchen and marital bedroom. ¶ © Peter Uhan

Žiga Divjak se v svoji prvi mednarodni koprodukciji loteva podnebne krize – teme, ki nas vse zadeva, še zlasti pa je, kot dokazujejo gibanja Petki za prihodnost, Mladi za podnebno pravičnost in druga podobna, blizu mladim, kijim bomo planet zapustili. Prav mlati se boleče zavedajo, da moramo ukrepati zdaj, če želimo ohraniti življenje, kot ga poznamo – ali vsaj približno tako. Podatki o izumiranju vrst, povečevanju koncentracije toplogrednih plinov v ozračju, onesnaženosti s plastiko in z drugimi polutanti, pa tudi o načrtih proizvajalcev fosilnih goriv so namreč več kot strašljivi. Z njimi sta nerazrešljivo prepletena razredno vprašanje in neoliberalni kapitalizem v svoji najhujši obliki. Ustvarjalci predstave razmišljajo o vsem tem, pa tudi o (ne)moči posameznika, soочenega z nezadržno napredovalčimi podnebnimi spremembami, o občutku jeze malodane vsakogar, ki se poglobi v okoljsko tematiko, in o tem, ali se je za zaustavitev pogubne spirale upravičeno zateči celo k nasilju. A tudi o upanju, ki ne bo zidal gradov v oblakih, temveč bo usmerjeno v trden, realističen in še vedno dosegljiv cilj.  Žiga Divjak

In his first international co-production, Žiga Divjak tackles the climate crisis – a theme that affects us all, but, as Fridays for the Future, Youth for Climate Justice, and similar movements clearly demonstrate, the topic is especially important for younger generations who will inherit the planet and are keenly aware that we need to act now if we are to preserve the life on Earth as we know it – or something resembling it. The data on declining biodiversity, growing concentrations of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere, contamination with plastic and other waste, and, on the other hand, plans of the fossil fuel producers are simply terrifying. Inextricably intertwined with all of these are class issues and neoliberal capitalism at its worst. The artistic team contemplates all of this, as well as the helplessness of the individual and our feeling of anger that comes over almost anyone who delves into environmental issues. To break these chains of inactivity, the team will tackle the question of whether it is justifiable to resort to violence in order to put an end to this devastating death spiral. They will also give thought to hope: one that is focused on a clear and still-attainable goal and not grounded in fairy tales.

The sudden disappearance of Beverly, the patriarch of a family estate in Oklahoma, brings together three daughters, their partners and children, as well as other family members who gather around their mother, Violet. A sombre premonition dominates the beginning of the play, which turns out to be true. Beverly is found drowned, and all the clues indicate suicide. As the family members cope with their loss each in their own way, many old wounds are opened under the roof of what used to be a shared home-stead. Violet, the domineering mother of Barbara, Ivy and Karen, is dying of throat cancer and is also addicted to prescription drugs and alcohol. As a result of traumatic family relationships, skeletons start falling out of closets, many harsh words are uttered, and family secrets are gradually exposed. Letts's play is a tongue-in-cheek exploration of taboo subjects such as drug and alcohol addiction, the dysfunctional-ity of marriage, terminal illness, suicide and incest. The play is distinguished by brilliant dialogues and psychologically multi-layered characters, especially the female roles. The play August: Osage County by American playwright, screenwriter and actor Tracy Letts won the Pulitzer Prize for Drama and a Tony Award in 2008. After premièring at the Steppenwolf Theatre in Chicago (2007) and later stagings on Broadway and in London, Letts's text was adapted into a film (2013), directed by John Wells and starring Meryl Streep, Julia Roberts, Julianne Nicholson, Juliette Lewis, Sam Shepard, Benedict Cumberbatch and many others.

Ko smo žeeli rasizem že vreči na smetišče zgodovine, kamor v resnici spada, so svet ponovno pretresle novice, ki kažejo, da še kako vztraja in da je problematika več kot pereča. Po nasilni smrti Georgea Floyda v ZDA, ki je spodbudila gibanje Black Lives Matter, se je izkazalo, da je v 21. stoletju sistemski rasizem še vedno zakodiran v ustroj domnevno najbolj demokratičnih družb na svetu in da pretvarjanje o njegovem neobstoju kvečemu kaže na ignoranco in nezmožnost soočanja s to problematiko. Lahko rečemo, da pri nas rasizma ni? Da rasizem za nas še ni relevantna tema? Da se to dogaja nekje drugje, daleč v Ameriki? Daje peščica tistih "pisanih" in "temnopoltih" pri nas izjema, eksotika? Da so ti "naši" zato, ker jim zaupamo in smo zato pripravljeni spregledati njihovo drugačnost? Dokler bo družba potrebovala Drugega za svojo lastno potrditev ali krivca za neuspeh ter med prebivalstvom širila strahove, napetosti, delitve, bo problematika zagotovo obstajala. Kot izpostavlja avtorica predstave Maša Kagao Knez, ima "naša" družba velike težave s sprejemanjem drugačnosti: migranti vas bodo zagotovo oropali in vam posiliči žene; čefurji vam bodo zasedli delovna mesta; sosed črnec vas bo prav zagotovo napadel, invalidi so "revčki" in ne enakopravni državljeni, geji "uničujejo" družine, čeprav si jih v obstoječih pravnih pogojih niti ne morejo ustvariti. To bolj ali manj odkrito zaničevanje drugih in drugačnih, pa čeprav gre včasih le za "nedolžno" in nemamerno komentiranje, je tema predstave. Koliko škode naredimo "dobri ljudje", ko "nikomur nič nočemo"? ¶ Barbara Čeferin

As we already wanted to throw racism into the dustbin of "us" because we trust them and that we are therefore willing to overlook their differences, their otherness? As long as society needs the Other for its confirmation or finding the culprit for its own failure and spreads fears, tensions, divisions among the population, the problem will continue to exist. As the author of the performance, Maša Kagao Knez, points out, "our" society has a whole spectrum of difficulties accepting differences: migrants will undoubtedly rob you and rape your wives; "che-furs" (a slur for anyone originating from one of the former Yugoslav republics) will occupy your jobs; your black neighbour will certainly attack you; the disabled are "poor" and not equal citizens; gays "destroy" families, even though they cannot even start their own in the current legal conditions. This more or less open contempt for others and the different, even though it is sometimes just "innocent" and unintentional commenting, is the theme of the show. How much damage do "good people" actually do when we "don't want to hurt anyone"? ¶

Po brezčasni mojstrovini velikana slovenske in evropske literature Draga Jančarja, romanu To noč sem jo videl, je režiser Janez Pipan pripravil scensko balado v treh slikah, ki reflektira poetično vizijo umetnika o zamolčanem in pogosto tudi travmatičnem delu slovenske zgodovine. Koprodukcija z mednarodno zasedbo, ki ji uspe preslikati nekdanjo in predpostavljeno zgodovinsko realnost neposredno na oder, tako ni nastala zaradi naključnih povezav, ampak je logična posledica vsebine romana – pet priovedovalcev, ki v romanu pripovedujejo pretresljivo zgodbo Veronike Zarnik, je različne narodnosti. Vsak od njih odstira Veronikino usodo z njegove oziroma njenе perspektive; srbski oficir Stevan, Veronikin ljubimec, njena dementna mati, nemški zdravnik, hišna gospodinja Joži in ostareli partizan Jeranek postopoma odvijajo zamotan klobči ljubezni, ljubosuma, poguma, pa tudi krutosti, izdaje, ranljivega in nasploh vsega človeškega. Čeprav gre za pet prvoosebnih zgodb, so te medsebojno prepletene in nabite z nepredvidljivimi situacijami. Ljubezenska zgodba med Veroniko in Stevanom, vihra druge svetovne vojne, Veronikina končna usoda ter vsi pisanji karakterji, upodobljeni s prepričljivo avtorsko pisavo, se v utelešenju mednarodne igralske zasedbe dvignejo nad pozabo zgodovine. Za uprizoritev tako kompleksne zgodbe ni nujna le do potankosti izdelana režijska zasnova, temveč predvsem življenske izkušnje, izobrazba, odprtost, pa tudi ljubezen in spoštovanje vsega človeškega, minljivega in krhkega. ¶

Zarnik from each one's perspective, are of different nationalities: the Serbian military officer Stevan (Veronika's lover), Veronika's mother suffering from dementia, a German doctor, the Slovenian housekeeper Joži and the aged partisan Jeranek. Even though their individual stories reveal only a part of the whole reality, they intersect and provide an intriguingly entangled narrative imbued with love, jealousy, courage, as well as cruelty, treason and other human weaknesses and vices. The love story between Veronika and Stevan, as depicted in the novel, as well as the turmoil of war and Veronika's fate, are just waymarks of an extremely evocative, intense and, at moments, shocking story with its striking staging potential. To stage such a complex story, which has thus escaped the oblivion of history, one does not require only a brilliant staging concept but, foremost, life experience, erudition, open-mindedness, as well as love and respect for all that is human and all too fragile. ¶

Enega najbolj vznemirljivih svetovnih dramskih besedil Vsi ptice izpod peresa Wajdija Mouawada, avtorja libanonskega porekla iz Quebeca, ki živi v Franciji, bi lahko opredelili kot družinsko sago, thriller in surovo aktualno politično uganko. Začne se v knjižnici velike univerze v New Yorku, kjer se mlađi raziskovalec genetike spozna z doktorandko zgodovine. V naslednjem prizoru se sliši zvok strašnih udarcev – nenadoma smo sredi terorističnega napada v Jeruzalemu in knjižnični stol se spremeni v bolniško posteljo. Le kaj sta mladi Eitan in Wahida iskala v Izraelu? Na nadzorni mejni točki Wahida potrpežljivo pojasnjuje, da Hassan ibn Muhammad al-Wazzān, s katerim se ukvarja kot zgodovinarca, ni terorist, temveč protagonist njene doktorske teze in arabski diplomat, ki je umrl pred petsto leti. Ranjeni Eitan pa je prišel v Izrael, da bi poiskal svojo izgubljeno babico. Del družine se je odsebil v Berlin, toda teroristični napad jih je za kratek čas spet vrnil v Jeruzalem, kjer bodo vsi odkrili strašno in obenem strezenjujočo resnico o svojem poreklu. Uprizoritev je tudi ljubezenska zgodba, ki se ne boji močnih emocij: je remake Romeo in Julije v času, ki sovraži razkošne zgodbe in prisega na minimalizem. Vprašanja, ki si jih zastavlajo ustvarjalci predstave, se dotikajo problematik izvora dednosti, (ne)enakovrednosti spomina in pozabe, odkrivanja in prenašanja družinskih skrivnosti od enega potomca na drugega (in možnosti posameznikove osvoboditve od njihovega bremena). Koliko človeških generacij mora prevzeti krivdo za Auschwitz in ne nazadnje, ali lahko tudi ljudje živimo v bratstvu, kot ga poznajo rodovi ptic? ¶

One of the world's most exciting plays, Birds of a Kind, written by Wajdi Mouawad, a Lebanese-born author from Quebec who lives in France, can be defined as a family saga, thriller and current political puzzle that begins in the library of a New York university, where a young geneticist meets a doctoral student in history. In the next scene, we hear the sound of a terrible blow; suddenly, we are in the middle of a terrorist attack in Jerusalem, and the library chair turns into a hospital bed. What were young Eitan and Wahida looking for in Israel? At the border checkpoint, Wahida patiently explains that Hassan ibn Muhammad al-Wazzān, whom she studies as a historian, is not a terrorist but the protagonist of her doctoral thesis: he was an Arabian diplomat who died five hundred years ago. The wounded Eitan came to Israel to look for his lost grandmother. Part of the family moved to Berlin, but the terrorist attack brought them back to Jerusalem for a short time, where they will discover at the same time the terrible and sobering truth about their origins. It is also a love story that is not afraid of strong emotions, a remake of Romeo and Juliet at a time that hates lavish stories and swears in minimalism. The questions we want to ask the audience and ourselves: is heredity genetically defined, are memories and forgetfulness equivalent? Are family secrets revealed and passed down from one descendant to another, or can we free ourselves from them? How many generations must take responsibility for Auschwitz? Can humanity live in a brotherhood as known to the genera of birds? ¶

Najraje bi se udrla v zemljo je interaktivni uprizoritveni eksperiment, ki skozi dramaturgijo internetnih platform dekodira uprizoritveni potencial socialnih omrežij. Skozi formo vzpostavljanja gledališkega prostora in časa znotraj facebook skupine kot polja virtualne skupnosti se uprizoritev posveča raziskovanju socialnih omrežij kot strategij pobega, iskanja pripadnosti ter polja aktivne družbene vključenosti. Igralki se skozi igro izzivov in nalog preizkušata v različnih internetnih formatih, vse od instagram zgodb, tiktok izzivov, do tutorialov in vlogov, s katerimi tako rekoč utelesita pozicijo sodobnih "influencerjev". Gledalci kot člani facebook skupnosti in kot aktivni soigralci sodelujejo v tekmovanju za mesto ambasadorce fiktivnega kozmetičnega podjetja LalaLush, pri tem pa svojimi všečki in komentarji vrednotijo vsebine obenh igralk ter posledično vplivajo na potek in razplet igre. Igra, ki postaja čedalje bolj emocionalno zahtevna in intimna, odstira tesnobo, strahove in negotovosti kot glavno kolateralno škodo izpraznenosti spletnih reprezentacij ter hkrati razpira vprašanje, kako daleč smo pripravljeni iti v bitki za potrditev. Če so socialna omrežja igra, ki jo moramo igrati, da lahko obstajamo, kako lahko potem iz te borbe izidemo kot zmagovalci? ¶

Wish the Earth Would Open Up and Swallow Me is an interactive performative experiment that decodes the performative potential of social media through the dramaturgy of internet platforms. Through establishing a theatrical space and time within a Facebook group as a place of a virtual community, the performance explores social media as a strategy of escape, a search for belonging and a place of active social inclusion. The performers are challenged in different internet formats through games and tasks of Instagram stories, TikTok challenges, tutorials and vlogs to represent (and embody) the position of a contemporary influencer. As part of the Facebook community, the audience actively takes part in the competition for the new ambassador position for a fictional cosmetic company LalaLush, by valuing the performers with likes and comments, thus consequently affecting the course and outcome of the game. The game that becomes more and more emotionally challenging and intimate reveals anxiety, fear and insecurity as the main collateral damage of the emptiness of online representation. Furthermore, it opens up the question of how far we are willing to go in this pursuit for validation. If social media is a game that we must play to exist, how can we emerge as winners? ¶ Vid Merlak

Bržkone najslavnnejša ljubezenska zgodba vseh časov, Shakespeareva tragedija Romeo in Julija (1593), je še danes ena izmed največkrat uprizorjenih gledaliških iger velikega angleškega barda. Družba, ki jo vsaka na svojih okopih predstavlja njuni s sovraštvo prepojeni družini, Montagi in Capuleti, narekuje uso do mladih zaljubljencev. "Starodavno sovraštvo in mla- da ljubezen. Naše polnilo so nasprotja. Ne le v konfliktu, temveč tudi v besedi, misli in v dramskem dogajaju. Po uličnem pretepu se zgodi zabava. Skrivni poroki sledi dvojni umor. Po obsodbi o izgnanstvu se vseeno zgodi poročna noč. Priprave na poročno slavlje se spre- vržejo v pogreb. Pobeg k ljubezni in upanje na srečni konec pa prepreči nesporazum, ki vodi v dvojni samo- mor. Svet nasprotij oziroma narobe svet. Nenehno pri- čakovanje nepričakovanih informacij," je vsebino tragedije povzela dramaturginja Nina Kuclar Stiković. Režiser uprizoritve Aleksandar Popovski pri tem dodaja, da ga je fascinirala predvsem moč dekleta, ki se odloči, da gre v objem ljubezni skozi smrt in nazaj. Prav zato se mu je zdelo pomembno, da zgodbo prikaže skozi njene oči: "V sve- tu, polnem nasilja in strahu, sem se počutil kot ta nežni par, ki se trudi ohraniti edino- stvar, kiju zanima. Lepoto."

Arguably the most famous love story of all time, Shakespeare's 1593 tragedy Romeo and Juliet is also one of the esteemed Bard's most frequently staged plays worldwide. The opposing worlds, each represented and embodied by revenge-driven families – the Montagues and the Capulets –, dictate the young lovers' fate. Dramaturg Nina Kuclar Stiković pointed out the following: "Ancient hatred and young love. Our fillers are opposites. Not only in conflict but also in word, thought and dramatic action. After a street fight, a party happens. A secret marriage is followed by a double murder. After the conviction of exile, however, the wedding night happens. Preparations for the wedding celebration turn into a funeral. An escape to love and hope for a happy ending, however, prevents a misunderstanding that leads to a double suicide. The world of opposites or the wrong world. The constant expectation of unexpected information." In addition, director Aleksandar Popovski noted that he was fascinated by the power of a girl who decides to go through death only to get back into the embrace of love. Therefore, he thought it was important to show the story through her eyes: "In a world full of violence, aggression and fear, I felt like this gentle couple trying to keep the only thing they care about. Beauty."

Petnajsti avgust 1963, vas v Vipavski dolini. Vaščani pripravljajo dva dogodka na isti dan in ob isti uri – mašo za veliki šmaren z gospodom škofom in proslavo dneva graničarjev JLA s tovarišem sekretarjem centralnega komiteja. Odločitve, kijih morajo sprejeti, so težke. Bodo poniglavno strnili vrste kot zveste ovčice ali poslušni tovariši? Na prvi pogled je jerebika, štrudelj, ples pa še kaj igra o nekem zgodovinskem času in temeljni slovenski ideološki razklanosti. A bolj ko se zgodba razvija, bolj jasno se izrisuje portret sodobne slovenske družbe, v kateri ideološko prepričanje zlahka zamenja pragmatična korist. Besedilo nenehno prehaja med časi in prizorišči, politična dilema pa je začinjena s prizori neposredne seksualnosti, v katerih vsakdo nesebično liže, drka, vtika, boža, gnete in jaha kogar, kolikor in kadar je le mogoče. Gre za besedilno bravuro, ki se po eni strani igra z žanrom komedije, tako da preizpraviše meje komičnega, po drugi pa z meščansko predpostavko gledališča, ki je pripravljeno sprejeti provokacijo, a le do določene mere. Režiser se v svojem opusu z zanimanjem loteva različnih žgočih družbenih tem(ati), med katerimi mu nista tuji niti odrska obdelava spolnosti in angažirana interpretacija besedil Simone Semenič. V uprizoritvi se zrcali tesen preplet občutljivih tem ter pozicij avtorice in režiserja, ki na odru zaživi v podobi sočne celote, ta pa pronicljivo analizira stanje v družbi in obenem vre od življenske sile.  Peter Uhan

It is 15 August 1963, and the villagers in the Vipava Valley are getting ready for two events scheduled at the very same time: a religious service honouring the Feast of the Assumption with the Most Reverend Bishop and the celebration of the border guards of the Yugoslav People's Army with the comrade Secretary of the Central Committee. They have some tough decisions to make: will they succumb and close the ranks as loyal sheep or obedient comrades? At first glance, rowan, strudel, dance and more is a play about a historical period and the fundamental ideological schism between Slovenians. But as the story unfolds, the clearer the portrait of contemporary Slovenian society becomes, in which ideological belief is easily replaced by pragmatic benefit. The text constantly shifts between times and scenes; the political dilemma is spiced with explicit scenes in which everyone selflessly licks, masturbates, inserts, caresses, kneads and rides anyone as much and whenever possible. The play is a textual bravado that plays, on the one hand, with the comedy genre by questioning the limits of the comic and, on the other, with the bourgeois preconception of theatre that is willing to accept provocation but only to a certain extent. Jure Novak, who is always keen on presenting various compelling social topics, even if it entails sexuality onstage and an engaged interpretation of the text by Simona Semenič, directed the production. The performance thus reflects a close intertwining of sensitive topics and positions of both the author and director alike, resulting in a juicy staged whole, which provides an acute analysis of society brimming with vitality.

Nina Rajić Kranjac (1991) is considered not only one of the most cutting-edge theatre directors but also one of the most versatile theatre artists of the younger generation. After graduating from the IB Diploma Programme at the Second Gymnasium Maribor, she completed her studies in solo singing at the Maribor Conservatory of Music and Ballet. She then attended UL AGRFT, from where she graduated in theatre and radio directing (2014) and obtained her master's degree in theatre directing (2017), mentored by Tomi Janežič. She has directed productions in almost all the Slovenian institutional theatres as well as in numerous independent theatres. During her studies, she received several awards: the Student Best Production Award for her direction of Three Sisters (2012); the Best Production Award at the International Festival of Dramatic Arts in Zagreb for her production of Simona Semenič's 1981; the Šeligo Award for the Best Slovenian Production at the Week of Slovenian Drama; the Academy Prešeren Award for the direction of 1981 and her original project NOW I'm Flying! based on motifs by Bertolt Brecht. In addition, she won the Jurislav Korenić Award for Best Young Director at the International Theatre Festival MESS in Sarajevo and the UL Student Prešeren Award for her staging of The Conference of the Birds (Glej Theatre, 2015). Her staging of Our Class (Prešeren Theatre Kranj, Ptuj City Theatre, Mini Theatre) won the Boršnik Award for Directing (2018). She has also appeared several times as an actress in her productions, most recently as a performer and director in the production Solo (Mladinsko Theatre and Maska Ljubljana, 2021). ¶

Jernej Lorenci (1973) je v rani mladosti začel spoznavati oblike gledališke umetnosti, v srednješolskih letih pa je pod okriljem Mrtvega gledališča Maribor že režiral prve uprizoritve. Za gledališko umetnost ga je v svojem Dramskem studiu dokončno navdušil dramatik in dramaturg Vili Ravnjak. Po končani Prvi gimnaziji Maribor je vpisal študij režije na Akademiji za gledališče, radio, film in televizijo Univerze v Ljubljani, kjer je študiral pod mentorstvom Mileta Koruna in Matjaža Zupančiča. Leta 1996 je na oder Lutkovnega gledališča Ljubljana postavil diplomsko uprizoritev Sofoklejeve Antigone, s katero je tri leta kasneje tudi diplomiral. Leta 1997 je bil med soustanovitelji Gledališke šole Prve gimnazije Maribor. Po študiju je režijske izkušnje nabiral v domala vseh slovenskih poklicnih gledališčih, pa tudi na Reki, v Zagrebu, Trstu in Sarajevu. V Prešernovem gledališču Kranj se je prvič predstavil z drzno postavitvijo kultnega besedila sodobne dramatike Kako jemati njeno življenje Martina Crimpa (2011). Leta 2014 je za svoje delo prejel nagrado Prešernovega sklada, istega leta pa je s kranjskim ansamblom na oder postavil poetično besedilo Mrtvec pride po ljubico Svetlane Makarovič; predstava, ena pomembnejših stvaritev sodobnega slovenskega gledališča, je prejela številne domače in mednarodne nagrade. Pod njegovim režijskim vodstvom je leta 2017 nastal avtorski projekt Stenica, ki je na 48. Tednu slovenske drame prejel Šeligovo nagrado ter nagrado občinstva. Istega leta je Lorenci prejel nagrado Evropske komisije za gledališče Premio Europa, najpomembnejše priznanje v evropskem gledališču. Žirija je v utemeljitvi zapisala, da je v tem "modrem režiserju" videla ustvarjalca "nove gledališke realnosti", ki je zaznamovala vse dobitnike te najvišje evropske nagrade za gledališče, med drugim tudi Petra Brookaa in Harolda Pinterja. ¶

Jernej Lorenci (1973) discovered his interest in theatrical art at a young age. In his high school years, he directed his first productions under the auspices of the Maribor Dead Theatre. In his Drama Studio, the playwright and dramaturg Vili Ravnjak finally encouraged him to pursue his professional career in theatre. After graduating from the First Gymnasium Maribor, he enrolled in the study of directing at the UL AGRFT, where he studied under the mentorship of Mile Korun and Matjaž Zupančič. In 1996, he staged a graduation production of Sophocles' Antigone on the stage of the Ljubljana Puppet Theatre, with which he also graduated three years later. In 1997, he was one of the co-founders of the First Gymnasium Maribor Theatre School. Upon graduation, he gained directing experience in professional theatres throughout Slovenia, as well as in Rijeka, Zagreb, Trieste and Sarajevo. At the Prešeren Theatre in Kranj, he made a staggering 2011 debut by staging Martin Crimp's cult contemporary drama Attempts on Her Life. In 2014, he received the Prešeren Fund Award. In the same year, he staged Svetlana Makarovič's poetic text The Dead Man Comes for His Mistress at the Prešeren Theatre Kranj. The play has become one of the most important creations of contemporary Slovenian theatre and has received numerous domestic and international awards. Under his direction, the devised theatre The Bedbug was created in 2017, which received the Šeligo Award and the Audience Award at the 48th Week of Slovenian Drama. In the same year, he received the Premio Europa award, the most important recognition in the European theatre, bestowed by the European Commission. The jury members wrote that they saw in this "wise director" a "new theatrical reality", a quality which has marked all the winners of this highest European award for theatre, including Peter Brook and Harold Pinter. ¶

Slovensko narodno gledališče Nova Gorica, Slovensko ljudsko gledališče Celje, Anton Podbevšek Teater, Mini teater). Zadnja leta je stalna sodelavka režiserke Ivane Dijilas. Med letoma 2009 in 2014 je bila zastopnica kulturno-umetniškega društva Baobab, ki ga je leta 2009 ustanovila skupaj s plesalko Dalando Diallo in z glasbenikom Damirjem Mazrekom. V tem društvu, ki deluje na področjih plesa, glasbe in gledališča, je soustvarjala predstave, projekte in mednarodni festival afriške kulture Baofest. Prav tako je umetniška vodja zavoda za kulturne dejavnosti Studio 25 ter direktorica zavoda Diaspora, znotraj katerega deluje avtorski umetniški kolektiv. Leta 2013 je kot plesalka prejela nagrado Ksenije Hribar. Leta 2016 je za duet, ki sta ga ustvarila z glasbenikom Muratom, prejela nagrado na XX. Festivalu koreografskih miniatur v Beogradu. Od leta 2004, ko je začela samostojno koreografsko pot, je ustvarila več kot petnajst avtorskih predstav, med drugimi Rojena zunaj svoje vasi, 1978, Koncert za Mam, Lakeless, YAAMAAM, ker je bilo, kar je bilo (Plesni teater Ljubljana) Nameščeni (Španski borci), Dia diasso diasspora in MOMENTUM Avenija ujetih trenutkov (Cankarjev dom Ljubljana) ter Črna koža, bele maske (Anton Podbevšek Teater). ¶

Maša Kagao Knez (1978) works as a dancer, choreographer and theatre practitioner. She first came into contact with the performing arts as a child through the work of her mother, Jasna Knez, herself a dancer and choreographer. She was trained by various international teachers, both in Slovenia and abroad. In 2006, she completed professional training at Georges Momboye School of Traditional and Contemporary African Dance in Paris. In 2013, she graduated from the Alma Mater Europaea Academy of Dance in Ljubljana, and in 2021, she completed her master's degree (Art of Movement) at the UL AGRFT. She collaborates with institutional theatres and independent producers alike (Dance Theatre Ljubljana, SNT Drama Ljubljana, Ljubljana City Theatre, SNT Nova Gorica, Celje City Theatre, Anton Podbevšek Theatre, Mini Theatre). She has regularly collaborated with director Ivana Dijilas in the last few years. In 2009, Kagao Knez, together with dancer Dalanda Diallo and musician Damir Mazrek, co-founded the Baobab Cultural and Arts Society, active in dance, music and theatre. She is the artistic director of the cultural institution Studio 25 and the director of Diaspora, an artistic collective dedicated to the creation of dance and music productions. She received the Ksenija Hribar Dance Award in 2013. Three years later, she won the third prize at the XXth Festival of Choreographic Miniatures in Belgrade for her duet with the musician Murat. Since beginning her independent choreographic career in 2004, she has created more than fifteen original performances, including Born Outside One's Village, 1978, A Concert for Mam, Lakeless, YAAMAAM, Because It Was What It Was, Settled In, Dia diasso diaspora, MOMENTUM The Avenue of Moments Captured and Black Skin, White Masks. ¶

Vsakdo oblikuje lastno identiteto v odnosu do kože. Koža se ob stiku z drugimi nenehno spreminja in preoblikuje. To enako velja za ljudi različnih zmožnosti in starosti, celo za površje zemlje, ki se v dobi antropocene vse hitreje premika. V izvedbi Rolanda Walterja, nemškega plesalca s spastično obliko cerebralne paralize, in Renae Shadler, avstralske plesalke in koreografinke brez invalidnosti, Koža ustvarja lastno vesolje, v katerem se lahko njuni izrazito različni telesi zbližata. Ta intimni duet presega fizične meje izvajalcev in ustvarja skupni jezik gibanja, ki ga navdihujejo morske vetrnice, tekočine in različne površine zemelje. Koža raziskuje nove načine vzpostavljanja medsebojnih odnosov, poglablja našo zmožnost drsenja sem in tja skozi različne izkušnje, fizikalizira medsebojni vpliv okolja in posameznika. Predstava si ne prizadeva ustvarjati dostopnost za ljudi s posebnimi potrebami, ampak je poskus izstopa, prekoračitve, v kateri soobstajajo raznolike življenske izkušnje. Poskuša ustvariti svet brez razlikovanja med bolj in manj sposobnimi telesi. ¶

Everybody has its own identity in relation to the skin. The texture of the skin changes and constantly transforms through contact with others. This applies equally to people of different abilities, ages and even to the surface of the Earth, which is shifting ever faster in the current age of the Anthropocene. Performed by Roland Walter, a German dancer with full-body spastic paralysis, and Renae Shadler, a non-disabled Australian dancer and choreographer, Skin creates a universe of its own in which their two distinctly different bodies can come closer to each other. This intimate duet transcends the performers' physical borders to imagine a shared movement language inspired by sea anemones, liquids and the Earth's surfaces. Skin explores new ways of relating to each other, deepening our ability to glide back and forth between different types of experiences and physicalises how our environment both shapes us and is shaped by us. Skin is not about "access" for people with disabilities but rather a work of "excess" in which multiple lived experiences co-exist. It is an attempt to make a world in which there are no more- or less-abled bodies. ¶ Beat-pix with Heart

Deklica v temnem gozdu je priredba mita o Procne in Filomelji, kot jo je po Ovidovih Metamorfozah zasnoval francoski pisatelj Philippe Minyana. Besedilo s temačnim značajjem se je prelevilo v multimedijsko predstavo, ki vključuje miniaturne skulpture, video, kinematografijo in glasbo. Okolje zgodbe spominja na temačno igro šaha, v kateri figurice oživijo, igralci pa kruto igro podoživljajo. Liki so ujetniki tega umetno ustvarjenega fantazijskega mikrokozmosa, njihova usoda je odvisna od vsemogočnega božanskega animatorja. Vsak medij evocira entiteto, ki lahko samostojno pripoveduje svoj košček zgodbe; z zdržužitvijo medijev pa se vzpostavi transcendentno poetično polje, v katerem privre na plano domišljija občinstva, da aktivno soustvarja gledališko igro. Náčelo Nenadzorovanega je vpisano v samo srčiko predstave. Ne glede na to, kako zelo si junaki želijo nadzorovati potek dogodkov, se življenje odloča po svoje. Ali povедano z besedami povsem obupanega Kralja pred njegovo preobrazbo v ptico: "Naši načrti so vedno znova obrnjeni na glavo. Ko že mislimo, da imamo stvari pod nadzorom, naste pohodijo." S priznajnjem, da so stvari onkraj našega nadzora, kakorkoli grozljivo in boleče se morda to zdi, lahko dosežemo notranjo osvoboditev in transformacijo, ki nas vedno znova opominja, da je treba življenje zajemati s polno žlico in živeti za ta trenutek. ¶

The Little Girl in the Dark Forest is an adaptation by the French writer Philippe Minyana of the myth Procne and Philomela from Ovid's Metamorphoses. The reworked text has been transformed into a multimedia performance that entails micro sculpture, video art, cinematography and music. The story's setting resembles a dark chess game, where the pieces come to life, and the players experience the game most cruelly. In this miniature world, a fantasy microcosm is created in which all the characters are trapped, and their fate depends on the omnipotent, God-like animator. Each medium forms a separate entity and could tell the story, albeit in part, on its own. However, when combined, all the media create a transcendental, poetic field in which the audience and its imagination come to work, thus completing the world of the play. The Uncontrolled is set at the heart of the performance. No matter how much the heroes wish to control the course of events, Life makes its own decisions. As the King, devastated, says shortly before he turns into a bird: "Our plans are always overturned. We think that we rule things, and they trample on us". And yet, just admitting that things are out of our control, however horrifying and painful that may be, can be ultimately liberating by bearing a transformative quality that reminds us to seize the moment and live our lives to the fullest. ¶ Domniki Mitropoulou

Zivimo v intenzivnem času – v poplavi informacij, nadvladi tehnologije, odtujeni in izgubljeni v novi realnosti. Neposredni odraz tega časa je predstava, v kateri igralec interpretira izbrane odlomke iz knjige filozofskih esejev Krkost svetovno priznanega scenarista in pisatelja Jeana-Clauda Carrièra. Svojevrstno ugledališčeno predavanje podaja skozi osebno izkušnjo, ki je v veliki meri izoblikovala in zaznamovala njegovo življenje. Predstava nagovarja najširše občinstvo, od srednješolcev pa vse do generacije v jeseni življenja. Carrièreva globoko humana in empatična pisava se s svojo umirjeno, tako rekoč zenovsko noto zdi kot balzam za razbolele duše sodobnega časa: "Potrebovali bi tiho, pomirjujočo besedo, ki se ne bi sklicevala na nobeno božje ali človeško razodenje, na nobeno ljudstvo, na nobeno stranko. Potrebovali bi neki glas, preprost, umirjen glas, ki bi nam morda rekel: 'O tem ne vem nič več kot vi, ne prinašam vam nobenega posebnega razsvetljenja, nimam nobene religije, nobenega od boga poslanega sistema, ki bi vam ga ponudil, a živim drugačno življenje, kot je vaše, spoznal sem to in ono, na svet skušam gledati z različnih zornih krovov in lahko bi, če to želite, del poti opravili skupaj.'"

We live in an intense time – in a constant overflow of information, the dominance of technology, alienation and loss in a new reality. A direct reflection of this time is the play in which the actor Simon Šerbinek interprets selected excerpts from the philosophical essay Fragility by the world-renowned screenwriter and writer Jean-Claude Carrière. The actor gives a unique theatrical lecture through his personal experience, which has largely shaped and marked his life. The play appeals to different generations, from high school students to people experiencing the autumn of life. Carrière's deeply humane and empathetic writing, with its calm, so to speak, Zen note, seems like a balm for the vexed souls of modern times: "We would need a voice, a simple, calm voice that might tell us, 'I know nothing more about this than you do, I do not bring you any special enlightenment, I have no religion, no God-sent system to offer you, but I live a different life than yours, I have come to know this and that, I try to look at the world from different angles and we could, if you want, do part of the way together'."

Tehnoburleska Tatovi podob je nema komedija telesa, ki parodira okorelost družbenih vlog. Nekritično si prisvaja, kopira in lepi ženstvenost, moškost, družinska razmerja, machizem in druge izprijene družbenе vloge, ki po krivem veljajo za normativne. Ko se "tatovi" povsem razgalijo in sloj za slojem odvržejo družbenе preobleke, ne pridejo do bistva, temveč ugotovijo, da je bistvo ništrc, uprizorjene travestije telesa pa opij, ki dela bivanje znosno. Ta zabavna igra v preoblačenju in ekscesno vedenje nastopajočih sta posledica velike zgodovinske osvoboditve seksualnosti in teles posameznikov iz družbenih spon. Redne, modularne, presenetljive, nikoli enake in predvsem umetniško-družabne večere tehnoburlesk so skozi najrazličnejše oblike sodelovanja vzpostavile i sodelavke ci kolektiva Feminalz. Ta burleskni kolektiv, ki pod okriljem zavoda Emanat deluje že devet let, je ustvaril že več kot šestdeset različnih točk, ob vsaki izvedbi pa z uspešnimi strategijami apropiacije in reciklaže poskrbi za povsem novo izkušnjo. ¶

The techno-burlesque Image Snatchers is a silent body comedy that mocks the rigidity of social roles. The show uncritically appropriates, copies and glues together femininity, masculinity, family relationships, machismo and other degenerated social roles that are unrighteously considered normative. When the "snatchers" totally expose themselves, removing their social attires layer by layer, they do not find the essence but realise that the essence is nothingness. The performed travesties are the opium that makes living bearable. This amusing play in cross-dressing and the excessive behaviour of the performers alike are both the results of the great sexual and bodily liberation from social bonds. Techno-burlesque is a regular, modular, always surprising, and never quite the same art-social event constituted by members of the group Feminalz. In nine years of existence, the group has created over sixty acts, and in every show, they use successful strategies of appropriation and recycling to deliver a brand-new experience. ¶ Asiana Jurca Avci

Outwitting the Devil

Sodobno plesno uprizoritev Prelisičiti hudiča (Outwitting the Devil) navdihuje starosumskega Epos Gilgamešu, v fragmentih ohranjen na dvanajstih glinenih tablicah.

Poetična in obenem čustveno pretresljiva koreograf-ska stvaritev Akrama Khana, enega najznamenitejših in najizvirnejših plesnih ustvarjalcev našega časa, uteleša nasilno poglavje v življenju mladega Gilgameša, kot se ga spominja sam v svoji pozni starosti tik pred smrtjo. Zgodba prioveduje o Gilgameševi udomačitvi človeka iz divjine Engiduja in o njunem prijateljstvu, ki se poglablja med skupnim potovanjem v prostran cedrov gozd z divjimi bitji in duhovi. Po uboku velikana in varuha gozda Humbabe se mladi Gilgameš nameni ovekovečiti svojo slavo v podobi mogočnega mesta Uruk, toda bogovi, ki z besom zrejo na Gilgamešev napuh, na umor Humbabe in drugih gozdnih bitij, junaškega kralja kaznujejo s smrto ljubljenega Engiduja. Po soočenju z neizogibno brdkobo človeške minljivosti Gilgameš preide v zgodovino, s tem pa postane zgolj fragment starodavne človeške kulture in spomina. Prelisičiti hudiča je mit vseh vekov, tudi našega časa. ¶

Outwitting the Devil is inspired by a fragment of the twelve broken clay tablets, which together make up one of the world's oldest great works of literature, the ancient Sumerian Epic of Gilgamesh. Akram Khan's new work embodies a violent chapter in young Gilgamesh's life, read and recalled by his older, dying self. It tells the story of Gilgamesh's domestication of and friendship with the wild man Enkidu, their journey to the vast Cedar Forest, home to wild beings and spirits, and the slaughter of its guardian Humbaba. Fuelled by strength and pride, Young Gilgamesh is determined to establish his fame and fortify the city of Uruk as a monument to himself. But the killing of Humbaba and the destruction of the forest and its animals angers the gods, who punish the young king by taking the life of his beloved Enkidu. Confronted with the truth and sorrow of human mortality, Gilgamesh passes into history to become a fragment among the broken remnants of human culture and memory. Outwitting the Devil is a myth of all times, for our times. ¶ Klaus Tummers

MarlenEdith je predstava, s katero pevki Graziana Borciani in Stefania Seculin prepletata življenji in pesmi Marlene Dietrich in Edith Piaf. Vsaka se osebno in z intenzivno glasbenogledališko pripovedjo pokloni eni izmed dveh znamenitih umetnic prejšnjega stoletja. Na prvi pogled se zdi, da je Edith Piaf kot ženska bolj "berljiv" lik, vseživljenjska iskalka ljubezni, ki je naletela predvsem na razočaranja in tragedije, to se ne nazadnje zrcali v njenih doživetih in iskrenih interpretacijah. Marlene Dietrich pa razvnema z enigmatičnostjo, "železno" hladnostjo in samosvojo angažiranostjo, v kateri se skriva nerazrešen odnos do lastnih korenin – Nemčijo je zapustila v znak nasprotovanja nacističnemu režimu in ideologiji. Ob znanih zimzelenih pesmih, kot so Hymne à l'amour, La vie en rose, Lili Marleen in Just a gigolo, gledalci spoznajo predvsem prijateljstvo teh dveh žensk, njuno medsebojno bližino in solidarnost. O obeh umetnicah zgovorno priповедujejo tudi črno-bele tipke jazzovskega pianista, aranžerja in skladatelja Lambertja Lipparinija, igralec Danijel Malalan pa v vlogi povezovalca razgrinja ključne podrobnosti iz njunih življenj. 1

MarlenEdith is a theatre play in which singers Graziana Borciani and Stefania Seculin tell the life stories of Marlene Dietrich and Edith Piaf through acting and singing. Each performer gives life to an intense and profoundly personal homage to two widely-acclaimed artists of the 20th century by portraying their very different personalities and life stories through acting and music. At first glance, Edith Piaf appears to be the most straightforward character of the two, being a woman who spent her whole life looking for true love only to find unrequited love and unhappy endings. This also transpires through her emotional and raw singing. On the other hand, Marlene Dietrich was known for her enigmatic and captivating ice-cold beauty. Moreover, she was an eccentric and strong-willed woman who struggled to come to terms with her German origins since she was forced to flee Nazi Germany for opposing the state's regime and ideology. While listening to some of their greatest hits, such as Hymne à l'amour, La vie en rose, Lili Marleen and Just a Gigolo, the audience also learns about the women's friendship, their closeness and mutual sympathy. The two characters are also portrayed through music composed, arranged and performed by Lambert Lipparini. Actor Danijel Malalan takes on the role of narrator, revealing the important events of their lives. 1 Luca Quaia

Pek, jasnovidka, vodovodar, župan, zvonarka. Nevidni, spregledani, zlomljeni, transcendentirani. Skupnost mesta in mesto skupnosti. Zbrani, da sodijo zgodovini. Zgodovini, ki je podrla njihove sanje, želje, strasti, zavladala je njihovemu času, uzakonila pravila igre, porazdelila moč, zgradila klavstrofobično skupnost, polno neizrečenih skrivnosti, in jim pustila le še spomine – boleče, minljive, igrive, žgoče, ljubeče. Preteklost je meglena, sedanost polzi iz rok, prihodnosti ni. Vsi čakajo na spremembo, ki je ni od nikoder. Kdo gradi skupnost? Čigav je teritorij mesta? Kdo nadzira čas? Kako se v družbi porazdeljuje moč? Kako pogradi korenine, ko je svet v nenehnem nastajanju? Kako zgraditi polje mogočega? In kje je v življenju prostor za igro, ko je spontanost prepovedana? Vsako uničenje je hkrati gradnja nečesa novega. Under Construction je prvi izveninstiucionalni projekt Počemučke, je stejtment neke generacije o neki skupnosti, nekem času, nekem mestu, neki ideji in neki antigeneracijsi. Antiideji. “Samo, da igramo.” ¶

Baker, psychic, plumber, mayor, bellringer. Invisible, overlooked, broken, transcendent. The community of the city and the city of community. They have gathered to judge history. The history that has broken their dreams, desires, passions started to reign over their time, set the rules of the game, spread the power, built a claustrophobic community full of unspoken secrets. All they are left with are memories. Painful, transient, playful, blazing, loving. The past is foggy, the present is slipping through their fingers, the future does not exist. Everyone is waiting for a change that never comes. Who is building a community? To whom does the territory of the city belong? Who controls the time? How is the power in society distributed? How to settle down when the world is in constant becoming? How can you build the territory of the possible? And where can you find a space to be playful when spontaneity is forbidden? Every destruction is also a creation of something new. Under Construction is the first non-institutional project by Počemučka. It is a statement of some generation about some community, some time, some city, some ideas and some anti-generation. An anti-idea. “As long as we play”. ¶ Borut Bučinel

Predstava je bila v originalni izvedbi igrana v rovih Lutkovnega gledališča Ljubljana in je posebej adaptirana za uprizoritev na Festivalu Borštnikovo srečanje.
The play was originally performed in the tunnels of the Ljubljana Puppet Theatre and has been specially adapted for staging at the Maribor Theatre Festival.

Režiser Primož Ekart v avtorski predstavi spregovori o občutljivosti trenutkov iztekačajočega se človeškega življenja, polnih intenzivnih spominov ter obračunov s seboj in svetom. To je zgodb o nevidni ženski nekje na robu življenja, ki polzi mimo. Tudi njenega odhoda ne bo nihče opazil. Ustvarjalno ekipo v poetični drami Nevidna zanimajo intimne zgodbe iz življenja posameznika, predvsem pa odhajanje in poslavljjanje, ki ju po navadi spremljajo občutki osamljenosti. Rdeča nit ustvarjanja gradi tudi zavedanje človekove vpetosti v družbeno dogajanje, v svet tega trenutka. Aktualne družbene okoliščine niso naklonjene starosti in starejšim. Starizem, ki se ga slabo zavedamo, ker smo ga skoraj gotovo že ponotranjili, je diskriminacija starejših v mnogoterih oblikah. V najbolj žgoči obliki se dogaja prav zdaj, družba se do starejših in nemočnih obnaša kot do nepotrebnih, odvečnih ljudi, ki bi lahko v času epidemije potencialno zasedali in ogrožali zmožljivosti bolnišnic, s tem pa preprečevali zdravljenje mlajših, družbi in predvsem kapitalu koristnejših ljudi. Predstava predmetnega gledališča z elementi intermedijskih uprizoritvenih praks je oseben, čustven odtis nekega intimnega dogodka, ki se zgodidi v (samo)izolaciji, izrisan na ozadju širših družbenih dogajanj.  Matej Povše

In his devised docudrama Invisible, director Primož Ekart deals with the delicate moments when human life is running out, which team with intense memories and reckoning over oneself and the world. It is a story of a woman who is invisible, always somewhere on the edge of life sliding by. Her departure will not be noticed by anyone either. The creative team of the performance is interested in the intimate stories of human life, particularly departing and saying goodbye, which are usually accompanied by feelings of loneliness. The common thread of the creative work also comprises an awareness of man's integration into social developments, i.e., into the world as it is right now. The fact is that the social circumstances we are currently facing are not sympathetic toward age and the elderly. One of the "isms" of which we are perhaps least aware, since we may have already internalised it, is ageism, discrimination against the elderly, which is revealed in multiple forms. One of the currently most acute forms is happening right now, when the elderly and helpless are treated by society as dispensable people, who could potentially take up and jeopardise hospital capacities during the pandemic, preventing the treatment of younger people, those more useful to society and especially to the capital. Formally classified within the theatre of objects or intermedial performance practices, the performance is a personal, emotional imprint of an intimate event that occurs in (self-)isolation, etched against broader social developments.

Projekt Solo je srečanje režiserke in igralcev v improvizaciji, poskus ustvariti dogodek s pomočjo danih iztočnic in z vprašanjem, kaj pomeni biti sam. Čemu teater, zakaj ga uporabiti, kako prek teh srečevanj spremeniti razmišljanje o njem? Ne nazadnje gre za režiserkin poskus, da bi v središče dogajanja postavila samo sebe in se preučila, da bi sama postala nosilka problema in njegov katalizator. Morda je to dogodek, ki se vzpostavlja vedno znova kot rezultat nenehne potrebe po iskanju smisla. Producija prevprašuje, se odziva, ustvarja, intervenira in vzpostavlja prostor za dialog, srečevanja in soočanja, s tem pa umetniško tvega in skuša preseči standardizacijo, ki vedno bolj obvladuje in ukaluplja metodologijo umetnosti. Z artikuliranjem bistvenih resnic subjekta v gledališču, tudi če so te povsem individualne, projekt bodisi širi ali ruši predvidljive okvirje reprezentiranja in doživljanja umetnosti, pri tem pa si prizadeva doseči pomenljive premike v odzivnosti občinstva in družbe nasploh. ¶ Projekt je del produkcije Nove pošte, ki se posveča osmišljjanju umetniškega delovanja v družbenem kontekstu ter razumevanju in navzočnosti umetnosti v širšem družbenem dogajanju. ¶

Solo is a project where the director and actors meet in improvisation. It is an attempt to create an event from given cues, drawing on the question of what it means to be alone. Why theatre, what are its uses, how to change your thinking about it through these meetings? This is also the director's attempt to put herself into the spotlight and study herself. To make herself both the subject of the problem and its catalyst. The event, created anew in each performance, may result from the perpetual need to search for meaning. The production interrogates, responds, creates, intervenes and establishes a space for dialogue, meetings and confrontations, thus taking artistic risks and trying to go beyond standardisation, which increasingly masters and shapes the “methodology” of the arts. By articulating the essential truths of the subject in theatre, even if they are entirely individual, the project either expands or breaks down predictable frameworks of representation and experience of art while striving to achieve significant shifts in the responsiveness of the audience and society alike. ¶ The project is a part of the production programme of The New Post Office, led by Masko Ljubljana and Mladinsko Theatre, which focuses on giving meaning to artistic activities in a social context and understanding art and its presence in the wider social circumstances. ¶ Nada Žganec

Ljubav reče greva (Založba ŠKUC, 2019) je pesniška knjiga Nine Dragičevič. Vsestranska avtorica – prozaistka, eseistka, skladateljica in sociologinja – deluje na več področjih umetniškega in teoretskega izražanja. Koncertno-poetični dogodek je predstavitev sinteze umetnostnih in mišljenjskih zvrsti, od lirskih utopitev v ljubezen do natančnih analiz sodobnih družbenih patologij – skozi zvočno interpretacijo Žige Jenka ter glasovno interpretacijo Anje Novak in avtorice. Knjiga Ljubav reče greva je bila v ožjem izboru za Jenkovo in Veronikino nagrado, leta 2020 je bila nominirana za nagrado Kritičko sito in uvrščena na seznam desetih knjig Centra za slovensko književnost; še isto leto je avtorica za knjigo prejela Župančičev nagrado. ¶

Ljubav reče greva (Love Says Let's Go), published by ŠKUC Publishing House in 2019, is a poetry book by Nina Dragičevič – a prose writer, essayist, composer, sociologist and artist creating in several fields of artistic and theoretical expression. Through the sound interpretation by Žiga Jenko and vocal interpretations by Anja Novak and the author herself, this sound-poetry performance presents a synthesis of artistic and thought genres – from lyrical immersions into love to thorough analyses of contemporary social pathologies. The book Ljubav reče greva was shortlisted in 2019 for the Jenko Award and Veronika Award and, in 2020, nominated for the Kritičko sito Award and included in the Centre for Slovenian Literature's list of 10 Books from Slovenia – Literary Critic's Choice 2020. In the same year, the author received the Župančič Award for her book Ljubav reče greva. ¶ Nada Žgank

Usposabljanje Mlado gledališče je namenjeno tako ustvarjalcem kot pedagogom na področju umetnosti in izobraževanja, medgeneracijska prehodnost in dialog pa močno odzvanjata v raznolikem programu, ki vsebuje sodobno baletno predstavo, dve uprizoritvi animiranih objektov, razstavo dokumentarnega gradiva, zbranega med delovnim procesom performansa, performativni sprehod po mestu, tri delavnice in strokovni posvet. Ta je letos osredotočen na sprejemanje in vključevanje drugačnosti, na gledališke postopke, s katerimi vnašamo raznolikost, vse skupaj pa povezuje vprašanje pomena zgodbe za uprizoritev, učni proces in vzgojo posameznika v odprtega, empatičnega in solidarnega človeka. ¶

The Young Theatre cycle is intended for both artists and educators in the field of art and education. Intergenerational transition and dialogue resonate strongly in a diverse programme that entails a contemporary ballet performance, two object theatre performances, an exhibition of documentary material collected through the work process, three workshops and a round table for professionals. This year's round table focuses on accepting and incorporating otherness and on theatrical processes that bring diversity, aspects that are inherently linked to the question of the importance of the story for staging, the learning process and educating a young person into an open, emphatic and solidary adult. ¶

Zaznavanje, doživljjanje, razumevanje. Naši čuti nam omogočijo, da lahko dojemamo svet, ki nas obkroža. Ta sine qua non pogoj je nekakšno okno v vse, kar leži onkraj nas; brez njega se nam stvari vsaj delno izmikajo. Kako je mogoče zajeti veličastnost Beethovnove Devete simfonije, če je naš sluh – kot je bil skladateljev – oslabljen? Plesna predstava 9 uteleša prav ta izziv, ki ga skuša preseči skozi drzno potovanje čutnega. Plesni kolektiv Cas Public, znan po svoji gibalni ekspresivnosti, je v soustvarjanju predstave vključil netipičnega performerja Caija Gloverja, ki svojo slušno oviranost premaguje zato, da lahko profesionalno pleše. Koreografinja Hélène Blackburn je plesalčevu oviro uporabila kot konceptualno izhodišče svoje stvaritve. V koprodukciji z belgijskim gledališčem Kopergiety je nastala predstava, ki prav gotovo nagovarja široko generacijsko paletto občinstva, saj premika meje tištine, s tem pa presega drugačnost in pretvarja plesna telesa v razumljivo govorico. Kot je zapisala koreografinja Hélène Blackburn: “.../ v mislih ustvarjalca vedno lebdi več namenov in želja. 9 je bila zasnovana iz dveh takih vzgibov, ki sta me spremljala že dalj časa: delati z Beethovnovo glasbo in preučiti enkratnost majhnih okvar, skritih za navidezno telesno popolnostjo plesalcev. .../ Naša subjektivnost se v svetu okrog nas odpira prav toliko, kolikor se svet prikrade vame. Zaznavanje je tako postal katalizator, ki združuje mojo željo po ustvarjanju z Beethovnovo glasbo in s posebnostmi plesalcev, Caijeva invalidnost pa je njuno vezivo.”  Damian Siqueiros

Perceiving, experiencing, understanding. Our senses allow us to apprehend the world around us. This sine qua non condition is like a window onto what lies outside us. Without it, things elude us in part. How is it possible to capture the grandeur of Beethoven's 9th Symphony if our hearing – like the composer's – is impaired? The dance performance 9 incarnates this challenge through a bold journey of sensation. Known for its eloquent dance, Cas Public now features an atypical performer, Cai Glover, who overcame his hearing impairment to become a professional dancer. Choreographer Hélène Blackburn has taken the unusual step of using his disability as a point of departure for her new creation. In coproduction with Kopergiety, the work is sure to appeal to all generations by pushing back the limits of silence to rise above difference and transform the body into language. As noted by choreographer Hélène Blackburn, “There are always multiple intentions and desires floating in the mind of a creator. 9 is formed from two such intentions that had been with me for a long time: to work with Beethoven's music; and to examine the uniqueness of the small defects hidden behind the apparent perfection of my dancers' bodies. .../ Our subjectivity unfolds in the world around us as much as the world creeps into us. Perception has thus become the catalyst uniting my desire to work on Beethoven's music and the singularities of my dancers. Cai's disability became the anchor uniting them.”

Mesarica razmesari in na novo postavi Martina Krpana, njegovo kobilo in cel dunajski dvor, pri tem pa se peterica animatorjev, igralcev in glasbenikov namesto v nekdanjo cesarsko prestolnico zapelje v osrčje notranjske gostilne. Kolektiv Teatra Matita, ki ga sestavljajo priznani alternativni lutkovni ustvarjalci, v svojem delu združuje predmetno gledališče z dramsko igro in glasbo. Vsestranski performerji reinterpretirajo znano Levstikovo pripoved, njene motive pa postavijo v novi kontekst in jih sestavijo v dinamično kompozicijo. Notranjsko narečje gostilničarja se spontano prepleta s harmoniko, rockom, situacijsko komiko, specifičnimi predmeti, natanko izdelanimi lutkovnimi elementi ter z improviziranimi pasažami. Intermedijski lutkovni kabaret Mesarica je interaktivna, sproščena in hkrati kompleksna družbenokritična predstava, v kateri se edinstveno stavlja prvine alternativne konceptualne umetnosti in podeželske veseloige.

The Hatchet disassembles and reassembles Martin Krpan, his mare and the entire Viennese court. Instead of in the former imperial capital, the five puppeteers, actors and musicians find themselves next to a hearth in an Inner Carniolan tavern. In their work, the members of the Teatro Matita collective, which includes acclaimed alternative puppet artists, merge the theatre of objects with drama and music. The multi-talented performers reinterpret Levstik's well-known story but place its motifs into a new context and rearrange them in a dynamic composition. The publican's Inner Carniolan dialect spontaneously intertwines with the accordion, rock, situational comedy, specific objects, precisely made puppetry elements and improvised passages. The intermedia puppet cabaret The Hatchet is an interactive, relaxed yet complex socio-critical production that uniquely merges elements of alternative conceptual art and rural comedy.  Jože Opeka

Lina Akif se je po gorski poti odpravila na oltar slovenstva – na Triglav. Pot od Pokljuke do Aljaževega stolpa je avtorica prehodila z bremenom barve svoje kože in nenehnega dokazovanja svoje nacionalne pripadnosti in identitete. Njeno breme, ki ga simbolno zastopa kurentova glava na njenem hrbtnu, presega vprašanja slovenstva, saj prevprašuje identiteto naspoploh. Avtorica sudansko-madžarskih korenin svojo intimno izkušnjo prenese v družbeno-politični prostor, simbolno mesto Triglava pa vzpostavlja konfliktnost, ki avtorico spodbudi k raziskovanju svojega odnosa do domovine. Četudi se osebna situacija zgolj z njenim udejstvovanjem ne more spremeniti, se avtorica želi razbremeniti občutka tujke v lastni domovini, pri tem pa opozarja na problematiko rasizma, ki avtomatsko uvršča posameznike v nacionalno ali rasno pripadnost le po odtenku njihove kože ali drugih vizualnih značilnostih. V okviru devetinpolurnega vzpona na Triglav je avtorica uprizorila dvanajst slik križevega pota, namesto križa pa je na goro nosila kurentovo masko, simbol slovenstva in osebnega romanja do identifikacije s slovenskim narodom. Toda bremena ni nosila sama – občinstvo, ki jo je spremljalo na poti, je pozvala, da s kurenta odvežejo robce in jih kot znake lastnega bremena nosijo vse do Aljaževega stolpa, kamor so jih nato privezali.  Dare Sintič

Lina Akif took the mountain path to reach the high altar of Slovenehood: Mount Triglav. The author walked the path from Pokljuka to Aljaž Tower at its peak, carrying the burden of the colour of her skin and a constant obligation to prove her national belonging and identity. Her burden, symbolically represented by a Kurent's head on her back, goes beyond the question of Slovenehood, as it questions identity in general. The author of Sudanese and Hungarian roots transposes her intimate experience into the socio-political space. At the same time, Mount Triglav's symbolic position sets up a conflict that encourages the author to research her attitude towards her homeland. Although her situation cannot change through personal engagement alone, the author wishes to shed the feeling of being a foreigner in her homeland, all while drawing attention to the problems of racism, which automatically assigns nationality and race to individuals simply based on the shade of their skin colour or other visual features. Within her nine-hour ascent to Mount Triglav, the author staged twelve stations of the cross, but instead of a cross carried the mask of a Kurent, a symbol of Slovenehood and her personal pilgrimage and identification with the Slovenian nation. But she didn't carry the burden alone – she asked the audience that accompanied her on the route to untie the handkerchiefs from the Kurent and carry them, as a sign of their own burden, all the way to the mountain top and tie them to Aljaž Tower.

Bolj ko iščem svetlobe v temi, jasneje čutim, da sem tema jaz. Iskanje svetlobe, ki je za trenutek izginila iz našega pogleda, je arhetipska, večkulturna podoba z jasnim pomenom. Toda kje se konča svetloba in kje se začne tema? Kje se konča strah in začne fascinacija? Kjer je senca, mora biti svetloba.” Uvodne misli librettista Ivana Martinke velja dopolniti s kratko premiso zgodbe, ki je v zvrsti lutkovnega gledališča razmeroma pogosta, saj gre za vračanje v čas otroštva in soočanje s primarnimi strahovi. Osrednji lik je deček, ki ga preganjata tema in strah – četudi sta morda oba le zunanjji reprezentaciji tesnobe, depresije ali nočne more. Stráhu, ki v predstavi dobi svojo človeško podobo v vladarju teme oziroma hudiču, se zoperstavi človek, med obema pa se razteza dolga miza, prekrita z belim prtom, pod katero hodi deček. Močna simbolika, podkrepljena s psihoanalizo, v gledalcih vzbudi lastne asocijacije, ki preko razreševanja svojih travmatičnih izkušenj (v temičnem tunelu pod mizo) vodijo do luči, do objektivacije lastnih strahov in ne nazadnje do odkritja najmočnejše svetlobe – v sebi.

“The harder I look for the light in the darkness, the clearer I feel that darkness is myself. The search for the light that has disappeared is an archetypal, multicultural, intelligible image. Where does the light end, and the darkness begin? Where does fear end, and fascination begin? Where there is shadow, there must be light.”

The introductory thoughts of the librettist Ivan Martinka should be supplemented with a short outline of the story, which is relatively common in the genre of puppet theatre, as it is a return to childhood and confronting primary fears. The central figure is a boy haunted by darkness and fear – even though they may both be external representations of anxiety, depression or nightmares. In the play, fear acquires its human form in the ruler of darkness, or the devil, who is confronted by a man. A long table covered with a white tablecloth stretches between the two. A boy walks under the table. Potent symbolism, supported by psychoanalysis, evokes in spectators their own associations, which by resolving their own traumatic experiences (in a dark tunnel under the table) leads to light, to the objectification of their fears and to discovering the strongest light of all – that which gleams in ourselves.

Projekt Poezija mesta odstira nevidne lokacije v mestu ob Dravi in jih sprehajalcem ponudi v obliki nenavadne umetniške ekskurzije. Med postanki na sprehodu se ne znajdejo znamenitosti – spomeniki, zgradbe in drugi zgodovinsko relevantni kotički –, temveč ustvarjalno premerjeno urbano okolje, realne referenčne sledi sodobnega utripa mesta – grafiti in napisи na stavbah, zidovih, klopeh in drugih javnih površinah. Arhitekturo in lokacije vsakega mesta dopoljujejo intervencije, ki so jih avtorji izvedli iz osebnih vzgibov, zato lahko postanejo trajni del identitete mesta, četudi ostaline teh impulzov pogosto nezavedno prestavljamo v vizualno karanteno. Glavni cilj projekta je zbrati te praviloma nezaznane (ali celo negativno zaznane) avtorske vpise (posege v javni prostor) in jih ponuditi sodobnim slovenskim umetnikom različnih področij kot gradivo za ustvarjalno interpretacijo. Način dela je diametalno nasproten infiltraciji poezije v javni prostor (kot denimo na tramvajih, podzemni železnici, v trgovinah ipd.): konkretnizirana, verbalizirana oziroma vizualizirana intervencija v javnem okolju postane vstopna točka novega ustvarjalnega procesa, ki se nato prelije v ambient, iz katerega črpa. ¶

Poetry of the City aims to make invisible locations in Maribor visible and to offer participants an extraordinary excursion. Our stops will not be notable buildings, monuments, places of historical significance or the residences of influential personalities. On the contrary, we will look from the perspective of real references, inscriptions or graffiti on buildings, walls, benches, etc. Interventions created out of a particular internal impulse and left behind by their authors complete the architecture of each city and location. Over time, these references have become a temporary or permanent part of the city for various reasons. However, we subconsciously displace them into “visual quarantine”. Our main goal is to collect these commonly unperceived (often even negatively perceived) inscriptions and offer them as material for creative interpretation to contemporary Slovenian artists from various artistic fields. This method is opposite to the infiltration of poetry into public spaces (for example, poetry in trams, in the subway, in shops, etc.). In this case, a concrete and verbalised or visualised intervention in the public environment becomes the starting material for new creation. ¶

Performativni ambientalni sprehod Poezija mesta prepleta razne prakse in postopke v prijeten, ravno prav dolg, razgiban ter informativen sprehod po središču mesta. Zanima nas, kaj postopno grajenje skupnosti med publiko ter odmik od črne škatle in iz gledališča pomenita za uprizoritvene prakse, naše dojemanje in gledališko pismenost. Nedvomno se na Maribor oziramo z druge strani, opazimo kaj novega ali sprememimo perspektivo, v pogovoru pa izkušnjo ozavestimo in delimo s soudeleženci. Avtorici dodatno posredujeta vodila in priporočila za oblikovanje še kakšnega sprehoda, saj gre za formo, ki je v postkoronskih časih doživelva pravo renesanso. ¶

The performative ambient walk the Poetry of the City intertwines various practices and procedures into a pleasant, perfectly paced, varied and informative walk through the city centre. We will be interested in what it means for performance practices, our perception and theatrical literacy to gradually build a community among the audience and move away from the “black box” as well as the theatre. Undoubtedly, we will look at Maribor from the other side, maybe notice something new or gain a fresh perspective, and we will share all this with the participants in the conversation. We will also listen to various recommendations that can enrich the experience of these types of walks, which have undergone a real renaissance during the post-corona period. ¶

Predstavitevna delavnica A demonstration workshop

Predstavitev traja 1 uro 30 minut.

Nika Korenjak

Mlada igralka in performerka Lina Akif se je na Triglavu, simbolu slovenstva, spopadla s svojim in narodovim bremenom identitete. Na najvišji slovenski vrh se je vztrajno vzpenjala z ogromno kurentovo glavo na hrbitu, prekrivala ji je ves zgornji del telesa. Na poti jo je spremljala skupina pohodnikov, priča njenega premagovanja, ki je delno postal tudi njihovo, njenega iskanja in soočanja. Lina se je odpravila na Triglav v vprašanjem “Kdaj Slovenec_ka zares postane Slovenec_ka?”, da bi se poslovenila. Zato je intenzivno popotovanje vključevalo tudi slovenske narodne pesmi, pogovore in spodbude. Cilj tega vsebinsko nabitega romanja ni bil samo Aljažev stolp in z njim povezana planinska inicijacija, temveč projekt na prvem mestu opozarja na družbeno percepcijo identitetne problematike ter skuša izprašati igralkin odnos do (ne)sprejemanja, do vtisov, mnenj in prepričanj drugih. Linini koraki na Triglav so prvi koraki do (samo) osvoboditve, do trenutka, ko ne bo več prevzemala vloge žrtve, ampak bo močnejša od rasnega profiliranja in diskriminiranja, zavračala bo neprimerne opazke in naanje pogumno opozarjala. ¶ Nika Korenjak deluje kot dramaturinja in igralka. Dramaturgijo je najprej študirala na Akademiji dramskih umetnosti v Zagrebu, nato pa na Akademiji za gledališče, radio, film in televizijo Univerze v Ljubljani. Prevaja iz angleščine in hrvaščine, sinchronizira risanke in tako s performativnega kot dramaturškega vidika svetuje monodramskim uprizoritvam mladih igralcev (Gal Oblak, Lina Akif in Lara Wolf). ¶

The young actress and performer Lina Akif tackled her and the nation's burden of identity on Mount Triglav, the symbol of Slovenehood. She climbed to the highest peak with perseverance, wearing a Kurent's head strapped to her back. A group of hikers, who accompanied her from the very beginning to the end, witnessed her overcoming, which at least partially became theirs, as well as the search and confrontation. With the question “When does a Slovenian really become a Slovenian?”, Lina set out to “become a Slovenian”. But this trip was not just a bare wandering up the hill; it also entailed Slovenian folk songs, conversations and encouragement. The goal of this content-packed march was not only Aljaž Tower and the related initiation that takes place at the top, but a reminder of the social perception of the issue, an attempt to question one's own attitude towards (non-)acceptance, impressions, opinions and the beliefs of others. Her steps have become the first steps towards liberating herself, to the point where she will no longer take on the role of the victim but will become stronger than racial profiling, discrimination and inappropriate remarks and boldly draw attention to them. ¶ Nika Korenjak works as a playwright and actress. She first studied dramaturgy at the Academy of Dramatic Arts in Zagreb and then at the Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television of the University of Ljubljana. She translates from English and Croatian, synchronises cartoons and advises monodrama performances by young actors (Gal Oblak, Lina Akif and Lara Wolf) from both a performative and dramaturgical point of view. ¶

Solce razume lutkovno gledališče kot gledališče iluzivnih točk, ki je podlaga animaciji materiala, predmetov, igralcev, lutk, luči, prostora, besed ali zvoka. Vsaka stvar pridobi novo perspektivo in možnost animacije šele takrat, ko jo animator objektivizira. To lahko najenostavnje doseže z ritmizacijo materiala. Raziskovanje impulzov v delavnici poteka na simbolni, teoretični in praktični ravni. Pri slednji se uporabljajo predmeti, saj imajo prav ti s pomočjo ritma možnost hitrih transformacij, hkrati pa nosijo močne simbolne pomene. V drugem delu delavnice udeleženci impulze orkestrirajo ter iščejo možnosti in potenciale razvoja karakterjev na osnovi glasbenih principov. ¶ Matija Solce je prvi slovenski doktor lutkovne umetnosti, ki je študij dokončal na oddelku za lutkovno in alternativno gledališče prvega gledališke akademije DAMU. Z avtorskimi predstavami je že nekajkrat obšel svet in prejel več kot trideset nagrad na domačih in mednarodnih lutkovnih festivalih. Je tudi glasbenik, skladatelj, režiser, igralec in pedagog. Kot avtor in režiser je sodeloval pri čez štiridesetih produkcijah. Ukvarja se tudi z organizacijo in vodenjem mednarodnih glasbenih delavnic. Ima svoje gledališče Teatro Matita, organizira gledališke delavnice za otroke in odrasle ter sodeluje z različnimi glasbeniki in drugimi umetniki po vsem svetu. Je programski in umetniški vodja festivalov Plavajoči grad in Kavč festival. ¶

Solce understands puppet theatre as a “theatre of illusory points”, which is the basis for the animation of material, objects, actors, puppets, lights, space, words or sound. Each thing acquires a new perspective and the possibility of animation only when the animator objectifies it. The easiest way to achieve this is to rhythmically express our material. The research of impulses will take place on a symbolic, theoretical and practical level. We will use objects in the latter, as they have the possibility of creating rapid transformations with the help of rhythm, and at the same time, they convey strong symbolic meanings. In the second part of the workshop, we will orchestrate impulses and look for possibilities and potentials for character development based on musical principles. ¶ Matija Solce is the first Slovenian to complete his doctoral studies in puppetry at the Department of Puppetry and Alternative Theatre at the DAMU in Prague. He has toured the world several times with his performances and has received more than thirty awards at domestic and international puppet festivals. He is also a musician-accordionist, director, actor and pedagogue. As an author and director, he has participated in 40 productions. He is also involved in organising and conducting international music workshops. He runs Teatro Matita, organises theatre workshops for children and adults, and collaborates with numerous musicians and other artists worldwide. He is the programme and artistic director of the Floating Castle Festival and the Couch Festival. ¶

Delavnica udeležencem posreduje pomembna znanja o uporabi principov lutkovnega, fizičnega in performativnega gledališča, kot jih v procesu ustvarjanja vključuje mednarodno uveljavljeno neodvisno slovaško gledališče Odivo, usmerjeno v simbiotično uporabo interdisciplinarnih umetniških izrazov. ¶ Monika Kováčová je režiserka, dramaturginja in gledališka direktorka. Diplomirala je kot dramska režiserka na Akademiji umetnosti v Banski Bistrici (SK) ter študirala režijo in lutkovno gledališče na DAMU v Pragi (CZ). Opravila je tudi prakso v okviru programa Erasmus na Akademiji za gledališče, radio, film in televizijo Univerze v Ljubljani. ¶ Mária Danadová je performerka, režiserka, pedagoginja, deluje tudi kot svetovalka za gib. Diplomirala je iz lutkarstva na Akademiji za uprizoritvene umetnosti v Bratislavu (SK) in nadaljuje študij igre na Katedri za alternativno in lutkovno gledališče gledališke akademije DAMU v Pragi. ¶

The workshop presents the creation process of the independent theatre group Odivo and gives participants valuable information about the group's use of the principles of puppetry, physical theatre and performance. The group's theatrical language tends to incorporate interspecies artistic expressions and is based on a symbiosis of diverse means of expression. ¶ Monika Kováčová is director, dramaturg and theatre manager. She graduated as a drama director from the Academy of Arts in Banská Bystrica (Slovakia) and studied directing and puppet theatre at DAMU, Prague (Czechia). She also completed an Erasmus internship at the Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television, University of Ljubljana. ¶ Mária Danadová is a performer, director and pedagogue who also works as a movement collaborator. She is a graduate of puppetry from the Academy of Performing Arts in Bratislava. For the last two years, she has studied acting at the Department of Alternative and Puppet Theatre at DAMU in Prague. ¶

Teoretična delavnica o uporabi animatronskih principov na lutkovnem odru je razdeljena na tri dele, in sicer na kratki zgodovinski prelet principov animatronike, ki se uporablajo na filmskem in gledališkem področju; drugi del obravnava perspektivo ustvarjalca – od dramaturgije do lutke ter animacije kot glavnega reprezentanta obravnavane teme. Zadnji del delavnice vključuje predstavitev lutke Svetlonos, vse od njenega nastajanja do demonstracije v živo. ¶ Ivan Martinka je slovaški lutkar, igralec, avtor in režiser. Leta 1995 je diplomiral iz lutkarstva na Akademiji scenskih umetnosti v Bratislavi. Dve sezoni je bil član Državnega lutkovnega gledališča v Bratislavi. Nastopal je tudi v Parizu in v Nemčiji v Pantomimskem gledališču Milana Sladka. Od leta 1996 je samostojni umetnik. ¶ Mária Danadová je performerka, režiserka, pedagoginja, deluje tudi kot svetovalka za gib. Diplomirala je iz lutkarstva na Akademiji za uprizoritvene umetnosti v Bratislavi in nadaljuje študij igre na Katedri za alternativno in lutkovno gledališče gledališke akademije DAMU v Pragi. ¶

The theoretical workshop about using animatronic principles on stage comprises three parts. The first part provides a short history of the animatronic principles used in film and theatre. The second addresses the creator's perspective – from dramaturgy to the puppet, through the lens of animation. The third presents the Svetlonos puppet – from the creation process to live demonstration. ¶ Ivan Martinka is a Slovak puppet, actor, author and director. In 1995, he graduated in puppetry from the Academy of Performing Arts in Bratislava. He was a member of the State Puppet Theatre in Bratislava for two seasons and performed in Paris and in Germany at the Milan Sladek Pantomime Theatre. Since 1996, he has been an independent artist. ¶ Mária Danadová is a performer, director and pedagogue who also works as a movement collaborator. She is a graduate of puppetry from the Academy of Performing Arts in Bratislava. For the last two years, she has been studying acting at the Department of Alternative and Puppet Theatre at DAMU in Prague. ¶

Na strokovnem posvetu izkušeni poslušalci, ustvarjalci in pedagi spregovorijo o pomenu zgodbe za vzgojo, o vplivu na posameznikovo doživljjanje sveta, o prioritetah, proizvedenih v občinstvu, o sidranju vidnih in slišanih narativnih impulzov v možganih. Še posebej v zadnjem času je veliko govora o pomenu reprezentacije, raznolikosti in pristopov – ni pomembno le, da govorimo o marginaliziranih temah in vključujemo marginalizirane skupine, vsaj enako pomembno je, kako in kje to počnemo. ¶

At the round table, experienced listeners, artists and educators will talk about the significance of the story for education, how it affects our experiences of the world around us, what priorities it produces in the audience and how deeply the information seen and heard anchors itself in the brain. There has been a lot of talk lately about the importance of representation, diversity and different approaches – not only is it important to talk about marginalised topics and involve marginalised groups, it is equally important how and where we do it. ¶

Woyzeck je zadnja nedokončana drama nemškega dramatika, pisatelja, revolucionarja in političnega aktivista Georga Büchnerja (1813–1837). V svojem kratkem življenju je s svojimi uvidi, ki jih je pridobil z rigoroznim opazovanjem družbe, prepletal politiko, estetiko in znanost. Začasni čistopis oziroma fragment drame, povzete po resnični zgodbi lasuljarja Johanna Christiana Woyzcka, ki je leta 1821 iz ljubosumja ubil svojo ljubico Marie, še danes sproža številne interpretacije o človeški psihi, zlasti o vprašanju prištevnosti, in o pogosti kontradiktornosti medosebnih odnosov. Primer obsojenega Woyzcka je Büchnerju služil le kot izhodišče za ugledališčenje najneznatnejšega življenja z družbenega dna, s čimer je avtor pravzaprav zakoličil smer poznejšega naturalizma in verizma, kamor se vpisuje tudi lik umorjene Marie, ki bi jo v promiskuitetnosti in proaktivni seksualnosti le stežka postavili za moralni zgled patriarhalne družbe 19. stoletja. Carla Lowrey Drost trdi, da je Büchner skozi Marie izrazil svoj deterministični pogled na človeka, obenem pa je po tezi Roberta Gilletta žezel popraviti tradicijo shematične tragediosti ženske naspoln. Svet, kakršen se izrisuje v Woyzcku, je (kar še posebej velja za žensko perspektivo) popolnoma izpraznjen, temačen in krut – lahko v takšnem svetu sploh obstaja karkoli dobrega?  Željko Stevančić, Archiv CTF UL AGRFT

Woyzeck is the last unfinished drama by the German playwright, writer, revolutionary and political activist Georg Büchner (1813–1837). In his short life, he intertwined politics, aesthetics and science with his insights, which he gained through rigorous observation of society. The “fair copy”, or a fragment of the drama based on the true story of the wig-maker Johann Christian Woyzeck, who killed his mistress Marie out of jealousy in 1821, still provokes many interpretations of the human psyche, especially the question of mental incompetence and often contradictory interpersonal relationships. The case of the convicted Woyzeck served Büchner only as a starting point for the theatricalisation of “the most insignificant life” from the social bottom. Thus, the author charted the direction of later naturalism and verism, into which the promiscuous and proactively sexual character of the murdered Maria – who can hardly be considered a moral example of the 19th-century patriarchal society – was imprinted. Carla Lowrey Drost claims that it was through Marie that Büchner expressed his deterministic view of humankind. At the same time, according to Robert Gillett's thesis, he wanted to correct the tradition of the schematic tragedy of women in general. The world depicted in Woyzeck is (especially from the female perspective) emptied, dark and cruel – can there be anything good in such a world?

Izvorno italijanski izraz improvisacija pomeni delati, igrati brez priprave, je mehanizem, katerega bistvo je nepredvidenost oziroma nepredvidljivost. V drugem semestru dramske igre in gledališke režije smo s celotno skupino študentov prvega letnika dramske igre, gledališke režije ter dramaturgije in scenskih umetnosti globoko v vrtincu nenehno novih situacij, zgodb, predzgodb, okoliščin, pa tudi čustvenih stanj, konfliktov, sreče, ljubezni, jeze, frustracij, zajetih iz sveta, ki nas obdaja, v katerem živimo in s katerim smo v nenehnem odnosu, kot smo v različnih medosebnih odnosih ljudje. Osebne zgodbe ljudi iz preteklosti si lahko zamišljamo, njihovo sedanost in prihodnost pa lahko zgolj doživljamo in situ, torej imanentno in v neposrednem stiku, v kompleksnosti sobivanja. Eno izmed temeljnih prizorišč takšnega sobivanja je gledališče, natančneje oder. V tem vrtincu skušamo uživati, se mu predajati, ga opazovati, motriti, ozaveščati, mu dajati krila, nanj vplivati, ga oblikovati, sprejemati in mu tudi nasprotovati. ¶

The original Italian term improvisation means to work, to play without preparation; it is a mechanism whose essence is uncertainty or unpredictability. In the second semester of drama and theatre directing, the whole group of first-year students of stage acting, theatre directing, dramaturgy and performing arts is in a deep whirlwind of constantly new situations, stories, pre-stories, circumstances, as well as emotional states, conflicts, happiness, love, anger, the frustrations we capture from the world around us, in which we live and with which we are in a constant relationship, just as we are in various interpersonal relationships. We can imagine the personal stories of people from the past. Still, we can only experience their present and future in situ, i.e., immanently and in direct contact, in the complexity of coexistence. One of the primary venues of such coexistence is the theatre, namely, the stage. We try to enjoy this vortex, surrender to it, observe it, observe it, raise awareness, give it wings, influence it, shape it, accept it and also oppose it. ¶ Lara Frelih

8372 je trajajoči spominski performans, ki ga je Benjamin Zajc izvedel na Akademiji za gledališče, radio, film in televizijsko Univerze v Ljubljani med 30. marcem in 1. aprilom 2022. Gre za obeležje, med katerim je avtor z obiskovalci osem ur na dan tri dni preizprševal meje svoje in kolektivne odgovornosti do srebreniškega pokola. Izhajajoč iz družinske travme, ki se je zgodila pred njim, je avtor zasnoval prostor pokore in spomina, ki izvira iz več sto zgodb preživelih in se v njih samoaktualizira. Ker je performans simbolno neponovljiv, je 8372/ii njegovo smiselnost nadaljevanje, ki se snuje na meji med inštalacijo in rekonstrukcijo izvirnika. 1

8372 is an ongoing commemorative performance performed by Benjamin Zajc at the UL AGRFT between 30 March and 1 April 2022. In his performance, the author – with the presence of the by-standing audience – questions the limits of both his and the collective responsibility for the Srebrenica massacre. Based on the family trauma that occurred before him, the author designed a space of atonement and memory, which originates from hundreds of stories of survivors and is thus self-actualising in them. Because the performance is symbolically unrepeatable, 8372/ii represents its cogent continuation, conceived as a cross between an installation and a reconstruction of the original. 1 Željko Stević, IFP/Arhiv CTF UL AGRFT

Uprizoritev Na drugi strani je monodrama po motivih Cocteaujeve igre Človeški glas (La voix humaine) iz leta 1928. Postavljena je v popolnoma prazen prostor z enim stolom na sredini scene, kar celotnemu dogajaju daje občutek izpraznjenosti in izolacije. V predstavi spremljamo zgodbjo ženske – govori po telefonu s svojim ljubimcem, ki jo zapušča. Kljub neizogibni resnici uporablja vse mogoče strategije, da bi ga obdržala na liniji in preprečila razpad ljubezenske zveze. Ženska bi lahko bila tudi katerikoli drugi človek, ki se sooča z ločitvijo in ni zmožen iti naprej.

■ Željko Stevančić, IFP/Arhiv CTF UL AGRFT

On the Other Side is a monodrama based on Cocteau's play La voix humaine (The Human Voice), written in 1928. It is set in an empty space with one chair in the middle of the stage, giving the whole event a sense of emptiness and isolation. In the play, we follow the story of a woman talking on the phone with her lover, who is leaving her. Despite the inevitable truth, she uses every possible strategy to keep him on the line and prevent the breakup of the love affair. She is a woman who could also be any other human being facing divorce and unable to move on. ■

Omnibus Ko se žgem je sestavljen iz štirih uprizoritev dramskih oziroma gledaliških besedil študentk Mance Lipoglavšek, Nine Kuclar Stiković, Urše Majcen in Helene Šukljan, ki so nastali v okviru predmeta Temeljne tehnike dramskega pisanja pri mentorici Žanini Mirčevski. Dramska besedila se med seboj vsebinsko in slogovno zelo razlikujejo, a jih močno povezuje vsem enaka izhodiščna naloga – predelava Andersenove pravljice Deklica z vžigalicami –, ki so jo avtorice prepletle z motivi pogorelih vžigalic in sežganih deklíc.

The omnibus When I Burn Myself consists of four individual performances of dramatic texts by first-year students of the master's degree programme in dramaturgy and performing arts at the UL AGRFT. Manca Lipoglavšek, Nina Kuclar Stiković, Urša Majcen and Helene Šukljan created the texts within the course Fundamental Skills of Playwriting with mentor Žanina Mirčevska. Although the dramatic texts differ significantly in content and style, they all have the same point of departure – a reworking of Andersen's fairy-tale The Little Match Girl, which is evident in the plethora of motifs of spent matches and burnt girls interchangeably used by the authors.

Je nadaljevanje projekta, ki so ga študentje na pobudo festivala zasnovali in uspešno izvajali v zadnjih treh letih. Kreirajo in urejajo ga študentke in študenti dramaturgije in scenskih umetnosti ter gledališke režije v sodelovanju s študenti drugih smeri. Vključuje raznorodne besedilne vrste, avdio in video formate ter fotografije. Namen projekta je živa in živahna festivalska refleksija, sveža v premisleku in suverena v stališču, ki zagotavlja vključevanje študentov v profesionalno okolje.

The Academy Borštnik Blog with a vlog is where UL AGRFT students express their opinions without hesitation, challenge the audience and artists alike with their presence and provide an alternative assessment of the theatre and film community. The Blog – a continuation of a project designed by students and successfully implemented on the initiative of the Festival in the last three years – is created and edited by students of the departments of Dramaturgy and Performing Arts and Theatre Directing. In addition, the Blog entails collaboration with students from other fields and includes a variety of text types, audio and video formats and photos. The project's purpose is a live(ly) festival reflection, fresh in thought and independent in attitude, ensuring the inclusion of students in the professional environment.

Maska, časopis za scenske umetnosti, je prvič izšla leta 1920, leta 2020 smo obeležili 200. številko, ki smo jo izdali v treh zvezkih. Nikoli ni imela trdne institucionalne zaslombe, tudi danes je njen založnik prekarna nevladna organizacija Masko. V boju za avtonomijo se je vselej upirala normiranju, standardiziraju in indeksiranju. Njeno geslo je: skupaj z umetnostjo in misljijo prebijati meje možnega. Skozi Masko, najprej skozi revijo, kasneje skozi knjižno produkcijo, so se izoblikovale generacije piscev, urednikov, oblikovalcev, prevajalcev, lektorjev in drugih sodelavcev, ki so iskali in izmojstrili jezik, s katerim lahko zapovedamo tudi najbolj drzne umetniške pojave. ¶ Razstava predstavlja razgibanost zavoda Masko, ki se je iz začetnega izdajanja revije razširila na knjižne izdaje, umetniško produkcijo in izobraževanje. Razstavljeni plakati obeležujejo bogato oblikovalsko zgodovino Masko, saj so pri njeni vizualni podobi sodelovali sijajni ustvarjalci in ustvarjalke: France Kralj, Matjaž Vipotnik, Irena Woelle, Samo Lapajne, Martin Bricelj, Martin Mistrik, Miha Turšič, Ajdin Bašić. Razstavo je oblikovala Toni Soprano Meneglejte, plakate zanj pa Niki Lapkovski. Maskina trafika, ki jo je prav tako oblikovala Toni Soprano Meneglejte, je del razstave v funkciji bralnega kotička, tam pa so razstavljeni starejše in mlajše številke revije Masko ter zvočni posnetek okrogle mize Uredniške politike Mask 1985–2020, ki jo je ob obeleževanju 100 let in 200 številk revije Masko moderiral Aldo Milohnić. ¶

The performing arts journal Maska was first published in 1920, and in 2020, we celebrated the 200th issue, which we have published in three volumes. The journal has never had solid institutional support, and even today its publisher is the precarious NGO Maska Institute. In the struggle for autonomy, it has always resisted standardisation and indexing. Its motto is: Pushing the boundaries of the possible together with art and the power of thought. Through Maska, first the journal and later also the book production, many generations of writers, editors, designers, translators, copyeditors and other collaborators formed who sought and mastered a language with which we could capture even the boldest artistic phenomena. ¶ The exhibition presents the varied activity of the Maska Institute, which has expanded from the initial edition of the journal to book editions, art production and education. The exhibited posters mark the abundant design history of Maska, with many brilliant artists who have contributed to its visual identity, such as France Kralj, Matjaž Vipotnik, Irena Woelle, Samo Lapajne, Martin Bricelj, Martin Mistrik, Miha Turšič, Ajdin Bašić. The exhibition was designed by Toni Soprano Meneglejte and the posters by Niki Lapkovski. Maska's Newsstand, also designed by Toni Soprano Meneglejte, is part of the exhibition as a reading corner where older as well as recent issues of Maska and the audio recording of the round table Maska Editorial Policies 1985–2020, moderated by Aldo Milohnić in honour of the commemoration of the centennial and 200 issues of Maska, are displayed. ¶

VDIH. IZDIH. ► INHALE. EXHALE.
Fotografska razstava A photography exhibition

Opazujem svojo podobo v ogledalu. Je vse v redu? Vdih. Še enkrat ponovim ali pa morda raje ne. Sedeži v parterju so še prazni, lahko se za trenutek zleknel vanje. Tehnika je v polni zasedbi. Je luč pripravljena? Kostum in maska bosta kmalu. Izdih. Kje so rekviziti? ¶ Zgodbe s svojo kamero beleži Boštjan Lah v okviru Borštnikovega srečanja. Fotografira predstave in druge dogodke, sprehaja se skozi napetosti, pričakovanja in vznemirljive občutke gledališčnikov tik pred začetkom predstave. Njegova fotografija odlikuje uravnotežena kompozicija, ki glavnegata junaka/glavno junakinjo pogosto rahlo odrine iz središča ter vzpostavi zgornejši dialog s prostorom, predmeti in svetlobo. Umetno luč izrabi za dinamične svetlo-temne in barvne kontraste. Poigrava se z globinsko ostrino, perspektivo in ploskovitostjo. Bistvo pa je v tem, da ujame pravi trenutek pogleda, mimike in kretnje portretiranca/potretiranca ter nas popelje v njegov/njen notranji svet. S svojo prepoznavno avtorsko govorico neopaznega fotografa nas povabi v gledališče, še preden se vrata za nas zares odprejo. ¶ Tako je o letošnji fotografiski razstavi Boštjana Laha zapisala Brigita Strnad, kustodinja v Umetnostni galeriji Maribor. ¶ Boštjan Lah

I observe my image in the mirror. Is everything okay? Inhale. I repeat, or perhaps it is better not to. The seats in the stalls are still empty, I can crawl into them for a moment. The technicians are in full swing. Are the lights ready? The costumes and make-up will be ready soon. Exhale. Where are the props? ¶ Stories recorded by Boštjan Lah with his camera. As part of the Maribor Theatre Festival, Boštjan photographs performances and other events and also walks through the tensions, expectations and exciting feelings of theatre-goers just before the start of the performance. His photography is distinguished by a balanced composition, which often pushes the main character slightly out of the centre, thus establishing a more eloquent dialogue with space, objects and light. He uses artificial light for dynamic light-dark and colour contrasts. In addition, he plays with depth of field, perspective and flatness. However, the point is to capture that right moment of the look, facial expressions and gestures of the portrayed individuals and take us into his/her inner world. Even before he really opens up to us, he invites us to the theatre with his recognisable signature of an inconspicuous photographer. ¶ The text on this year's photo exhibition of Boštjan Lah was written by Brigita Strnad, curator at the Maribor Art Gallery. ¶

Jernej Jelen
LEPOTA ZNOTRAJ ► THE BEAUTY WITHIN
Fotografska razstava
A photography exhibition

Profesionalna pot mladega slovenskega fotografa Jerneja Jelena se nezadržno vzpenja v mednarodnem prostoru, še posebej po zmagi na natečaju Milanskega tedna mode leta 2019. O svoji razstavi je povedal naslednje: "S serijo petdesetih črno-belih fotografij želim povedati intimno zgodbo o pristni ženski – ne le z upodobitvijo glavnih akterk, ampak z zgodbo o vseh ženskah. V nenehnem iskanju popolnosti se izgubi njihova resnična, notranja in posebna lepota osebnosti. Prava lepota ni namišljena, ni izmišljena. Izvira iz nas, iz zavedanja, kdo v resnici smo. In kdo smo? Kaj smo? Zakaj smo tukaj? Za kaj se borimo? Zakaj jočemo in se smejimo? Želel sem si, da bi vsaka izmed petdesetih igralk meni in mojemu fotoaparatu zaupala svojo resnično naravo. Svojo lepo dušo. Da bi bila vsaka predstavljena v svoji nepopolnosti, tisti, ki nam je vsem lastna. Portretiranke so ujete v naravnih svetlobi, v sproščenem trenutku. Z opustitvijo fotografiskih, maskerskih, frizerskih in kakršnihkoli drugih trikov sem uspel ohraniti bistvo osebnosti portretirank, s črno-belo fotografijo pa opozoriti na globljo resnico okoli nas. Dvomim v sodobni svet, v katerem je brezhiben videz (pre)cenjen. Svet, poln (z)dolgočas(e)nosti, enoumja, vulgarnosti in otopelosti. Kjer je popoln videz vreden več kot drobne nepopolnosti, ki nas določajo, a se umetno popravlja, ne cenijo se in ne spoštujejo. Živimo v svetu, kjer je lepota vse prej kot lepa." ¶

Slovenian photographer Jernej Jelen is a young author whose professional path is gaining international interest, especially after winning the Milan Fashion Week competition in 2019. He said the following about his exhibition: "With the series of 50 black-and-white photographs, I want to tell the intimate story of a genuine woman – not just by portraying main actresses, but by the story of all women. In the constant search for perfection, their true, inner and special personal beauty is instantly lost. True beauty is real. Unpretentious. Genuine. The one that comes from within ourselves. Out of awareness of who we really are. And who are we? What are we? Why are we here? What are we fighting for? Why do we cry and laugh? I wished that each of the 50 actresses would trust me and my camera with their true nature. Their own beauty and soul. That each actress would be presented in her own imperfection, that is familiar to all of us. The portraits are captured in natural light, in a relaxed moment. By abandoning make-up, hairdressing or any other photographic tricks, I managed to preserve the essence of the personalities of the women portrayed, drawing attention to the deeper truth around us with the black-and-white photography. I doubt the modern world, the world full of boredom, one-mindedness, vulgarity and numbness, in which flawless appearance is (over)appreciated. Where appearance is worth much more than the petty imperfections that define us but are artificially corrected, always erased, not valued and not respected. We live in a world where beauty is anything but beautiful." ¶

Razstavo Izkusi Šentjakobsko gledališče so ob stolnici gledališča zasnovale dramaturginja in gledališka pedagoginja Ira Ratej, arhitektka in scenografinja Barbara Matul Kalamar ter arhitektka, scenografka in kostumografinja Katja Komljanec Koritnik s sodelavci. Razstava predstavlja delčke iz obsežne zgodovine Šentjakobskega gledališča, obenem pa deluje kot poučna interaktivna izkušnja za obiskovalce, saj jih seznanja s posebnostmi gledališkega ustvarjalnega procesa. Razdeljena je na več manjših postaj, kjer obiskovalec izkusi gledališko transformacijo in s svojim sodelovanjem vpliva na način percepциje razstavljenih gradiv. ¶ V okviru razstave bo na ogled tudi poster študentk in študentov Fakultete za humanistiko Univerze v Novi Gorici, Šentjakobsko gledališče in njegove ustvarjalke, pod mentorstvom prof. dr. Katje Mihurko Poniž. Predstavljena bo tudi fotomonografija 100 obrazov (ur. Peter Teichmeister). ¶ Cikel dogodkov Dan Šentjakobskega gledališča na 57. Festivalu Borštnikovo srečanje zao-krožuje uprizoritev predstave Saše Pavček Na valovih v režiji Aleša Valiča 12. junija 2022 ob 20. uri v Veliki dvorani Lutkovnega gledališča Maribor. ¶

The exhibition Experience Šentjakobsko Theatre, created at the centenary of the theatre, was designed by playwright and theatre pedagogue Ira Ratej, architect and set designer Barbara Matul Kalamar and architect, set and costume designer Katja Komljanec Koritnik. The exhibition presents fragments from the extensive history of the Šentjakobsko Theatre and, at the same time, acts as an educational and interactive experience for visitors, as it acquaints them with the peculiarities of the theatrical creative process. The exhibition is divided into several smaller stations, where the visitor experiences a theatrical transformation on his own skin or with his participation influences the way of perceiving the exhibited materials. ¶ As part of the exhibition, the poster Šentjakobsko Theatre and its Female Creators by students of the Faculty of Humanities, University of Nova Gorica (mentorship of Katja Mihurko Poniž, PhD, Professor), is available for viewing. In addition, the photography monograph 100 Faces will also be presented (edited by Peter Teichmeister). ¶ The Šentjakobsko Theatre Cycle at the 57th Maribor Theatre Festival concludes with the performance On the Waves by Saša Pavček and directed by Aleš Valič. The performance will be held in the Great Hall of the Puppet Theatre Maribor on 12 June 2022 at 20.00. ¶

THEATRE INCLUSION - SOCIAL ACTIVATION

Mednarodna konferenca
An international conference

Konferenca se osredotoča na gledališče kot učinkovito in uspešno metodo socialne aktivacije ranljivih skupin. Ukvaja se z vključevanjem v ustvarjalne procese ter z učinki tega vključevanja na drugih področjih življenja ranljivih skupin – npr. vstop na trg dela, vključevanje v izobraževanje, vseživljenjsko učenje, druge oblike socialne vključenosti, izboljšanje kakovosti življenja, opolnomočenje ključnih kompetenc itd.). ¶
Delovni jezik konference je angleščina.

The conference will focus on the thematisation of theatre as an effective and successful method for the social activation of vulnerable groups. It is not only about the inclusion of vulnerable groups in the creative processes but also about the effects of this inclusion in other areas in the lives of vulnerable groups (approaching the labour market, inclusion in education, etc., lifelong learning, other forms of social engagement, improving the quality of life, empowerment, etc.). ¶
The working language of the conference is English.

Koncert A concert

Koncert traja 1 uro in nima odmora.
Running time 1 hour. No intermission.

Izvajalci Performers

Filip Đurić, Vid Greganovič, Peter Frankl, Juca Bonaca, Benjamin Krnetić

Pod psevdonomom SBO se skriva polno ime skupine Smrt boga in otrok, ki je na slovenski glasbeni sceni odjeknil skupaj z globalno popularizacijo trap-a. Po nizu postfaktičnih podvigov, medmrežnih hitov in pojavov na bizarni lestvici slovenskega kanala YouTube s komadi, kot so Tipi so pičke, Sara Bezovšek, Tvrdi L, P kurac, so izdali svoj prvi mešani posnetek (mixtape) v sodelovanju z dvojcem AMN (Heroina: Trake ljubezni, 2017). 14. marca 2021 so objavili dolgo pričakovan, prvi uradni celovečerni album z naslovom TRANS. Objavo albuma je pospremil videospot otvoritvenega komada Ljubljana je Berlin, v katerem se skozi poklon ikoničnim slovenskim videospotom zgodi montažna implozija, ki razkriva strice iz ozadja kot frontmene slovenskega popa. Skozi tok štirinajstih kompozicij se ljubljanski eksperimentalci obravnavajo kot otroci slovenske politične tranzicije in s tem označujejo obrat od kontroverznosti trap-a k introspekciji garaga, housa in elektra. ¶ “Trans je stanje, ki traja in nas zahteva cele, kot sintetični vrhunec, kot neprestano spreminjanje, kot fluidnost seksualnosti, kot nekaj, na kar mogoče nima vpliva. Trans je tu in ne vemo, kje smo, vemo le, od kod smo prišli in kaj smo na poti izgubili.” ¶ Asiana Jurca Avci

Under the pseudonym SBO hides the original Slovenian name of the band – Smrt boga in otrok (which means Death of God and Children) – which resonated on the Slovenian scene along with the global popularisation of trap. After a series of post-factual feats, internet hits and appearances on the bizarre scale of Slovenian YouTube with songs such as “Guys are Cunts”, “Sara Bezovšek”, “Says L”, “S Cock”, they released their first mixtape album in collaboration with the duo AMN (Heroine: Tracks of Love 2017). On 14 March 2021, they released their first official full-length – and long-awaited – album titled TRANS. The release of the album was accompanied by a video of the opening track “Ljubljana is Berlin”, in which a montage implosion takes place through a tribute to iconic Slovenian music videos, transforming dodgy dudes into the frontmen of Slovenian pop. Through the flow of 14 compositions, the Ljubljana experimenters consider themselves children of the Slovenian political transition, thus marking their own turn from the controversy of trap to the introspection of garage, house and electro. ¶ “Trance/Trans, then, is a state that lasts and requires us as a whole, as a synthetic climax, as a constant change, as the fluidity of sexuality, as something we may have no control over. The trans is here and we don’t know where we are, we only know from where we’ve come and what we’ve lost along the way.” ¶

MARIBOR - METROPOLA ▶ MARIBOR - A METROPOLIS

Kulturni sprehod po Mariboru A cultural walk around Maribor

Sprehod poteka v angleškem jeziku.

The walk is in English.

O Mariboru in Mariborčanih kroži veliko urbanih legend in klišejev. Nekaj jih drži, kakšen pa je lahko popolnoma privlečen za lase, a dobro zveni – čisto po mariborsku. Sprehod z naslovom Maribor - Metropola se dotika nekoliko skritih zgodb, ki mesto prikazujejo natanko takšno, kot je. Nekoliko robato, po robovih okrušeno, a natančno takega imamo radi. Mnogi bi rekli, da ima Maribor vse, kar imajo veliki; najbrž še več, a na posebno naš, mariborski način. In na koncu sprehoda to vemo vsi. ¶

There are many urban legends and clichés circulating about Maribor and its people. Some are true, some make for a good story – Maribor-style. The walk called Maribor - A Metropolis touches upon some rather hidden stories about the city that show Maribor the way it really is. A bit harsh and rough around the edges but exactly the way we like it. Many would argue that Maribor has everything the big cities have, perhaps even more in our own, Maribor way. And by the end of the walk, everyone will know. ¶

Koncert
A concert
Koncert traja 1 uro in nima odmora.
Running time 1 hour. No intermission.
Izvajalci Performers
Smaal Tokk, glas vocals
Klemen Kotar, bas kitara, spremjevalni glas bass guitar, backing vocalist
Enos Kugler, bobni drums
Peter Jan, kitara, spremjevalni glas guitar, backing vocalist
Tomaž Pačnik, klaviature keyboards

Samooklican primorski gangsta raper Smaal Tokk je vse kaj drugega kot gangsta ali pa sploh raper: glasbeni projekt združuje gostobesedna modrovanja v vipavskem narečju s pop-rock-jazzovsko glasbeno podlago. Smaal Tokk se je pojavil leta 2009 na spletnem mediju Vest.si, ki mu je zagotovil dovolj prostora za nenadzorovane in nerimane misli o pomorih čebel in srnah pa še čem. Kmalu zatem je spletni portal ugasnil, Smaal Tokk pa se je znašel na RTV Slovenija in pomagal soustvarjati oddajo Tranzistor, ki so jo (prav tako) kmalu po njegovem prihodu ukinili. Ker ni želel škoditi bolj, kot bi bilo nujno potrebno, se je odločil za samostojno glasbeno kariero. Leta 2011 je izdal svoj prvi megahit Smaal Tokka za precednika ... in odtej ni zaradi njega nihče izgubil službe. Leta 2015 je izdal ploščo Unotisto in se odpravil na svojo prvo koncertno turnejo. Leta 2017 je na vsesplošno zahtevo javnosti (no, na spodbudo prijateljev) sledila plošča z ironičnim prizvokom Sindrom druge plošče, leta 2021 pa je povsem spontano in neizzvano izdal še tretjo ploščo, imenovano Krizo srednjih let, na kateri dejansko obdeluje krizo srednjih let. ¶

Smaal Tokk, a self-proclaimed gangsta rapper from the Slovenian Coast, who is anything but a gangsta or a rapper, is a music project that combines verbose wisdom in the dialect of the Vipava Valley with pop-rock-jazz music. He started his career back in 2009 on the online media Vest.si, which provided him with enough space for uncontrolled and unrestrained thoughts about the deaths of bees and deer in general. Shortly afterwards, the web portal was shut down, and Smaal Tokk found himself on Television Slovenia, where he helped co-create the show Transistor, which was (incidentally?) also cancelled shortly after his arrival. Since Smaal Tokk did not want to do more harm than absolutely necessary, he decided to pursue a solo music career. In 2011, he released his first megahit, "Smaal Tokk for Prezident" ... and no one else has lost his job since. In 2015, he released his first album ThatThere and embarked on his first concert tour, stringing together an almost double-digit number of concerts. In 2017, at the general request of the public – truth be told, at the encouragement of friends – followed by an album with an ironic connotation Syndrome of the Second Record, and in 2021 he spontaneously and unchallenged released a third album called The Midlife Crisis, which – much to the general surprise of the audience – actually tackled the problem of the midlife crisis. ¶ Miran Bratuš

Tomaž Toporišič, dramaturg, gledališki teoretik in profesor na Akademiji za gledališče, radio, film in televizijo Univerze v Ljubljani, se v svoji najnovejši knjigi sprašuje, kako lahko danes interpretiramo nevarna razmerja med vedno bolj heterogenimi in shizofrenimi dramskimi, gledališkimi in uprizoritvenimi teksti. Monografija, ki je izšla leta 2021 pri Znanstveni založbi Univerze v Ljubljani, predstavlja nadaljevanje njegovih raziskav slovenske, evropske in svetovne dramatike ter gledališča v Badioujem 20. "stoletju vojn" ter "nespravljivosti med končati staro in začeti z novim". Tudi 21. stoletje "postdemokratične družbe", v katerega smo vstopili na videz nespektakularno, se je kmalu izkazalo kot novo stoletje bioloških in drugih specjalnih vojn ter negotovosti. Avtor je na podlagi sistematične analize pripravil raziskavo, v kateri odkriva nove možne zore kote pogledov na slovensko, evropsko in zunajevropsko dramatiko, gledališče in uprizoritvene prakse kakor tudi na sodobno slovensko in evropsko družbo. Ob knjigi za vse ljubitelje sodobnega gledališča, ki želijo svojo gledališko izkušnjo spoznati tudi po bolj teoretični plati, bomo v pogovoru z avtorjem in gosti razgrnili poslušalcem znane in neznane pokrajine uprizarjanja, kot jih je v zadnjih dveh desetletjih odstrlo gledalcem 21. stoletje, v veliki meri tudi festival Borštnikovo srečanje. ¶

In his latest book, Tomaž Toporišič, dramaturg, theatre theorist and professor at UL AGRFT, speculates on how we can decipher dangerous liaisons between the increasingly heterogeneous and schizophrenic dramatic, theatre and staging texts today. The monograph, published in 2021 by the Ljubljana University Press, is a continuation of his research of the Slovenian, European and world drama and theatre in Badiou's 20th "century of wars" and "inconsistencies between finishing old and starting new". In addition, even the 21st century of the "post-democratic society", which we entered seemingly unspectacularly, soon proved to be a new century of biological and other special wars and uncertainties. Based on a systematic analysis, the author has prepared a study in which he discovers new possible perspectives on Slovenian, European and non-European drama, theatre and performance practices, as well as on contemporary Slovenian and European society. Along with the book that is intended for all lovers of contemporary theatre who want to learn more about their theatre experience in a more theoretical way, the author and guests will reveal both known and unknown landscapes of theatre staging, revealed in the last two decades, mostly due to the Maribor Theatre Festival. ¶

V monografiji je faktografsko prikazana umetniška pot dramskega igralca Arnolda Tovornika, prejemnika Borštnikovega prstana. Tovornik se za igralski poklic ni odločil zaradi igralskih izkušenj z dijaških odrov, nekaj humorističnih nastopov v manjših družbah in nesporne igralske nadarjenosti, ampak po naključju. Kljub temu je postal velik igralec, nosilec repertoarja in dolgoletni prvak mariborskega odra. Če velja, da ni velikih in majhnih vlog, ampak le veliki in majhni igralci, Arnold Tovornik to v vseh svojih odrskih kreacijah gotovo potrujuje. In če je odlika, da igralec vedno daje vse od sebe ne glede na vlogo, je Arnold Tovornik najboljši vzornik. Njegova igralska pot je v knjigi predstavljena po sezoni, na kratko pa so predstavljeni tudi njegovi igralski sopotniki. Nastopal je tudi v filmih, na radiu in televiziji. Med Mariborčani in tudi širše je ostal nepozaben kot lik bistroumnega ljudskega šaljivca Štefa Purgaja. Po predstavitvi knjige se bomo odpravili do groba Arnolda Tovornika na pobreškem pokopališču, da se poklonimo njegovemu spominu. Pred leti odstujeno Tovornikovo poprsje je bilo pred dnevi na novo postavljeno in bo odkrito po predstavitvi knjige. Avtorica portreta je akademika kiparka Vlasta Zorko, nov odlike pa je bil izdelan v livarni Boruta Kamška. ¶

V zadnjih dveh letih smo v Sloveniji na lastni koži občutili rancièrovsko redukcijo politike na policijo. Prispevki, zbrani v novi številki Maske, identificirajo ponavljajoče se prizore policijskega performansa onkraj meja in v različnih kulturnih kontekstih ter vabijo k premišljevanju spornega odnosa med performansom in politiko. Prispevki se "policije" lotevajo na mnogovrstne načine, militarizacija, izredno stanje in nasilje nastopajo v različnih diskurzih in modusih, pri čemer se prispevki pogosto navezujejo na Rancièrovo teorijo policije in koreopolicijo Lepeckega. Revija si zastavlja in odgovarja na naslednja vprašanja: Katero hevristično orodje lahko ponudijo študije performativnosti za izpodbijanje moči državnega nasilja nad telesi, institucijami, diskurzi in praksami? Kako misliti odnos med policijo, politiko in performansom? Kaj žene performativne umetnike k zoperstavljanju policiji in praksam nadzora? ¶

In the last two years, we in Slovenia have experienced a Rancierian reduction of politics to the police. The contributions collected in the new issue of Maska identify recurring scenes of police performance across borders and in different cultural contexts and invite reflection on the controversial relationship between performance and politics. The contributions address "the police" in many ways; militarisation, state of emergency and violence occur in various discourses and modes, and the contributions are often related to Ranciere's theory of the police and Lepecki's choreopolice. The journal asks and answers the following questions: What heuristic tool can performativity studies offer to challenge the power of state violence against bodies, institutions, discourses and practices? How to think the relationship between police, politics and performance? What drives performative artists to oppose police and surveillance practices? ¶

Running time 1 hour 30 minutes. One intermission.

Na področju proze in poezije prevodi izhajajo v knjigah, revijah ali drugih tiskovinah in spletnih medijih, dostopnih širši javnosti, pri prevajanju dramatike pa je stanje drugačno. Neredko prevodi besedil po uprizoritvi obtičijo v arhivih. Nekaj prevodov dramskih del sicer izide v knjižni obliki, vendar je te prakse v slovenskih založbah vse manj. Prevedena dramska besedila so večinoma natisnjena v gledaliških listih ali priložnostnih katalogih, dostopnih le v gledaliških hišah, ki so jih izdane, ter v specializiranih knjižnicah in arhivih, kot sta NUK ali SLOGI. S pogovorom bi na Društvu slovenskih književnih prevajalcev radi opozorili na velik, pred javnostjo skorajda skrit korpus prevedene dramatike, ki v nekaterih primerih ni bila nikoli uprizorjena. Pogovor se dotika vprašanj o procesu izbiranja gledaliških prevodov in prevajalcev, kako se gledališča odločajo pri že prevedenih besedilih, ali jih posodobljajo ali na novo prevajajo, kako se pravzaprav prevodi starajo v primerjavi z izvirno slovensko dramatiko, zanima pa nas tudi, ali gledališča naročajo prevode na zalogu in zakaj. Prav tako spregovorimo o zgodovini praks objavljanja besedil v gledaliških listih in omejitvah z avtorskimi pravicami. ¶

Whereas translations of prose and poetry are published in books, magazines or other printed and electronic media which are easily accessible to the general public, the situation in the field of theatre translation is different. It's not rare for translations of plays to end up in archives after they have been performed. Some translated plays are published in book form, but in Slovenian publishing houses, this practice is becoming less and less common. Translated plays are primarily printed in theatre journals or occasional catalogues, available only in the theatres which published them and in specialised libraries and archives such as the National and University Library or the Slovenian Theatre Institute. With this discussion, the Slovenian Association of Literary Translators would like to draw attention to the large corpus of translated plays, which is almost "hidden" from the public, sometimes not even performed. The discussion will touch on the process of how theatres select plays to be translated and translators themselves, how theatres make decisions about already translated texts, whether they update or re-translate them, how translations actually "age" in comparison with the original plays in Slovenian. We will also be interested in whether theatres commission translations on a stock basis and why. We will also discuss the history of the practice of publishing plays in theatre journals and copyright restrictions. ¶

Okrogle miza traja 2 uri.
Running time 2 hours.

Vabljeni gostje kozi primerjalno prizmo domačega in regionalnega konteksta spregovorijo o izobraževanju na področju uprizontitvenih umetnosti. Te že dolgo niso omejene izključno na dramsko gledališče, zato nas zanimalo, kako lahko institucionalna struktura šolanja sledi dinamičnim spremembam v polju produkcije doma in na tujem. Izpostavlja se izziv, kako bi se interdisciplinarno povezovanje znotraj različnih oblik uprizontitvenih umetnosti (ter umetniških akademij nasploh) dalo izboljšati skozi povezovanje in združevanje ustvarjalcev iz različnih izobraževalnih ozadij. Pogovor se posveča vprašanju različnih metodologij izobraževalnega procesa in obravnavava tudi pogosto spregledano temo psihološke varnosti. ¶

In this round table, we will discuss performing arts education through the comparative prism of the national and regional context with guests. Performing arts have long not been limited exclusively to dramatic theatre, therefore, we will be interested in how the institutional structure of education can keep pace with the dynamic changes in the field of production at home and abroad. We will address how interdisciplinary integration within the different forms of performing arts (and arts academies in general) could be improved by connecting and bringing together artists from diverse educational backgrounds. We will address the issue of different methodologies in the educational process and also discuss the often overlooked topic of psychological safety. ¶

Koncert A concert

Koncert traja 1 uro in nima odmora.
Running time 1 hour. No intermission.

Izvajalca Performers
Lucija Harum, vokal vocals
Martin Vogrin, klaviature, kitara keyboards, guitar

LUMA je mlad duet, ki ga sestavlja v Ljubljano preselejena Štajerca. Lucija je diplomirala iz dramske igre na UL AGRFT, kjer trenutno zaključuje magistrski študij gledališkega petja. Gledališče pa ni tuje niti Martinu, ki ustvarja glasbo za gledališke predstave. ¶ Pred dobrim letom sta se podala na pot raziskovanja: kam ju lahko za štirimi stenami pripelje ustvarjalnost, če imata na voljo glas, inštrumente in prenosni računalnik. Prvi dve skladbi, Promises in Poco a Poco, sta izdala v letu 2021, širši javnosti pa sta se predstavila na EMI 2022, kjer sta se v finalu s skladbo All in uvrstila na četrti mesto. Pri eksperimentiranju ju povezuje ljubezen do mešanja različnih slogov popa in alternativne glasbe, v katero rada vneseta nekaj mistike in temičnosti, obenem pa jo podkrepita z modernimi ritmičnimi vzorci. Zanimiv kontrast skušata ustvariti s kombiniranjem modernih plesnih ritmov z nežnim vokalom, hkrati pa pesmim dodajata tudi melodične instrumentalne vzorce. Lucijina besedila izhajajo iz medosebnih odnosov in introspekcije, pri artikuliranju misli v besede pa ji pomaga Martin, sicer študent psihologije. ¶ ☺ Špela Malenšek

LUMA is a young duet consisting of Lucija Harum and Martin Vogrin, who emigrated to Ljubljana from Slovenian Styria. Lucija graduated in stage acting from the Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television of the University of Ljubljana, where she is currently completing a master's degree in theatre singing. Theatre is no stranger to Martin, who also creates music for theatre performances. ¶ More than a year ago, they set out on a journey to see how far their creativity could lead them behind four walls if they used voice, instruments and a laptop. Although they released the first two songs, "Promises" and "Poco a Poco", in 2021, they received public attention during their EMA debut in 2022, where they finished fourth with the song "All In". When experimenting, they are united by a common love of mixing different styles of pop and alternative music, in which they like to add a little mystique and darkness and, at the same time, stir things up with modern rhythmic patterns. They try to create an interesting contrast by combining modern dance rhythms with gentle vocals while adding instrumental melodies. Lucija's texts are based on interpersonal relationships and introspection, aided in their articulation by Martin, a student of psychology. ¶

Festival Borštnikovo srečanje že deseto leto zapored pripravlja spletno razstavo, s katero želi najvišje dosežke slovenskega gledališča in igralstva digitalizirati, jih arhivirati, hkrati pa jih preko svetovnega spletja približati čim širšemu krogu občinstva. ¶ Tudi letosnjaja razstava – Festival Borštnikovo srečanje 2021 – je zasnovana v treh sklopih: v prvem so na ogled fotografije z lanskoletnega 56. Festivala Borštnikovo srečanje; drugi sklop je posvečen uprizoritvi Gejm, najboljši predstavi lanskega leta v režiji Žige Divjaka v koprodukciji Slovenskega mladinskega gledališča in Maske Ljubljana; tretji fotografski sklop zajema igralski opus Jette Ostan Vejrup, prejemnice Borštnikovega prstana 2021. ¶ Razstava je od 30. maja 2022 dostopna v slovenskem in angleškem jeziku na spletnem portalu www.sigledal.org, na spletni strani www.borstnikovo.si ter na spletnih straneh sodelujočih institucij. ¶

For the tenth year in a row, the Maribor Theatre Festival has prepared a digital exhibition, this time titled Maribor Theatre Festival 2021. In this way, we would like to digitise the highest achievements of Slovenian theatre and acting, archive them and bring them closer to the widest possible audience. ¶ This year's digital exhibition is also designed in three parts: the first one features photographs from last year's 56th Maribor Theatre Festival; the second part is dedicated to the staging of The Game, the best theatre production of last year directed by Žiga Divjak, and the co-production of Mladinsko Theatre and Maska Ljubljana. The third set includes a photographic opus of theatre performances of Jette Ostan Vejrup, the recipient of the 2021 Borštnik Ring Award. ¶ From 30 May 2022, the exhibition is available in Slovenian and English on the web portal www.sigledal.org, on the website www.borstnikovo.si and on the websites of the participating institutions. ¶

Jette Ostan Vejrup se je rodila leta 1962 v Gørdingu na jugozahodu Danske, kjer je obiskovala osnovno šolo. Po končani gimnaziji v Esbjergu (Esbjerg Statsskole, 1981) je leto dni potovala po Evropi in tedanji Sovjetski zvezi, že naslednjem študijskem letu (1982–1983) pa se je posvetila študiju dramske igre na mednarodni Akademiji za gledališče v Århusu (Århus Teater Akademi). Proti koncu študijskega leta (1983) jo je pot zanesla čez lužo v ZDA, kjer je kot Il dottore tri mesece nastopala v predstavi Dell'arte Vikings po ulicah New Orleansa. ¶ Leta 1984 je bila sprejeta na študij igre na znameniti mednarodni gledališki šoli Jacquesa Lecoqa v Parizu (École International de théâtre Jacques Lecoq) in tam spoznala kasnejšega soproga, dramskega igralca Borisa Ostana, kar jo je nekaj let kasneje pripeljalo v Slovenijo. Po vrnitvi iz Pariza je na Danskem poučevala gib in improvizacijo, režirala in igrala, se skupaj z možem Borisom pridružila londonski igralski skupini Theatre de Complicité in se z njo podala na mednarodno gostovanje. Leta 1989 je ponovno nastopala na Danskem, a tudi prvič kot igralka delala v Sloveniji, in sicer v mini drami Železniške informacije v Eksperimentalnem gledališču Glej. Avtorska ekipa je za projekt leta 1989 prejela Borštnikovo diplomo in denarno nagrado za posebne dosežke. Od leta 1989 Jette živi in ustvarja v Sloveniji. ¶ V 90. letih 20. stoletja je kot svobodnjakinja ustvarjala ter nastopala v slovenskih institucionalnih in neinstitucionalnih gledališčih. Najprej je interpretirala vloge, v katerih ni več govorila, sčasoma pa dobivala tudi takšne z vse več besedila. Med letoma 1994 in 1997 je v izjemno priljubljeni humoristični televizijski seriji Teater Paradžnik igrala Gudrun, Danko, ki se uči slovenščino, in z njo dosegla prepoznavnost v najširši slovenski javnosti. Med njeni avtorski projekti velja izpostaviti Palčico (Lutkovno gledališče Ljubljana, 1999) in Grdega račka (Cankarjev dom in Bunker, 2003). Prelomnico v njeni gledališki karieri predstavlja zaposlitev v Mestnem gledališču ljubljanskem februarja 2004. Od takrat le izjemoma nastopa drugod, v matičnem gledališču pa praviloma pripravi po dve novi vlogi na sezono. ¶ Jette Ostan Vejrup je s svojimi odrskimi kreacijami požela priznanje in navdušenje tako slovenskega občinstva kot kritike in strokovne javnosti. Ob že omenjeni Borštnikovi

Jette Ostan Vejrup was born in 1962 in Gørding, south-west Denmark, where she attended primary school. After graduating from Esbjerg Statsskole (1981), she travelled around Europe and the former Soviet Union for a year. The following academic year (1982/83), she devoted herself to studying drama at the Aarhus Teater Akademi (Aarhus International Theatre Academy). Towards the end of that academic year, she went to the United States, where she spent three months playing Il dottore in the performance Dell'arte Vikings on the streets of New Orleans. ¶ In 1984, she was accepted to study acting at the famous Jacques Lecoq International Theatre School in Paris (École International de théâtre Jacques Lecoq). There, she met her husband, the actor Boris Ostan, and this brought her to Slovenia a few years later. After returning from Paris, she taught movement and improvisation, directed and acted in Denmark, joined the London-based acting group Theatre de Complicité with her husband Boris, and toured internationally with them. In 1989, she again performed in Denmark but also worked for the first time as an actress in Slovenia in the mini-drama Train Information at Glej Theatre. The creative team received the Borštnik Diploma and a monetary award for special achievements for the project in 1989. Since 1989, Jette has been living and working in Slovenia. ¶ In the 1990s, she worked as a freelance actress and performed in Slovenian institutional and non-institutional theatres. At first, she interpreted roles in which she did not speak much, but as time went on, she was also given roles with more and more text. Between 1994 and 1997, she played Gudrun, a Danish girl learning Slovenian, in the hugely popular humorous television series Tomato Theatre, which made her a household name among the Slovenian public. Among her original projects, it is worth mentioning Thumelina (Ljubljana Puppet Theatre, 1999) and The Ugly Duckling (Cankarjev dom and Bunker, 2003). ¶ Since 2004, she has been a permanent member of the Ljubljana City Theatre, with which she also appeared in the Maribor Theatre Festival's Competition Programme in the performance Seven Days (2019). Since then, she has only performed elsewhere as an exception and usually prepares two new roles per season in her home theatre. ¶

nagradi za Železniške informacije je prejela še tri Borštnikove nagrade za igro (za Ivona v predstavi Ivona, princesa Burgundije, 1991; za Fräulein Schneider v Kabaretu, 2007; za Hero v Iliadi, 2015), dve zlati paličici (za vlogo Ogledala in Norca v predstavi Sneguljčica, 1998; za avtorstvo in izvedbo igralskega monologa Grdi raček, 2005) ter Dnevnikovo nagrado (za vlogo Harper Regan, 2011). Čeprav je bila in je morda za koga še zmeraj tujka, je v tridesetih letih ustvarjanja na slovenskem odru postala ena najvidnejših slovenskih igralk, ena tistih osebnosti slovenskega gledališča, ki prevprašujejo in premikajo meje slovenske umetnosti, kulture in tolerance. ¶ Tudi če se morda zdi, da so danes medjezikovni prehodi težji, da so sodobni standardi odrskega jezika strožji in od igralca zahtevajo veliko bolj natančno obvladovanje vseh jezikovnih registrov, kot je in utemeljitvi kritično izpostavila Tea Rogelj, pa je Jette Ostan Vejrup dokaz za to, da se igračeva, igralkina substanca skriva onkraj jezikovnih ovir, v enkratni in neponovljivi energiji telesa na odru, ki s svojo voljo in hotenjem proizvede razliko v gledalčevi percepциji realnega. ¶ Svoj neenostavni postopni prehod v drugi gledališki in jezikovni prostor je Jette Ostan Vejrup leta 2006 opisala tako: "Kako kot igralka delati v tujem jeziku? Kako stati pred publiko, dvoranu, polno ljudi, ki govorijo ta jezik bolje kot jaz, in biti prepričljiva, da bodo vse te besede, ki pravzaprav niso moje, zavenele kot moje? Veliko se da. Da se učiš slovničo, izgovorjava, čudne zvoke kot ž, š, č, besede kot čmrlji, škrjančki žvrgolijo, čričkove koščice, spoštovanje ... in čas dela svoje – dan za dnem poslušaš, dan za dnem kaj poveš, kaj prebereš – in stvari se premaknejo. Še drugi faktorji so zelo pomembni: a res želiš delati, kakšen odnos imaš do kolegov in kolegic, a greš z odprtim srcem v stvar, ali si pričakoval več in ti je težko igrati majhne vloge – ali si hvaležen, da sploh lahko igraš –, ali si pripravljen dneve in dneve vaditi svoj tekstu, sestavljen iz dveh besed klobčič vol-

Jette Ostan Vejrup's stage creations have won her the recognition and enthusiasm of Slovenian audiences, critics and the professional public alike. In addition to the abovementioned Borštnik Diploma for Train Information, she has received three Borštnik Awards for acting (for Ivona in Ivona, Princess of Burgundy, 1991; for Fräulein Schneider in Cabaret, 2007; for Hera in The Iliad, 2015), two Golden Stick Awards at the festival Zlata palčica (for the roles of the Mirror and the Fool in Snow White, 1998; for creating and performing in the monodrama The Ugly Duckling, 2005) and the Dnevnik Award (for the role of Harper Regan, 2011). Although she was, and perhaps still is, a stranger to some, in her 30 years on the Slovenian stage, she has become one of the most prominent Slovenian actresses, one of those personalities of Slovenian theatre who have questioned and pushed the boundaries of Slovenian art, culture and tolerance. ¶ With her breakthrough into the Slovenian theatre space, the actress, who, according to her own words, is still learning Slovenian, but has nevertheless conquered the Slovenian theatre stage, has undoubtedly expanded its borders. And in doing so, she has certainly answered the question convincingly, "How do I stand in front of an audience and be convincing so that all these words that are not actually mine sound like mine?" Even if it may seem today that inter-linguistic transitions are more difficult, contemporary standards of stage language are stricter. They require a much more precise mastery of all linguistic registers from the actor. As the statement penned by Tea Rogelj points out, Jette Ostan Vejrup is proof that the actor's – the actress's – substance is hidden beyond linguistic barriers in the unique and unrepeatable energy of the body on the stage, which, with its own will and desire, produces a difference in the spectator's perception of the real. ¶ The actress, who is always self-critically questioning her linguistic competencies, which in classical theatre are almost a mandatory attribute of the actress's overall appearance on stage, nevertheless emphasises the specific emphatic universe of her mother tongue, which is challenging to transfer into any other language: "When you speak in your ne, pa pred premiero ugotoviš, da ti še zmeraj ne gre najbolje – in ne nazadnje mora nekdo verjeti vate, zlasti režiserji." ¶ Igralka, ki vseskozi samokritično prevprašuje lastne jezikovne kompetence, ki so v klasičnem gledališču tako rekoč obvezni atribut celovite igralkine pojavnosti na odru, pa vendarle poudarja specifičen emfatični univerzum maternega jezika, ki ga je težko prenesti v katerikoli drugi jezik: "Kot kot otrok spregovoriš v maternem jeziku, so tvoje besede in zvoki tesno povezani s prvimi izkušnjami – izkušnjami čutenja, zavedanja svojega telesa, prve svetlobe, ki se spreminja, vetr, kaj imas rad, česa ne maras – in postopoma postanejo besede in doživetja en fenomen, en pojem. Ko pa se kot odrasel učiš tujega jezika, nalepiš nove besede na tebi že znane fenomene, vendar te tuje besede ne postanejo del morja izkušenj in spominov, ki jih nosis iz otroških let. Prav iz tega morja izkušenj in doživetij pa igralci črpamo svojo prepričljivost. Včasih na odru, ko govorim svoj tekst – publika pa se na primer smeje –, del mene ne razume njihove reakcije, enostavno v celoti nisem del tega bistvenega pretoka med igralcem in njegovo publiko, ker te besede niso del moje biti. In velikokrat se sprašujem: a je tudi to del procesa? A bom imela drugačne izkušnje čez dvajset let?" ¶ Jette Ostan Vejrup je s svojim prodrom v slovenski gledališki prostor nedvomno razširila njegove meje: s človeško toplino in neulovljivo kompleksnostjo, z igralskim perfekcionizmom, preplet enim z bolečino samoironije in nalezljivo sproščenostjo humorja, z izkušnjo tujke v tem, kar se vsem ostalim lahko zdi domače ali samoumevno, je slovensko gledališko krajino obogatila za nove odrske izkušnje, pri tem pa je slovenskemu gledalcu in gledalki ponudila možnost primerjave, širila meje poznanega sveta in na stežaj razprla prostor dialoga, ki je pravzaprav izhodiščni ustvarjalni impulz gledališke umetnosti. ¶ mother tongue as a child, your words and sounds are closely linked to your first experiences – experiences of feeling, of being aware of your body, of the first light that changes, of the wind, of what you like, what you don't like – and gradually words and experiences become one phenomenon, one concept. But when you learn a foreign language as an adult, you apply new words to phenomena already familiar to you. Still, these foreign words do not become part of the sea of experiences and memories that you carry from your childhood. From this sea of experiences and adventures, we actors draw our persuasiveness. Sometimes on stage, when I speak my lines – and the audience laughs, for example – part of me doesn't understand their reaction. I'm just not fully part of that essential flow between the actor and his audience because those words are not part of my being. And I often wonder: but is that also part of the process? But will I have a different experience in 20 years?" ¶ Jette Ostan Vejrup has undoubtedly expanded the boundaries of the Slovenian theatre space with her breakthrough: with human warmth and irrepressible complexity, with an acting perfectionism intertwined with the pain of self-irony and the infectious relaxation of humour, with the experience of being a stranger in what everyone else might consider familiar or taken for granted, enriched the Slovenian theatre landscape with new stage experiences, offering Slovenian spectators the possibility of comparison, expanding the boundaries of the known world and opening up the space of dialogue, which is, in fact, the initial creative impulse of theatre art. ¶

Zaključno mnenje žirije tekmovalnega programa

Epidemija je radikalno posegla v gledališko stvarnost in za dobro leto dni domala zaustavila delo gledaliških ustvarjalcev. V izrednih razmerah je bila tudi izvedba Festivala Borštnikovo srečanje negotova. Po prekiniti festivalskoga dogajanja oktobra lani je bil letošnji termin iz meseca maja prestavljen in v celoti izveden v juniju. Organizatorjem je uspelo obdržati kontinuiteto tako v slovenskem kot v mednarodnem delu programa. Žirija si je v tekmovalnem programu ogledala osem uprizoritev, saj dveh izmed desetih izbranih iz sezone 2019/2020 ni bilo več mogoče obnoviti. Selekcija izkazuje širok spekter raznolikih avtorskih poetik, izvedbenih pristopov in produksijskih modelov. Zastopane so vse generacije gledaliških ustvarjalcev, med katerimi vidno izstopa mlajša. V žiriji so prevladovali strokovnjaki iz tujine, zato je njen pogled pretežno usmerjala mednarodna vizura. Ob preizpraševanju samoumevnosti slovenskega gledališkega in kulturnega konteksta žirija ugotavlja, da slovensko gledališče dokazuje svojo vitalnost in družbeno odgovornost na visoki profesionalni ravni, ob tem pa ostaja prostor živega srečevanja, izmenjave in refleksije. Občinstvo se je vrnilo v gledališče in verjamemo, da bo spremljalo gledališko ustvarjalnost, Festival Borštnikovo srečanje pa bo še naprej deloval povezovalno in pretočno, v nenehnem dinamičnem odnosu z družbo in ljudmi, ki ga ustvarjajo. ¶

The Jury Statement of the Competition Programme

The epidemic has radically affected the theatre's reality and, for nearly a year, prevented theatre artists from working. In the light of these extreme circumstances, the implementation of the Maribor Theatre Festival was also precarious. After the interruption of the Festival last October, this year's edition was postponed from May and fully implemented in June. The organisers have managed to maintain continuity in both the Slovenian and international programme segments. Out of the ten productions selected for the Competition Programme, the jury saw eight because two performances from the 2019/20 season could not be staged at the Festival. The selection demonstrates a wide range of diverse auteur poetics, performance approaches and production models. All generations of theatre-makers are represented, with the younger one being most prominent. The jury was primarily composed of experts from abroad and therefore predominantly guided by an international outlook. Questioning the taken-for-granted Slovenian theatrical and cultural context, the jury concluded that Slovenian theatre proves its vitality and social responsibility at a high professional level, while remaining a space for lively encounter, exchange and reflection. While the audience has returned to the theatre, keeping a close eye on theatre creativity, we believe the Festival will continue acting as a cohesive and fluid agent to cultivate a solid and dynamic relationship with the people who bring it to life. ¶

Gejm v režiji Žige Divjaka

v koprodukciji Slovenskega mladinskega gledališča in Maski Ljubljana

The Game directed by Žiga Divjak

co-produced by the Mladinsko Theatre and Maska Ljubljana

Gejm v režiji Žige Divjaka in v koprodukciji Slovenskega mladinskega gledališča in Maski Ljubljana Uprizoritev Gejm od nas ne pričakuje niti empatije niti moralne opredelitev, ampak dosledno spoštovanje zakonov, ki določajo civilizacijske standarde. Vrhunski igralski ansambel skupaj z umetniškimi in tehničnimi sodelavci ustvari silovito gledališče, ki brani človečnost ter temeljna načela evropske civilizacije in kulture. Uprizoritev na vzinemljiv način priča o veliki tragediji migrantov, izročenih neusmiljenim postopkom državnih organov in evropskih državljanov. To je uprizoritev, ki ne govori le o Sloveniji, temveč tudi o Evropi in svetu, ter alarmantno sporoča, da je rdeča linija prekoračena. ¶

The Game directed by Žiga Divjak, co-produced by the Mladinsko Theatre and Maska Ljubljana

The Game does not predispose us to demonstrate empathy or moral definition, but rather strict adherence to the laws that define the standards of civilisation. Together with the artistic and technical collaborators, the superb ensemble of actors creates a powerful performance that defends humanity and the fundamental principles of European civilisation and culture. The production movingly bears witness to the great tragedy of migrants handed over to the merciless procedures of state authorities and European citizens. It is a production that speaks not only about Slovenia but also about Europe and the world and sends an alarming message that a red line has been crossed. ¶

Žiga Divjak za režijo uprizoritve Gejm v koprodukciji Slovenskega mladinskega gledališča in Maska Ljubljana

Žiga Divjak for directing the production of The Game, co-produced by the Mladinsko Theatre and Maska Ljubljana

Žiga Divjak brezkompromisno režira Gejm in vse elemente uprizoritve povezuje v vznemirljivo in pretresljivo celoto. To je njegov "tour de force", ki združuje ustvarjalno moč in globok človeški angažma. Njegov režijski postopek je drzen in brezkompromisen. Pri delu tvega, prav tako kot liki v njegovi uprizoritvi tvegajo svoja življenja. V nobenem trenutku ni didaktičen, ne moralizira in ne želi ugajati občinstvu. Ustvari urgentno uprizoritev, ki se bori proti prevladi politične, fizične in estetske brutalnosti. ¶

Žiga Divjak directs The Game uncompromisingly, linking all the production elements into an exciting and moving whole. This is his tour de force, combining creative power and deep human engagement. His directing process is bold and uncompromising. He takes risks in his work, just as the characters in his production risk their lives. At no point is he didactic. He neither moralises nor seeks to please the audience. He creates an urgent production that fights against the dominance of political, physical and aesthetic brutality. ¶ © Matej Povše

Vladimir Vlaškalić v uprizoritvi Grmače v koprodukciji

Drame Slovenskega narodnega gledališča Maribor in Konservatorija za glasbo in balet Maribor

Vladimir Vlaškalić in the production of Rocky Peak, co-produced by the Drama of the Slovene National Theatre Maribor and the Maribor Conservatory of Music and Ballet Vloga Andraža je ena tistih, ki zahtevajo precejšen čustveni angažma in široko paletlo igralskega znanja.

Vladimirja Vlaškaliča ne zadovoljijo povnanjena igralska sredstva. Svojo odrsko eksistenco ves čas vodi skozi pronicljiv proces. Z osredotočanjem na nalogu določa smer introvertiranemu, vendar trdemu in odločnemu Zajčevemu liku, ki z vsakokratno prisotnostjo na odru doda novo dimenzijo celotni uprizoritvi. ¶ © Boštjan Lah

The role of Andraž is one of those that requires considerable emotional involvement and a wide range of acting skills. Vladimir Vlaškalić is not satisfied with familiar acting resources. He constantly guides his stage existence through an insightful process. By focusing on the task at hand, he sets the direction for the introverted yet tough and determined character, who adds a new dimension to the whole production with each appearance on stage. ¶

Slovenskega narodnega gledališča Drama Ljubljana

Maša Derganc in the production of Alice in Bed

produced by the Slovenian National Theatre Drama Ljubljana

Vlogo Alice James opredeljuje neimenovana bolezni, ki v temelju zaznamuje življenje intelektualno razgledane in senzibilne ženske iz ugledne ameriške družine v devetnajstem stoletju. Maša Derganc jo mojstrsko vpne v dvoumje med igro in resničnostjo in prav v nedoločljivem pregibu med njima oblikuje identiteto ženske, ki zaradi superiornega uma v družbi ne najde svojega pravega mesta. Iz bolezni črpa vir Alicine (ne)moči in obenem manipulativni potencial, s katerim prefinjeno osmišlja njen zaustavljen življenje. ¶ Boštjan Lah

The role of Alice James is defined by an unnamed illness that fundamentally marks the life of an intellectually astute and sensitive woman from a prominent American family in the 19th century. Maša Derganc masterfully weaves the character into the ambiguity between a game and reality. She forms the identity of a woman who cannot find her rightful place in society due to her superior intellect precisely from this indefinable fold between the two characters. From Alice's illness, Maša draws the source of her (non-)power and, at the same time, the manipulative potential with which she subtly makes sense of her life that is on hold. ¶

Z vlogami v uprizoritvah Gejm in Sedem dni Matej Puc pokaže bravurozno igralsko tehniko, izjemno moč v emocionalni artikulaciji likov ter sposobnost variiranja različnih stilskih in žanrskih registrov igre. V uprizoritvi Gejm je ostro diferenciral nevtralni, pripovedni izraz in pretresljivo oblikoval migrantske izpovedi. V uprizoritvi Sedem dni se njegova igra giblje v razponu od prepričljivega oblikovanja dramskega konfliktu v prizoru z ženo do tehnične bravuroznosti v nevrotično pospešeni izpovedi osamljenega človeka. ¶ Boštjan Lah

With his roles in The Game and Seven Days, Matej Puc demonstrates outstanding acting, exceptional strength in emotional articulating his characters and the ability to vary the various stylistic and genre registers of the plays. In The Game, he sharply differentiated the neutral, narrative expression and poignantly shaped the migrant statements. In Seven Days, his performance ranges from the convincing framing of the dramatic conflict in the scene with his wife to the technical virtuosity in the neurotically accelerated confession of a lonely man. ¶

Gašper Malnar in the production of Seven Questions About Happiness, co-produced by the Ljubljana Puppet Theatre and the Mladinsko Theatre

V kompleksni veččasni uprizoritvi Sedem vprašanj o sreči Gašper Malnar igra z močno prezenco, igralsko polno, a ekonomično. V prizoru svojega pripovedovanja zgodbe ustvari emocionalno središče uprizoritve, ki v gledalcih pusti trajne sledi. Malnar igra impresivno, globoko, pretresljivo. V uprizoritev vnaša živ značaj, ki je distanciran od življenja, a obenem zlomljen v tegobah stvarnosti. Je sodoben igralec, ki briljira v tej večplastni vlogi. Boštjan Lah

In the complex, multi-temporal performance of Seven Questions About Happiness, Gašper Malnar plays with a strong presence, wholesome in acting yet economical. In the scene of his storytelling, he creates the emotional centre of the production, which leaves a lasting impression on the audience. Malnar's acting is impressive, deep, moving. He brings to the performance a vivid character who is distanced from life yet broken in the ills of reality. He is a contemporary actor who shines in this multi-faceted role.

Igor Vasiljev v uprizoritvi Gejm v koprodukciji Slovenskega mladinskega gledališča in Masko Ljubljana
Igor Vasiljev in the production of The Game, co-produced by the Mladinsko Theatre and Maska Ljubljana

Igor Vasiljev ni le scenograf uprizoritve Gejm, ampak avtor koncepta prostora, ki je eden najbolj značilnih elementov režiserjeve zamisli. Ozka pista za igralce, na kateri so označene državne meje prostora, iz katerega prihajajo pričevanja in ki razdvaja publiko na dva dela, ni le metafora meje, največje travme, s katero se soočajo begunci. Omogoča tudi konfrontacijo gledalcev z njimi samimi, kar je jasen znak, da to ni samo predstava o migrantih, temveč tudi o nas in naši odgovornosti za njihovo tragedijo. S selektivnim izborom realnih predmetov, ki simbolizirajo usode posameznikov, ustvari pretresljivo instalacijo – "zemljevid" umiranja beguncov. ¶ © Matej Povše

Igor Vasiljev is not only the set designer of The Game but also the author of the spatial concept, which is one of the most characteristic elements of the director's concept. The narrow stage for the actors with marked national borders, from which the testimonies come, divides the audience into two parts. Not only a metaphor for the border, the greatest trauma faced by refugees, it also allows the audience to confront themselves, a clear sign that this is not only a performance about migrants but also about us and our responsibility for their tragedy. By selectively choosing real objects that symbolise the fates of individuals, it creates a shocking installation – a "map" of the refugees' dying. ¶

Katarina Morano v uprizoritvi Gejm v koprodukciji Slovenskega mladinskega gledališča in Masko Ljubljana
Katarina Morano in the production of The Game, co-produced by the Mladinsko Theatre and Maska Ljubljana

Dramaturginja uprizoritve Gejm Katarina Morano je ustvarila formalno čisto in pomensko obarvano dramaturško strukturo. Njeno osnovno načelo je repetitivnost: pričevanja se začenjajo z dokumentarnimi podatki o usodah beguncev, nadaljujejo pa se z osebnim igralskim doživetja(n)jem njihovih krutih usod. Učinek komaj znosnega trajanja in dramaturgične ponavljanja ni le v racionalnem soočanju gledalcev z dejstvi, temveč v tem, da se v duhu postdramske gledališke političnosti znajdejo v situaciji fizičnega nelagodja, kar je le neznenoten del fizičnih in mentalnih izzivov, ki jih izkušajo begunci. ¶ © Boštjan Lah

Katarina Morano, dramaturg of The Game, has created a formally pure and meaningful dramaturgical structure. Her basic principle is repetition: the testimonies begin with documentary information about the fates of the refugees and continue with the actors' personal experiences of their cruel fates. The effect of the almost unbearable duration and dramaturgical repetition is not only to rationally confront the audience with the facts but to put them, in the spirit of post-dramatic theatrical politicisation, in a situation of physical discomfort, which is only a fraction of the physical and mental challenges experienced by the refugees. ¶

Borut Bučinel in the production of Rocky Peak, produced by the Drama of the Slovene National Theatre Maribor and the Maribor Conservatory of Music and Ballet

Borut Bučinel v Grmačah ustvari večnivojski prostor močnih svetlobnih linij. S svetlobo mu uspe poudariti mračni značaj fizičnih in metaforičnih Grmač. Sočasno smelo vstopa v kontrapunkt z zakotnostjo Grmač, ko s svetlobo ustvari posebno grandioznost, celo glamuroznost, in tako doseže satiričen učinek. Mojstrstvo in prava magija je ustvariti tako kompleksno podobo, kar zmorejo le redki oblikovalci svetlobe. ¶

In Rocky Peak, Borut Bučinel creates a multi-level space of strong light lines. By using light, he manages to emphasise the gloomy character of the physical and metaphorical Rocky Peak. At the same time, he boldly creates a counterpoint to the secretiveness of the Rocky Peak by using light to create a special grandiosity, even glamourousness. Thus, he achieves a satirical effect. Creating such a complex image is mastery and true magic, something that only a few lighting designers can do. ¶ © Damjan Švarc

Ne glede na to, ali gre za mračno, zloslutno glasbo, lajanje besnih psov ali katerikoli drug zvok, Blaž Gracar odmerjeno ustvarja zvočne pokrajine, ki pretanjeno sooblikujejo dramske situacije kot organski del gledališke uprizoritve. Zvok v uprizoritvah Gejm in Sedem dni evocira drugačnost in senzibilizira občinstvo ter drži gledalce v svojem primežu tudi po koncu uprizoritev. ¶ © Matej Povše

Whether it be dark, ominous music, the barking of rabid dogs, or any other sound, Blaž Gracar creates curated soundscapes that subtly co-create dramatic situations as an organic part of the theatre production. Poročilo o izvedbi 56. Festivala Borštnikovo srečanje Report on the 56th Maribor Theatre Festival

14.-27. junij 2021
14-27 June 2021

Še pred nekaj meseci ni bilo povsem samoumevno, da bomo letošnji festival lahko izvedli v fizični obliki in z občinstvom v dvoranah. Priprave so potekale v negotovih okoliščinah in v času zaprtja, ko so se mnogi evropski gledališki festivali odločali za spletnne ali hibridne oblike. Borštnikovo pa smo žeeli izvesti v živo, v polnem obsegu in z vsemi načrtovanimi aktivnostmi, vključno z mednarodno razsežnostjo. V dneh tednih (v novem, zgodnjepoletnem terminu) se je na mariborskih prizoriščih zvrstilo 40 gledaliških predstav slovenskih in tujih producentov, tudi tokrat smo festival uvedli z vsebinami za mlade in njihove mentorje ter razvejanim študentskim dogajanjem, dopolnili pa smo ga s številnimi dogodki v festivalskih spremiševalnih sklopih, ki so bili zasnovani in izvedeni z mednarodno udeležbo. ¶ Širitev festivalskega programa je v povezavi z epidemičnimi okoliščinami narekovala premik izvedbe na mesec junij. Več desetletij stara zamisel o Borštnikovem srečanju v zgodnejšem terminu se je letos uresničila in že tokratni odziv občinstva napoveduje, da bo ta korak sprejet z razumevanjem in naklonjenostjo, naša naloga pa je, da ta premik izkoristimo in še okreplimo povezanost z mestom, občinstvi in gledališko skupnostjo. Borštnikovo bo torej odslej v novem terminu. ¶ Festival se je odvijal v času tik po odprtju slovenskih gledališč, po dolgih mesecih ustavitev je gledališko dogajanje nenadoma na visokih obratih, zato so producenti predstav morali prilagoditi svoje aktivnosti, da so lahko zagotovili svojo udeležbo – s tem pa verodostojnost in celovitost festivala. Čeprav je festival potekal nemoteno in brez zapletov, smo se ves čas zavedali, da smo še vedno daleč od stabilnih in predvidljivih razmer za delo – ne vemo niti, kaj nam prinaša jesen. V preteklih mesecih so se mnogi gledališki ustvarjalci soočili s pomanjkanjem dela in uspešnost prehoda v postepidemično obdobje bo odvisna od vključenosti vseh, eni temeljnih značilnosti in kvalitet slovenskega gledališkega sistema sta prav njegova razvejanost in raznolikost estetskih ter produkcijskih modelov. Iz hiperprodukcije, ki je izčrpavala ustvarjalce, je gledališče vstopilo v mrzlično iskanje novih pristopov in formatov, kar je najbrž le druga plat iste medalje, in sedaj se spet vračamo v prejšnje stanje, morda v

Only a few months ago, it was still not completely clear that we would be able to carry out the 56th Maribor Theatre Festival in its usual “physical” form and with an audience in the halls. Preparations took place under uncertain circumstances and at the time of theatre closure when many European theatre festivals were opting for online or hybrid forms. And yet, we wanted to carry out the Festival live, in full swing and with all the planned activities, including the international dimension. In only two weeks (in the new, early summer term), 40 theatre performances by Slovenian and foreign producers took place at various venues in Maribor. The Festival activity featured several accompanying strands designed and implemented with international participation. ¶ The expansion of the Festival programme, in connection with the epidemic circumstances, dictated its postponement to June. The decades-old idea of the Festival at an earlier date came to fruition this year. The audience's response tells us that this step will happen with understanding and affection. Our task is to utilise the shift and nurture the connection between the city, the audience and the theatre community. Therefore, the Maribor Theatre Festival will be at this new term from now on. ¶ The Festival took place just after the re-opening of Slovenian theatres when, after many months of the shutdown, theatrical events were suddenly taking off. Hence, the producers had to adjust their activities to ensure their participation and, thus, the credibility and integrity of the Festival. Although the Festival went smoothly and without complications, we were always aware that we are still far from stable and predictable working conditions – we do not even know what the autumn may bring us. In recent months, many theatre creators have faced a lack of work; no doubt, the success of the transition to the post-epidemic period will depend on the inclusion of all stakeholders. One of the fundamental characteristics and qualities of the Slovenian theatre system is its multifacetedness and diversity of aesthetic and production models. From an overproduction that has been very taxing for creators, the theatre world has entered a frantic search for new approaches and formats, which is probably just the other side of the same coin. Now we are back to še višji prestavi. Utegne se torej zgoditi, da se ne bo nič spremenilo, da se bo gledališče vrnilo v utečene tirnice, ne da bi si odgovorilo na nekatera temeljna vprašanja, za katera prej morda ni bilo časa. S temi dilemami se bomo ukvarjali prihodnje leto, na 57. Festivalu Borštnikovo srečanje. ¶ Letošnja festivalska edicija je bila izvedena v polnem obsegu, z vsemi programskimi sklopi, vključno s tekmovalnim programom in podelitvijo nagrad, gostili smo številne tuje in slovenske producente in Maribor je bil ponovno epicenter gledališkega dogajanja.

Obema financerjema, Mestni občini Maribor in Ministerstvu za kulturo, se zahvaljujemo za stabilno podporo, ki nam omogoča razvoj in večletno načrtovanje kakovostnega programa, kot je pri mednarodnih gledaliških festivalih tudi običajno. ¶ the previous state, perhaps in an even higher gear. It may therefore happen that nothing will change, that the theatre will get back on track without answering some fundamental questions for which there may not have been the time before. Next year, we will tackle these dilemmas at the 57th Maribor Theatre Festival. ¶ This year's Festival edition took place completely, with all programme sets, including the Competition Programme and Awards Ceremony. We hosted many foreign and Slovenian producers, and Maribor was the epicentre of theatrical events once again. ¶ We wish to thank both funders, the Municipality of Maribor and the Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Slovenia, for their ongoing and stable support, enabling us, as is the practice at international theatre festivals, to develop and plan a quality multiannual programme. ¶
